LABOR CONDITIONS IN RUSSIA BETTER

Compulsory Work Abolished; Minimum Wage Fixed by Law.

Geneva, July 31. (By Mail).—The development of industrial conditions in Soviet Russia is dealt with in a publication just issued by the International Labor Office. The volume brings out the fundamental differences between the present system and the regime which existed before 1921, the difference being the result of the process of transformation going on in Russia. After taking up the functions of the Commissariat of Labor, chapters are devoted to work policy, both before and after the establishment of the new economic policy, to an exposition of collective agreements, methods for the settlement of disputes, the regulation of the labor market, social insurance and factory inspection.

The general conclusions drawn from the report are that important modifications have taken place not only in labor conditions, but in the material position of the working class in Russia. Compulsory labor has been practically abolished. The engagement and dismissal of workers has been declared free, the conditions of labor are determined by free agreement between the parties, and the value of work is determined by the laws of supply and demand. That greater liberty has come to Russia, declares the Authors, is shown by the fact that the central power confines itself to fixing a minimum wage, leaving to the parties concerned the duty of determining the actual remuneration of labor by collective agreements.

Other information on Russia given out by the labor office indicates that unemployment is increasing.

ROTARY CLUB HAS ITS ANNUAL PICNIC

Enjoyable Time Spent by Members and Friends at Belyea's Point.

A new stunt in the way of choosing dinner partners was sprung at the Rotary picnic yesterday afternoon at Belyea's Point and the funds of the club largely increased thereby. In all the sum of $150 was realized during the afternoon and evening.

After an exciting baseball game, won by Palmer Kinsman's team from that of Lou LeLachur, by a score of 15 to 9 the party were lined up for the ladies given numbers. The men were informed that the only way they could get a dinner partner was to bid for her and it was not until the bidding was all over that any man knew who his partner was to be.

The golf competition included both ladies and gentlemen. The Terry Cup for the men's competition went to Sam Sinton. The Fenwick prize for ladies went to Miss Edith Mitchell, second prize to Mrs. Joseph Key and the third to Mrs. Sam Sinton. The prize for the most attractive member of the club went to Canon Armstrong; most attentive (unattached) to his dinner partner, E. J. Terry; most attentive to his own wife, Dr. Spangler; best dressed man, Rotarian McCullough, of Oshkosh, Wisconsin.

During the dinner President Mont Jones expressed the regret of the club at losing Canon Armstrong and presented to Mrs. Armstrong a beautiful bouquet of flowers.

FRENCH BISHOP DEFINES DRESS WOMEN SHOULD WEAR TO CHURCH

Paris, July 31. (By Mail).—The length of the sleeves of a woman's dress which is suitable wear for the observance of church services has been laid down by the Bishop of Clermont-Ferrand in a notice which he has asked the priests of his diocese to bring before their flocks.

Wearers of dresses wanting in modesty, the circular states—with the explanation that decency forbids low cut necks and sleeves that do not reach below the elbow—should be asked to leave the church, and if they present themselves thus attired at the Holy Communion, the priest should pass them by. Their own priest later should give them a "paternal warning" on the subject.

GENEVA EXPERTS DISCUSS HYGIENE IN INDUSTRY

Geneva, July 31. (By Mail).—Problems of hygiene in industry were discussed recently at Geneva by a special commission of experts, who met at the international labor office.

The matters under study are deemed of considerable importance to world workers. They include poisonous infection contracted during the exercise of employment, the possibility of extending insurance privileges enjoyed by the victims of accidents to persons who contract a malady during service, and the studies to be carried out to attain a uniformity of tests in the determination of colors by railway employees and sailors.

The experts form what is known as the committee of correspondence for industrial hygiene, and include specialists from Germany, Austria, Belgium, France, Great Britain, Italy, Japan, Poland and Jugoslavia.

STOCKHOLM HELPS ITS YOUTH

Stockholm, Aug. 1. (By Mail).—The helping hand of this city has been extended to assist young men and women in search of their first jobs, through the Vocational Aid Bureau, established by the Stockholm Board of Education.

The bureau is especially designed to help boys and girls who are about to finish high school, and must either go to work without delay or take up special training in trade or apprentice schools. It co-operates with the city Employment Agency for Minors, and during the first month of activity 592 of the 657 applicants were placed in positions. Among the successful ones were 126 young women.
