Orders for the re-opening of the plants were telegraphed here today by E. B. Ford, president of the motor company, who is in Cincinnati.

FERTILIZER CASES

Hon. W. P. Jones, K. C., of Woodstock arrived in the city today. He is here in connection with some cases brought by Gunns, Ltd., to recover the price of fertilizer from farmers in Victoria county. The question as to the mode and place of trial will be argued before Chief Justice McKeown at chambers tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock. The plaintiffs seek to have trial at St. John before a judge without a jury, and the defendants desire to have the trial at Woodstock, who claim that they did not receive the quality of fertilizer arranged for and are therefore resisting payment and also claim damages resulting to their crops.

No one of the cases has been tried out as yet though in some of the smaller ones notes were served and sued for by banks and the defendants did not make any defense, but will sue the company for damages.

It is expected that the judge will decide as to the mode and place of trial. Burnhill, Sanford and Harrison are acting for the plaintiffs and W. P. Jones, K. C., for the defendants.

The 4th Siege Battery will parade for pay tonight at 8 o'clock. All clothing and equipment must be returned. E. M. Slader, Major.

GOOD THINGS COMING TO THE THEATRES OF ST. JOHN

A WOMAN'S SPEECH RINGS ROUND WORLD

Here is one woman's speech, the echo of which has been heard around the world. It is the climax of Ibsen's play, "A Doll's House," now at the Imperial, when Torvald Helmer as a last resort pleads with Nora, his wife, to stay with him on the ground that: "Before all else you are a wife and a mother." Nora replies: "That I no longer believe. I believe that before all else I am a human being, just as much as you are—or at least that I should try and become one."

"I know that most people agree with you, Torvald, and that they say so in books. But henceforth I can't be satisfied with what most people say, and what is in books. I must think things out for myself, and try to get clear about them."

Around this speech arose the controversy out of which grew the Feminine Movement. And it might be said that this one scene in "A Doll's House" helped to immortalize Henrik Ibsen.

Nazimova is appearing as Nora in "A Doll's House" at the Imperial.

CONCERNING ORPHANS' SHOW.

The attendance of the children of the various orphanages at the Imperial Theatre tomorrow (Friday) afternoon at the second show will in no way interfere with the general public, as the little ones will be the guests of the house and J. D. O'Connell, who will supply them with goodies as they leave the theatre. Some extra features, including a movie of the 1920 picnic in Rockwood Park, will be put on. It is expected the show will continue until 5.30.

HYDRO MATTERS

People residing along the Rotherway road between the city boundary and Riverside are being asked by the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission to signify their willingness to install electric lighting fixtures in their houses.

If a sufficient number of agreements are received, the commission will be authorized to install a service station and lines extended in both directions to serve that area.

The current will be supplied at the rate of four cents a kilowatt hour, the minimum monthly charge being fixed at $1.

Asked if the commission proposed stringing lines over the Rotherway, within the limits of the city's scope of operation, C. O. Foss, chief engineer of the commission, said that if this were done, the annual cost would be credited to the minimum of 10,000,000 k. w. h., as in the proposed contract between the city and the commission.

The commission, however, would prefer to have the city serve all the consumers within its limits.

The city commissioners and the members of the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission are meeting this afternoon to discuss the proposed contract for the current from the Rotherway development. Premier Foster was to attend. The meeting is open to the public.

THE LATE STEPHEN NORRIS.

Stephen Norris, son of the late Albert Norris of Barnesville, died in the General Public Hospital at one o'clock on Saturday morning, September 16, aged thirty-eight years. The funeral service was held at P. J. Fitzpatrick's undertaking rooms on Saturday afternoon at five o'clock.

Mr. Norris had been a great sufferer since June, when during a fishing trip alone off Dipper Harbor he was hurt while in his boat, and lay unconscious for about nine hours tossing on the sea, until a friend went in search of him.

That night he was rushed to the hospital in St. John, and an operation was performed, seemingly successful. A few weeks later the patient went home. Four days afterwards complications set in and he returned to the hospital for another serious operation, but the condition was such that the patient could not rally, and after weeks of intense suffering he passed away.

Besides his wife and boy, Earl, he leaves to mourn a widowed mother, residing at Barnesville; four brothers, Samuel of Benton, Carleton county, Harry and Rufus of Barnesville and Albert of Black River, and four sisters, Mrs. Walle Harrington, Mrs. Roy Linton and Mrs. William Ward, all of St. John, and Miss Lena Norris, at present of Rotherway. These all have the sympathy of a host of friends and neighbors in this bereavement.

DID MINISTER AND WOMAN MEET THERE?

Abandoned Farmhouse Near Scene of Murders Found Fully Furnished.

New York, Sept. 21.—An abandoned farmhouse near the orchard where the bodies of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills were found on last Saturday morning has come into the spotlight of investigation of the double murder. It was believed possible that this house, about a mile and a quarter from New Brunswick, N. J., may have been the meeting place of the wealthy clergyman and his choir leader, and that they may have been followed there by the murderer or murderers on last Thursday evening.

Whether the authorities believe that the shooting took place inside or outside the house, which is only about seventy-five feet from where the bodies were left under a tree, in such a composed position that they appeared to have been carried there, could not be learned. The authorities would not discuss the house, but it was learned that they had examined it.

The mysterious feature of the house is that despite its outward appearance of abandonment, a glance through the windows at the interior shows that it is completely furnished, and appears to be without that accumulation of dust that characterizes a house that has not been occupied.

MEIGHEN ON THE NEAR EAST AND OUR RAILWAYS

Belleville, Ont., Sept. 21.—The question of the Near East is one on which no one should endeavor to embarrass the government, Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen told a gathering of political friends at the Belleville Club last night. So great was this question of foreign policy, he said, that every citizen should give the government an opportunity to live up to the best traditions of sterling British character.

He urged that no one should be carried away by thoughtless reference to foreign policy, and that the Near East was not a diplomatic adventure in the mind of the British government, which, he said, was composed of men of all parties who had stood the test of the last eight years. Men of all parties had subscribed to the message under compulsion of their conscience.

The transportation problem was dealt with at some length. Mr. Meighen related the steps by which the late government took hold of collapsing railways. Cautious reference was made to alleged lack of co-ordination of the Canadian National system and the Grand Trunk, which he said was causing Canada a loss of millions annually through duplication of offices. He said the Grand Trunk was operating, not in harmony, but in competition with the national system. He contended that D. B. Hanna, and the directors of the Canadian National Railways had the confidence of every employee of the system and of their conscience.

Today Mr. Hanna was the "fired boss" handling the greatest enterprise in Canada—a fine state of affairs, remarked Mr. Meighen. "The presidency has been so hawked and peddled and dragged in the dust that no one can be found to take it. I have gone through the country demanding that his railway problem be put to a head. Put a Canadian there who knows the system; get it done and give the road a chance."
