GIVES A DESCRIPTION OF ST. ELOI BATTLE

"Old Fritz" Fairly Got It in the Neck," Says Pte. Andrew Templeton, Earls Court.

Pte. Andrew Templeton, 20th Battalion Canadian Overseas Forces, in the trenches, France, writing to his parents, Mrs. A. Templeton, 20th Avenue, Wyckwood, has the following to say regarding the engagement at St. Eloi, on the night of April 22nd and 23rd.

"Our battalion was in the battle of St. Eloi, but I can't tell you how many casualties we had, only it makes us having to hang on to it. We would be now, as they were to lose. Old Fritz fairly got it in the neck. I have heard that out of a battalion of Germans there were only three left. I could not vouch for this, but I know they had heavy casualties. I guess they got what was coming to them and what they were looking for, as you could see right off that they were not to be in the shells burst in their front lines. They will have a hard job to take our crater now, as they will get more than they are expecting."

Pte. Andrew Templeton is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Templeton, of Don the khaki. He is the composer of "Only a Private."
