Gallifet Speaks for Himself.

Le Courrier du Soir publishes an interview this evening, with Gen. the Marquis de Gallifet, the new Minister of War, who is represented as saying: "I am reproached for my attitude in 1871. At that time I served the majority, the constitution and the law as a soldier on the active list. I have remained silent until now. To-day I' find the army talking far too much. I am as I was 30 years ago, af the service of the majority, the constitution and the law.

While starting out to enjoy a holiday James Craigmill of 349 West King-street, who is employed as a trackman at the Union Station, met with a serious mishap yesterday morning. Accompanied by his wife, he left the Union Station on the Grand Trunk train for the east. Craigmill rode on the rear platform of the hind car, and, when crossing Trinity-street, was joited off and fell upon the gravel roadbed. His head and shoulders were badly cut and bruised and he also sustained a severe shaking up. The ambulance removed him to the General Hospital, where he is now resting easily.

Niagara Diocese Committee on Discipline Considering Father Geoghegan's Case.

Hamilton, June 22 .- (Special) -- Everything is in readiness for the hanging of Ben Parrott, the murderer, to-mor row morning. The machinery of death has been tested with weights and found to work well. work well.

lesterday Parrott made some remarks, which are not in harmony with former statements, to the effect that he did not believe in heaven or hell. He said: "In two days I'll be running in hell. I'll have a pitchfork and I'll give old Nick a merry race for a while. I don't care to see my old woman, however, as she'll not be in a very good humor I guess." Then he snickered.

This afternoon the Committee of Discipline of the Diocese of Niagara met in the Masonic Hall to consider the appeal of Riev. Father Geoghegan from his recent conviction at the hands of a Board of Triers appointed by the bishop. The meeting is presided over by Edward Martin, Q.C., chancellor, with these members present: Rev. Canon Clark, registrar; Revs. Canon Belt, William Bevan, Canon Bull, Rural Dean Fennell, G. ter Parrott to get him to write a statement expressing regret for his deed and asking forgiveness. Parrott refused to do this, but this moraing Rev. Mr. Wilson succeeded in getting him to sign a document, the nature of which Mr. Wilson declined tonight to disclose. He will hand it to the papers after the hanging, he said. A few hours later Rev. S. Burns and another minister also got his signature to documents. Relatives Visited Him.

Relatives Visited Him.

The murderer's father, brothers and sister visited the matricide this afternoon. There was no shedding of tears on the part of the condemned man when they left. His brother Dan told him not to make "a fool" of himself at the last by breaking down, and he replied: "You bet I won't. I'll die like a man." Mr. Parrott says his son has not repented of his deed, and said the ministers have been "bothering the boy too much."

Although members of the City Council have complained that the receipts from the Police Court have failen off greatly since George F. Jelfs was appointed Magistrate, because he is not as severe as his predecessor, the Board has frequently remitted fines. This evening the Finance Committee remitted $20 in fines—$15 of a $20 fine imposed on George Allingham for striking another boy with a stone, and haif of a $10 fine imposed on George Brown for polsong cats, were remitted.

Assessment Applications. The application of the Meriden Britannia Co. to have its assessment fixed for ten years, providing the company makes additions to its works and staff, was granted. It will be $35,000, and the water rates will not be increased.

And the Supplementaries May Be Completed To-Day-Mr. Sifton Had Studied the Text.

Ottawa, June 22.-(Special.)-To-day's session has been completely a reversion of yesterday's, for, instead of its being "much talk and little work," as was the case yesterday, it has been "much work and little talk," and what little there was, was short and to the point. This has been really the best working day in supply this session, and about as many items have been passed as on all the other days put togementary estimates have now been passed, and practically only the railway and public mentary estimates have now been passed, and practically only the railway and public. session has been completely a reversion of Hangman Must Be in View.

This afternoon Dr. Chamberlain of Toronto, Inspector of Prisons, visited the jail and had the partition, which was erected in the scaffold to hide the hangman from view when he pulls the lever, taken from view when he pulls the lever, taken of the spectators. He is a Toronto man, it is said, and he arrived at the jail this afternoon. He is a tail, heavy built man, it is said, and he arrived at the jail this afternoon. Mr. Foster said that in view of the fact that very large sums were annually spent in maintaining the Indian industrial schools, he would be pleased if the Minister would fix a day some time for a general discussion of the question of what progress had been made by the Indians, and what became of these Indian children after they left the schools. He would like to know whether they became absorbed in the population, or if they resorted to their nomadic habits. Mr. Sifton said he would have all the information he could get on the subject prepared for the benefit of the House, and would be happy to adopt Mr. Foster's suggestion of having this whole question discussed.

Admirably Acquitted Themselves.

A pleasing recital was given in West Association Hail last night by the pupils of the Metropolitan School of Music, assisted by the Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo Club. All the numbers received well-merited applause. Plano solos were rendered by Misses Aana Jeffrey, Dorothy Spragge, Maggie Mitchell and May Wookey; vocal solos by Miss Ethel Stotesbury and Mr. J. F. Halloway. Readings were given by Misses Ella Rogers and Ruth Mackid, and two interesting marches by the Guitar, Mandolin and Banjo Club. Miss Bessie Violet, is the scene from "Kenllworth." was heartily applauded, as was also the vocal duet by Miss Edna Jewett and Mr. George Burns. A little skit, entitled "An Open Sacret." was admirably executed by the following: Misses Ella Rogers, Idlian M. Welch, kuth Mackid, Marie G. Somer-wile, Dorn Jackes, Lillie H. Smallpelee, Maud Smith and Jessie Dunlop. The different characters were admirably portrayed, the fairt of Agatha Page, by Miss Smallpelee, being exceptionally realistic and worthy of special mention. The concert concluded with Greek tableaux, the different poses being very true to life. Mr. Peter C. Kennedy made an efficient accompanist.
