FOR HORSES AND DOGS

That horses and dogs are doing real war work, and that their saving is of their behalf which will take the shape of a Tag Day to be carried out by with Mrs. J. J. Dickson, president of the society, in the chair, and Col. Dinnick as organizer, the meeting was reminded that the horse and the dog were doing real war work; that at the front it was the horse that drew the gun to position tho he might lose his life in the doing of it; the dog was the keeenest in the reconnoliring party in No Man's Land, and also the valuable assistance to the Red Cross valuable assistance to the Red Cross ambulance. More than at any other time the value to humanity of these animals was being keenly realized, and it was with this in view that the Humane Society was placing $25,000 as its objective in this campaign.

PLANT LICE. Plant lice are the enemies of almost all kinds of plants. They are known as "Aphis" and "Green Fly." They attack and destroy vegetables at an appalling rate, living solely on the juice which they suck from the plants. They multiply rapidly and should be controlled before they cause the leaves to curl or the stems to wither the stems to wither. Vegetable plants cannot produce crops of value if they are allowed to become weakened as a result of the attack of plant lice. They make their appearance early in the season and as soon as they are noticed the with whale-oil soap (one pound dissolved in six gallons of warm water) or commercial nicotine sulphate (40 per cent.) as sold by seedsmen and as recommended on the cans. ROOT MAGGOTS.

If you are planting out cab-bages and cauliflowers this week they should be protected from rot maggot attack by placing around the stems a disc made of one-ply tarred felt paper. For small gardens, square discs may be cut with a sharp knife. These should be 2½ inches by 2½ inches, with a slit running from one side to about a quarter of an inch beyond the centre and a cross cut made at the centre extending one-quarter of an inch in either side. The discs should be placed around the stems immediately the plants are set out. In placing the disc one side is raised sufficiently to allow the parts of the star at the end of the slit to point upwards and thus fit close to the stem. The whole disc is then press-ed down firmly so that it will rest evenly on the ground and prevent the adult flies reaching the stem near the earth to lay their eggs from which the mag-

THE EARLY SAXIFRAGE.

Saxifraga Virginiensis. under leaves of thickest shade, Was such a stillness e'er diffused

The early Saxifrage is one of Ontario's earliest and commonest wild flowers of April, late or early according to the clemency of the month, and is, as well, one of the most interest-

The Saxifrages are all interesting little plants, very hardy, very persistent, and love to spread themselves in loose colonies where the ground is favorable and where they are left in

As a rule the Saxifrages love dry and apparently unfertile soil, and if that soil is inclined to be a bit strong so much the more do these little rock-breakers flourish. For they are rock-breakers, and so their name signifies. Many of the species are literally hidden away in crevices and cracks and clefts of the rocks which their persistent boring little roots have penetrat-

The early flowering species, howlover of hillsides, or sunny and dry fields, or silent dusty and half-desert-ed waysides.

The plants come up in thick bright green rosets of leaves, of a blunted oblong shape, with very short stems, and the edges of these leaves are crenated or finely toothed sometimes. In the centre of the thick roset-mass of leaves comes up the flower stalk, which may shoot up to quite ten or twelve inches. The blossoms come in a close flat cluster, and are snow white, with five petals. There is no special fragrance to the blossoms, altho they bear a fairly thick nectar which attracts the bees and insects, which attracts the bees and insects, and thus pollenation is accomplished. After the blossoms disappear a purplish-brown pod develops, which is full to overflowing with tiny seeds. While the Saxifrage is not one of our most fascinating plants from some points of view, it should be known, because it is very common here in Ontario, and indeed so much so that it stands in much danger of earning it stands in much danger of earning the reputation of a weed. However, when one comes upon a strong thick colony of the plants, especially just before the flower spikes have commenced to shoot up, the sight is very pretty, the rosets of thick shiny green presenting an uniqual as well as at presenting an unusual as well as attractive sight.

The Saxifrages are hard-lived plants, many of them spreading very far north. As a rule the blossoms are
