Queries Answered.

CLINTON.—In 1886, A. the owner of a house and lot, got the consent of B. the owner of a lot, to run his cellar drain through B's lot. A dies. B sells lot to C. Executors of A have another drain dug alongside of first drain, through lot now owned by C. C claims one or both drains are a damage to his cellar, as the frost and wet in the winter have caused the walls to heave and now they are cracked from top to bottom in different places, both drains are within five feet of C's wall. Can executors claim easement when they discarded first drain at the end of five years? Can C compel executors to move one or both drains? Ans.—Upon the facts stated it is not clear that the executors of A have any easement. If the consent was in writing its terms would govern the right to the drain. If the consent was verbal and without consideration it was revocable within a year from the day it was given. They had no right to the second drain except in substitution of the first, to which we assume there was no consent. By abandoning the use of the first drain in 1900 they lost their title to it by prescription and have not acquired any title by prescription to the second drain. Unless they can produce a grant in writing the executors can be compelled to close up the second drain. They are liable for damages in any case, or if they have a right to the drain they must keep it in repair so as not to damage the property of C. You had better consult a lawyer upon the facts that can be proved.

A $5.00 Problem

If you save $5 a month at home for five years, how much will you have? Ans.—$300, if it is not spent, stolen or burned.
If you deposit same sums in this Bank, what will you have?
Ans.—$320 loan.

PATRIOTIC EXERCISES IN MANY CITY SCHOOLS ON EMPIRE DAY

Flag Hoisting and Presentation of Prizes.—The Children Contribute to Monument Fund.

The Empire Day exercises in the city schools yesterday afternoon were a source of much interest and pleasure to both the pupils and teachers and many of their parents. The proceedings in each school were of a patriotic nature, thoroughly in keeping with the spirit of the occasion, flags being thrown to the breeze, the songs, choruses and recitations by the children being of Canada and the great British Empire, of which it forms such an important part, and the essays, as a rule, on the Dominion.

The children were also given an opportunity of contributing to the monument fund by the Daughters of the Empire for the erection of a monument in Victoria Park in memory of the late Queen Victoria and the soldiers from the South African war. The response of the boys and girls was very liberal, and will help on the movement which is being so vigorously pushed by the Daughters of the Empire. In order that none of the children might be excluded from the good work, envelopes were distributed, and the contributions were included in them. Thus the donations of the pupils were known only to the givers.

Mr. Hyman's Regrets.
One of the specially interesting events at St. George's school was the reading of a letter from Hon. C. S. Hyman, minister of public works. Mr. Hyman was in his boyhood days a pupil at St. George's, and he was asked to attend the Empire Day exercises and deliver an address. To the regret of the school, he was unable to accept, but he sent the following letter:

"Dear Mr. Wyatt,—I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of yours of May 17, and am exceedingly sorry that it is not possible for me to be in London on May 23. This regret is considerably added to since receiving your kindly worded invitation to meet you and the pupils on the morning of that date, as when a very small boy during the regime of Mr. Irwin, and the well-known heading of St. George's public school brings to my recollection many of the events of those bygone days. Yours sincerely, 'C. S. HYMAN.'"

At the Collegiate.
Empire Day was celebrated at the London Collegiate Institute in splendid style. Speeches, drills, presentations and the music furnished by the Italian harpers made the event one of exceptional interest and pleasure.

A domestic science exhibition was given by the pupils of the department, under the supervision of Miss Butchart. The work consisted of cooking from the very plainest articles of food to the very finest and daintiest of confections, and a subject of every variety. This work showed the excellent results which are being achieved in the domestic science department.

The physical culture department, under the direction of Mr. D. J. O'Hara, gave a most interesting and well-attended exhibition of their work.

At St. Peter's separate school, a feature of the day was the hoisting of the flag, in the presence of the pupils and teachers. As the Union Jack was unfurled, the assembled throng gave vigorous cheers.

The raising of the flag at Talbot street school was accompanied by the singing of the National Anthem by the pupils, and the reading of the "Rule Britannia" and "The Maple Leaf," which also sung. Rev. Canon Mann, rector of St. Paul's, was present and gave an address on patriotism.

At Victoria school little was done in the way of Empire Day exercises, owing to the number of holidays which the school has had of late.

At the Princess avenue school the usual Empire Day programme was carried out. Patriotic readings and recitations were chiefly in evidence. Magistrate Love and Chairman Strong, of the board of education, were present and addressed the children. The magistrate's address was along the line of "Good Citizenship," while Mr. Strong spoke on "Our Empire."
