By an amendment in 1900 this was extended to include supply of electric power, except where there was a company or firm already supplying it. A most important point to consider, so far as electric power. consider, so far as electric power is concerned, is the advisability of a number of municipalities cooperating in one common plan of work, which would benefit them all, instead of cash working. of each working separately. I certainly am. That law blocks in securing rights which are CONTROLLER BURNS: Certainly the Conmee law should be re-pealed. It should never have been placed upon the statute books. It is manifestly unfair to cities, for prevents a city carrying on the usiness of a city as the requirements of a city demand without beobsolete plant of some utility it would desire to control. For instance, take the Gas Co. I have always contended and held that lighting, water and that kind of mecesity should be owned and controlled by the city for the benefit of the community. You will remember that I was the first to move that the city instal an electric light plant, but it was voted down by the people. I am in force. down by the people. I am in favor of municipal ownership thoroly, and the government must give us the right to bring power from Niagara in order that we may not be at the mercy of private interests.

Electrical energy is an absolute necessity in order that we may have manufacturing industries here conducted at the least possible cost. It is the duty of the Ontario government to grant municipalities the right of going into the business of supplying gas and electrical energy. supplying gas and electrical energy. If they can give such concessions to private individuals, why can't they give them to the public. It's absurd that the city should be tied up in the manner it is. If the provincial government will not go into the power business itself it should most certainly allow Toronto or any other municipality to do so.

ALD, HARRISON: There is no doubt in my mind that the Commes Act is in my mind that the Conmee Act is a bad bit of legislation, and the government which will not change such bad legislation in the interests of the people cannot expect to hold power very long. As to municipal ownership, I think that the people should control all public utilities. ALD. DR. LYND: I would emphatically answer yes to both of your questions. I do think the Conmee law should be changed in order to give cities a chance. As it is now it is most unfair to Toronto, because it saddles upon the municipality most harassing conditions. For instance, take our position now with the Gas Co. If we want to buy that company out we have got to pay a lot of money for a plant which has in many respects

Of course I am in favor of municipalities of Ontario being empowered to go into the business of supplying gas and electrical energy for heat, light and power. It will be one of the worst things which ever happened if the government grants the rights to private monopolies and refuses them to the public, and the result will be most disastrous. I see no reason whatever why the City of Toronto or any municipality in the province should not have the power to bring electricity from Niagara, and I see no reason why the privilege should be withheld from Toronto. The power from Niagara belongs to Ontario, and Ontario should have it as cheap as it can be got, because it means

I may say that I think the portion of the act that relates to the purchase of the plant should a municipality decide to take over and operate any of its valuable franchises, makes municipal ownership practically an impossibility. We would be saddled with antiquated and useless plants at exorbitant prices. I am in favor of Toronto and such other municipalities as could profit by it, having a free hand in regard to Niagara-Falls power, and not being compelled to buy their power second-hand from a not too generous monopoly. I understand that Premier Ross says we may not be too late yet to receive consideration, provided well, but to assist this matter I would be willing to wear Sunday tothes on week days, and even do a little penance, if I could be assured it would soften the hearts of the government.
