An Estcourt despatch says that General Joubert has retreated to Colenso and he is traveling in an omnibus. This would give credit to the story that the Boer commanding general has been wounded. It was rumored that the general was hurrying back to oppose Col. Baden-Powell. The war authorities in Loudon are at a loss to understand this portion. it might mean that, the Boers having left the vicinity of Mafeking, Col. Baden-

Methuen's wound is not serious, and that he is expected to be all right in the course of a few days. It is certain, however, that the wound will prevent his being in the saddle, and there is great anxiety to know whether he will be compelled temporarily to abandon the personal direction of afairs. His next in command is Col. Colville, commanding the Guards brigade. He has a reputation as an excellent officer.

As men are needed in all directions, Lord Woiseley's announcement that a new division will be embarked without delay has been received with the greatest satisfaction. The transports will soon be returning from the Cape, and it is hoped that the men will be despatched speedily. On this point, The Morning Post says: "The sooner we can make up our minds as to the magnitude of the work on hand, the sooner it will be accomplished."

Lieut.-Col. Stopford's death ends a most promising career. He was the officer mainly responsible for working out the details of the mobilization scheme.

REV. ARMSTRONG BLACK MADE A HIT

Speech of the Evening.

The speech of the evening was made by the Rev. Armstrong. Black in response to "The Day an' a' Wha Honor it." In proposing it the chairman spoke of Scotch force, power and kindness of heart. When the Boers said they dreaded most the half-women and half-men they came nearer the truth than they thought, for no hearts were tenderer than the Scotch.

What He Had Realized.

Mr. Black, on rising, got a great reception.

What He Had Realized.

Mr. Black, on rising, got a great reception. He made mention of the toast, which, he said, made Scottish hearts beat faster and blood run thicker. Since coming to Canada he realized what "God Save the Queen" meant, and what Canadian loyalty was. People of the Old Country did not know what Canadian loyalty was. The Scotch were a great people, and were found in every country in the world worth anything. They had great mobility and adaptability. Their character had been influenced mostly by Wallace, Knox and Burns, especially the latter, who was one of the most phenomenal rien the world had ever seen. In conclusion, he pleaded for all to be true to their heritage.

Montreal, Nov. 30.—(Special.)—The statement is again made to-day, and, with the greatest possible persistency, that the Ottawa Government have at length summonded up courage to dissolve Parliament.

Ont., to-day, where he was to have taken part at the St. Andrew's banquet, and reply to the toast of 'Canada.' * * He has been indisposed for some days, and suffers pain in the region of the liver, traveling in railway trains fatiguing him very much, aithough the Minister was able to be at his office yesterday and to-day." Songs were given by Messrs. Boyd and be at his office yesterday and to-day."

O'Hanley, who is about 50 years of rge, is employed in Tomlinson's Foundry on Frederick-street. About 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon he was throwing some scrap iron into a furnace, among which were a number of shells supposed to be empty. About 15 minutes later he returned to the furnace, and was putting in more coal, when there were two loud explosions. The shells happened to be loaded, and, on being heated, exploded. O'Hanley was knocked down by pleces of the furnace, and had a narrow escape from being killed. He was found lying on the floor by some of his fellow-workmen, and was taken to the Emergency Hospital. There it was found that his face, head and arms were severely burned, and his eyes were filled with cinders and dust.

Mr. Foster at the Portage.

G. E. Foster addressed a largely attended meeting here to-night. Mr. Foster gave a general talk on political parties. He charged the Liberals with violating all the pledges they had made while in Opposition. He charged Mr. Sifton with corruption in connection with the proposed Yukon Railway. Mr. Foster's speech was punctuated with applause.
