Russian People Speedily Resume Normal Life

NOT BAD EVEN AT HEIGHT

Temper of People Had Been Put to Too Great Test Because of Food Troubles—Waited Days for Bread and Then Perhaps Did Not Get It

London, March 16.—One of the most remarkable features of the Russian revolution, says Reuters' Petrograd correspondent, has been the speed with which the people have resumed their normal life.

"Still more remarkable, looking back over the events of the last few days is good order prevailed through the hours when the revolt was at its height... Idol of Army Is The Big Figure In Empire Today

Soldiers Backing up New Regime—Complete Success of the Revolution—Civil Forces Co-operating With Government and Matters Are Fast Returning to Normal

Grand Duke Nicholas, idol of the Russian army and ranked as Russia's master strategist, looms up as the big military figure of the hour in the empire, which has just witnessed a successful and almost bloodless revolution and the abdication of its emperor.

The relinquishment of the throne by Nicholas II, automatically deprived him of his rank as commander-in-chief of the Russian armies.

Of the complete success of the revolutionary movement, in which the lead was taken by the Duma, there seems no doubt. While there have been few advances received as to the attitude of the army at the front, such news as has been received indicates that the military, with the exception of reactionaries among the officers, together with all the popular forces of the empire, is backing the new government.

The civil forces of the nation are co-operating with the government most heartily in restoring normality in the life of the empire.

A measure of general political amnesty is reported in course of preparation by the new Russian minister of justice. Grand Duke Nicholas is said to have endorsed this move as one necessary to save the empire and bring the war to a successful conclusion.
