A LOOK AT THE HEAVENS.
Leave upon you orb of light
And pray that I may thine as bright
Ast pass o'er life's carrow sea,
And drop into eteroity.

And orap moderanty. I gaze upon the monity pale ray,
That cheers the dreary night, and pray,
That, as Coristian, I may stand,
A light in a besigned land.
The star that wanders round his sphere I gaze spon, and breathe a pray'r,
I may not wander from the road,
That treads to prace, to heav'n, and Gud.

l gaze upon you fixed star, That shines resplendent from afar; And pray, in Christ, I may remain, Flem fix'd till cudless life I gain.

High, London Brown Stort and Pale Ast, Translation of the Control of the Control

A MIRROR OF VANITY.—Queen Elizabeth, admiring the elegance of the Marquis de Villa de Mediaua, a Spanish nobleman, complined a cavalier. "Madam," said he, "a lover risks too much on such an occasion, but your Majesty's will is a law. Excuse me, however, if I fear to name her, but request your Majesty'a acceptance of her portrait." He sent her a looking. Diary of a Physician, &c.
