ALL NIGHT LONG TINY TOTS KEPT THE LIGHT TURNING

Unparalleled Heroism of Breton Children of 7 and 10 Years—While Father Lay Dead and Mother Watched, Exhausted, They Guarded Mariner From Disaster.

PARIS, June 6.—Straining with their tiny arms past the point of weariness where strong men cease from struggling, the two little children of Jean Matelot, the keeper of Kerdonis lighthouse on southeast point of Belle Ile-En-Mer, a windswept spot on the Brittany coast, kept the great light revolving thru a long night of storm and held the signal true for ships making the perilous passage thru the storm.

These tiny tots, aged respectively 7 and 10 years, whose heroism has been brought to the notice of the French Government, took up their task only after death has stilled the laboring hands of their father and their mother had dropped from exhaustion in an effort to care for the stricken father and to repair the broken mechanism of the light.

Dropped Dying Beside His Work. While cleaning the revolving light, Matelot was stricken with a sudden illness. He stuck to his task and the mechanism was almost in order when he dropped dying beside his work. Noting the strange stillness in the light tower, the wife clambered up the winding stair thru a driving gale and, after assisting her dying husband to enter his tiny house at the foot of the light, she again ascended to the light to carry on the task which for many years has yielded them their scanty living.

As dusk drew on the gale increased and the skies became overcast. The woman struggled desperately with the machinery which revolves the heavy light. At last her strength would respond to her will no longer.

The wife fell where the husband had dropped. When she recovered from her swoon the need for action was borne in on her weary brain, and she forced her tottering limbs to carry her to the cot below. There she arrived just in time to hear her children sent her, as they came in a broken voice: "The light—you must fix the light."

Kept the Light Revolving. The woman made another effort to mount the tower, but her weary limbs could not drag her thru the buffeting wind. She gave up this effort, but sent her little ones to carry on their father's lifelong task. She knew that the mechanism was out of order, but she knew that the light must be kept revolving for other fixed lights on the channel, when disaster was almost certain to follow.

There, thru the long night, they drove their little muscles to the breaking point. With pain in their aching arms they kept the great light revolving until daylight came, when they dropped at their posts from exhaustion. The heroism of the little ones became known among the sailor folk ashore, one old woman plausibly remarked: "And a little child shall lead them."

They would not be admitted without the money qualification of $25, unless they were farmers or farm hands," he said. "Would the fact that they were persecuted affect the situation?" he was asked.

Was Champ Clark Spying Out Land?

Name of Noted Exponent of Annexation Discovered on Register in Queen's Park.

"Champ Clark, U.S.A." Without the semblance of a flourish, the above signature appears in the visitors' register of June 1 at the parliament buildings. Nobody appears to have had the slightest idea that the distinguished speaker of the United States House of Representatives—and incidentally the man who is extremely anxious to annex Canada—has been right in our midst during the past day or two.

CHICAGO MAN MARRIED WITHOUT KNOWING IT

Went to Get Pedlar License in Company With Girl Friend—Though He Was Swearing to Permit.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Municipal Judge Stewart today held that thousands of weddings of the immediate past were illegal and void because they had been performed by a justice of the peace from outside the city limits in an office he occupied in the county building in Chicago. This justice of the peace was recently ousted from the county building. The judge volunteered an opinion from the bench that the justice of the peace had no legal right to marry anyone in Chicago, being a justice from outside of Chicago, and because justices were abolished in the city in 1895.

Fisherman Saw Monoplane Evidently in Trouble—When He Looked Again It Had Vanished.

NICE, France, June 6.—That Lieut. Bague, of the French army, who started yesterday morning from Nice on an aeroplane flight for Corsica, has met death in the venture is now considered almost certain. LET PRESBYTERIANS ATTEND TO OWN FLOCK

Rabbi Jacobs Strongly Resents Rev. Dr. MacKay's Reference to "Heathen People."

In an interview with The World last night, Rabbi Jacobs said he had read the remarks of Rev. Dr. MacKay in an evening paper in regard to the rabbi's sermon on the proselytizing of the Jews by the Presbyterian Church, and he could easily understand why the superintendent of foreign missions in the Presbyterian Church used such intemperate language, but he was not prepared for such ignorance as was betrayed in the charge that the Jews were a heathen people, nor had he heard it before.

WOODSTOCK, June 6.—A verdict of accidental death was brought in by the jury today investigating the killing of Captain Mather, the Grand Trunk Railroad track layer, who was struck by the engine of a freight train near Honda's Cove. No blame was attached to any of the trainmen nor any of the railway employees.

REFUSED TO BITE.

OTTAWA, June 6.—(Special.)—Another example of the determination of American interests to smother Canadian opposition to the reciprocity agreement is furnished in information which reached Ottawa today from the Niagara fruit district. It was from this district that the bulk of the fruit men's opposition came, and it is these fruit growers who have most vigorously protested against the sacrifice of the Canadian markets. The statement made here today is that representatives of United States interests have been going thru the Niagara district offering to buy fruit lands. The fruit men apparently saw the object of the manoeuvre and refused to sell.
