VOCATIONAL TRAINING

Pre-vocational and vocational training should be a part of our school system, for the benefit of the boys and girls at school; but it would be a very selfish and wholly unjustifiable course to refuse the same benefit to those who have left school without that training. To say that the money spent thus far in this city on vocational evening classes has been wasted can best be answered by those who needed and have taken a course. The city council will be very ill-advised if it decides to turn the clock back because a few persons of extreme views object to a needed forward movement. Even where vocational training is part of the school course, continuation classes are carried on for the benefit of those who need them. In this province it was necessary to demonstrate the need of such classes, and this has been done. By all means let us have a pre-vocational course in the schools as soon as possible, and a vocational high school; but let us not shut out those young people who have already left school, from the benefits of the system. Every worthy cause discovers enemies, reactionaries, and those who have something they are convinced is better; but while they all have their uses they should not be permitted to stop the wheels of progress. If the evening classes in St. John are not producing as good results as they should let the effort be to improve, and not to destroy.

TRADE WITH WEST INDIES

Speaking in Toronto last week Mr. Ernest E. Ross, editor of the Caribbean Herald said: "The new United States tariff regulations will further emphasize the need of a commercial union between Canada on the one hand and the British West Indies and Guiana on the other. The people out there are solidly for a policy of commercial union and reciprocity with the Dominion, and recent developments in the States will, in my opinion, force us closer together. We need Canada's products, especially boots and shoes, agricultural implements and all kinds of hardware, and in return we have something to offer to preserve the balance of trade, such as raw sugar, cocoa and tobacco. We are a free people, and Guiana is not controlled by a big United States corporation, as is the case with Jamaica." Mr. Ross has established an office in Toronto to promote better trade relations. This development is of interest to St. John, through which much of the traffic would pass.

The members of the Canadian Club and St. John branch of the Engineering Institute listened last evening to one of the most absorbing picture talks that has ever come this way. Mr. John Murphy's address on the formation and prevention of ice, illustrated as it was in a manner which was also a revelation of the useful powers of the camera, opens up vast possibilities in regard to the protection of hydro-electric plants in winter and the prevention of ice-formation in streams. Only those who saw the pictures could appreciate to the full the significance of the address. Mr. Murphy's investigations have produced remarkable results of the very highest value to Canada.

Mrs. L. A. Hamilton, who is a member of Toronto city council, gave a talk on Citizenship last week which should gladden the hearts of the members of the Commercial Club of St. John. She insisted that there should be co-operation between voters and their representatives, the latter being made to feel that those who placed them in office are standing behind them. As for the women, she said that each should strive to make her own special contribution to the life of the city and to appreciate the parts that others play. Narrowness of every sort should be shunned, while frankness, goodness, cheerfulness, good-will and an absolute fidelity to truth should be cultivated.

It is claimed that there is less juvenile crime in Montreal than in any city in the Dominion, and this result is attributed to the establishment of several juvenile courts. When will the people of St. John become educated to the point where they will insist on doing their plain duty in this matter? Only lack of knowledge or indifference, or both, stands in the way. It is not a good record for a city like St. John. Would the municipal authorities prefer to keep up institutions for the care of delinquents and have the community suffer the loss of productive energy involved, to say nothing of the crimes?

Fredericton Mail: "The United Farmers of New Brunswick are to hold their annual convention in Fredericton next week. Upwards of five hundred delegates are expected to be in attendance. It is expected that some action will be taken with a view of putting up a candidate to contest the vacant seat in York-Sunbury."

It would be most unfortunate if partisan politics entered into the consideration of anything relating to the public health in any of the counties of the province. It is too vital a matter for any but helpful and constructive criticism and hearty co-operation.

LET SPORT BE CLEAN.

That the introduction of the professional or semi-professional element kills clean sport has been stoutly maintained by the advocates of strictly amateur athletic games. They do not have long to wait at any time for evidence to uphold their contention. Because certain professionals were not restored to amateur standing an independent hockey league was formed this winter, between Moncton and several Nova Scotia towns. The Moncton and Amherst teams played in Amherst on Saturday night, and the Amherst News describes some of the features of the event. As it was a strong advocate of the independent, semi-professional league, it would hardly overstate the case. Here is one extract:—

"Previous to the game the crowd behaved in an orderly way for the most part, but during the game the excitement worked on some over saturated individuals, with the result that several minor disturbances were caused. The most objectionable feature of their actions in the rink, however, was the language used. In several parts of the rink where seating congestion was great, word battles were indulged in which were a disgrace to the men involved. Usually they were too drunk to know what they were saying, with the result that in more than one case ladies were forced to remove to other parts to avoid listening to their filthy language. Police supervision in such cases was impossible on account of the congestion. Following the game, the crowd for the most part repaired to the various restaurants of the town to 'feed up.' In a short while every place was filled to capacity, and the remainder waited outside to see the fun. An unfortunate affair took place at 'Blanche's.' Here an individual who had been over indulging in the ardent got sore at one of the waitresses who happened to confuse his order, and the terms in which he referred to her were such that the proprietor ordered him out. Several others took part in the resulting squabble, and things began to look bad. One man shoved another through the glass in the store door, and as he emerged announced to the crowd which had collected outside that he was 'going out.' Later he paid up the price of the broken door. The police arrived on the scene a few minutes later and three arrests were made. The men all sobered up after an hour in police headquarters and were allowed to return to their home towns when the trains left. There was also a mixup in the Rex Cafe. Later that night, or rather earlier that morning, Officer Brunt encountered a 'dead drunk' lying on the sidewalk, and after awakening him and finding that he was too full to walk, carried him back to the 'jug.' This completed an interesting evening for the police force, and they are not hoping for a repetition of it in the near future."

It can hardly be credited that the citizens, either of Amherst or Moncton, would regard "sport" as cheaply bought at this price. The moment the professional element enters into amateur sport it loses caste, and the result is always the same. There has been a great revival of sport in the provinces in the last two years. It is owing to the friends of amateur sport. The other gentlemen appear on the scene when the prospect seems good for their designs, which are cloaked by a pretence that what the crowd want is "fast play." They should not be permitted to destroy what others have patiently built up. Let us have more sport, and let it be governed by the rules of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada, which has indeed been over-lenient in its desire to promote harmony.

The Rotary Club of St. Stephen like those of St. John, Moncton, Halifax and Charlottetown, is interesting itself in the boys. It is providing for them a recreational centre. The directors of the Agricultural Society have given the use of the upper story of the fair building, which is being converted into a gymnasium. A competent instructor has been secured, and every boy over seven years of age is eligible for membership, the gymnasium being open afternoon and evening. It is also hoped to do something for girls and for men's classes. The Rotarians are raising a thousand dollars to carry on the work.

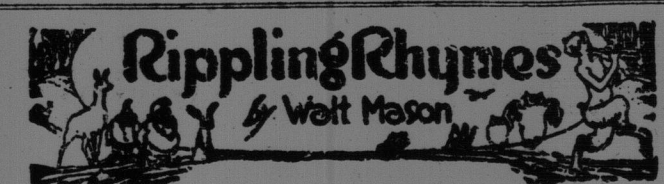

Mayor Schofield said something when he invited everybody with a grievance to parade it at City Hall. In the end the council will be about as wise as it was before, but it will have the valued memory of a lot of picturesque protest of one kind and another. Clearly, however, the citizens overlooked some promising material when they were choosing their civic rulers.

The Burns night entertainment in the Veterans' hall last evening reminds us that the great poet of Scotland and of humanity has lost none of his power over the thoughts and feelings of men and women who have the time and the inclination to read his immortal verse.

At a meeting of the Women's Hospital Aid held yesterday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms at which Mrs. E. A. Smith presided further details in connection with the furnishing of the nurses' home were considered. Reports were presented by Miss Addy, Mrs. George K. McLeod and Mrs. R. S. Sims. Miss Addy reported as convener of the committee for the Christmas stockings and Mrs. McLeod reported for the linen committee for the nurses' home. It was reported that the sale of cook books under the direction of Mrs. Sims had netted $185.00. The receipt of $175 from the Dr. Monte chapter I. O. O. F. for the furnishing of a room was reported. James Gregory and Percy Evans wrote to say that they would defray any extra expenses to cover the entire furnishing of a room. A resolution of the sympathy in bereavement was extended to Miss MacLaren and resolutions of regret at illness to Mrs. A. J. Mulcahy and Mrs. W. W. White. Reports received of tenders for Simmons beds which had been received from three city firms and the furnishing committee was given authority to purchase at once.

P. E. I. UNITED FARMERS. Charlottetown, P. E. I., Jan. 26.—At the annual meeting of the United Farmers of P. E. I. Island, yesterday, it was reported that sixteen local branches have been organized. There are about 200 members. Organization work will be vigorously extended. Horace E. Wright of Bedouque was elected president.

NO FOOD FOR 13 MONTHS. London, Eng., Jan. 26.—London has just had another hunger strike. This strike came from America and was a big king snake from Florida, occupant of the Zoo. For thirteen months the snake refused to eat and then gave in.

THIS PARLOUS TIME.

It is no time for knocking, or pulling doleful face; predictions dire and shocking are badly out of place. For years our mood was mellow, we gambled and we pranced; and now we pay the fellow who fiddled while we danced. Now let us be brave critics, and pay the bill in style, and while we take our presents a dauntless smile. We're busy readjusting, we'd get back on the track, and many things are busting, and many more must crack; it's courage that we're needing, and patience and good sense, and bosoms that are bleeding should bleed behind the fence. We knew when things were booming that settlement must come, the day of fate was looming before us, stark and grim; and now that day we're facing, so let's conceal our fears; there is no use disgracing our sex by shuddering tears. All things will be adjusted, there are good times in store, the boons in which we trusted will be on deck once more, and he is streaked with yellow who makes a mournful din now that we pay the fellow who played the violin.

LIGHTER VEIN.

The subway train was swaying from side to side and a passenger who hadn't seen a strap to hand to was suffering as a consequence.

Three times he landed in the lap of a stout man who finally lost her temper and inquired:—

"Here, what are you doing? What do you call yourself?"

"Well," came the smiling reply, "I think I must now describe myself as a lap-lander."

The joke appealed to the matron, who not only forgave him but decided to retell the humor. She tried it first on her husband. "Yes, dear," she said, "three times he landed on my lap, and when I asked him what he was he said an Eskimo."

"You have no heart?"

Pale but tearless she stood before him. She was poor, but proud. Adverse fortune had reduced her wardrobe, driven her and her venerable mother to the top flat of a back street house, and hardened the lines about her still beautiful mouth.

But it could not dim the lustre of her blue-black eyes, or tame the unconquerable spirit that animated every fibre of the lissom form standing erect and awaiting his answer.

"You have no heart," she repeated. "No, miss," replied the butcher, "but we've got some nice liver. Will that do?"

Absent-minded. Rogers was walking with an absent-minded friend.

"Yesterday," he said, "Mrs. Pulsome half recognized me. She asked me if my name was Rogers."

"And was it?" asked his friend.—London Tit-Bits.

The Difference. A Pink, as the parlor Bolsheviks are now called—got into an argument with a Philadelphian smoker with Editor George H. Lorimer. "We all work pretty much alike," said the Pink. "In other words, we all do the best we can." Thereupon the Phil said, "I don't think you ought to be paid alike, and that would abolish class distinction—rich and poor."

"I don't agree," said Editor Lorimer. "This equality idea leaves me cold."

"But," said the Pink, "don't we all, after all, row in the same boat?"

"Yes," said the editor, "but not with the same skulls."—Los Angeles Times.

The young man had a decoration on his face. You can hardly call it a beauty spot, for it was a discoloration of the region surrounding his right eye. He tried to look as if he had got it through attempting some daring feat in sport or war, but neither in war nor sport does one, as a rule, get a black eye, so when he met his chum the latter wanted to know all about it.

"It was only a lovers' quarrel," said the young man.

"It was," said his friend, "she must be a pretty powerful woman."

The young man sighed.

"She told me," he said, "it was her other lover."

HARDWARE MEN'S ANNUAL DINNER

The annual dinner of the St. John Iron & Hardware Association was held last evening in the Union Club. About fifty of its members were present with the president, S. E. Fisher, in the chair. The menu cards were appropriately made to present bronze door sets.

The toast was "The King," proposed by the president; "The Association," proposed by the vice-president, S. L. Emerson, and responded to by Hon. W. H. Thorne; "The City of St. John," proposed by R. B. Emerson and responded to by Mayor Schofield; "The Board of Trade," proposed by J. G. Harrison and responded to by W. E. Burditt; "Iron and Hardware Manufacturers," proposed by M. E. Agar and responded to by W. S. Fisher; "Our Guests," proposed by M. H. Howan.

Solos were sung by W. A. Smith and C. Jamieson. Instrumental selections were played by members of the St. John Concert Company, and a sketch was given by members of the cast now playing at the Opera House.

NO VOTE FOR THE HEALTH BOARD.

Kings County Council Defeats Motion for Grant of $7,500—The financial statement.

At the afternoon session of the Kings County Council at Hampton yesterday the report of the secretary-treasurer was read, which showed total receipts of $70,687.24, and expenditures of $41,449.96. The auditor's report was read and accepted. A motion to pay a rebate of $16.75 on the road tax of the W. H. Baxter estate was carried. The estimates of the board of health calling for an assessment of $7,500 were presented by Councillor Pearson. Last year the board of health had asked for $5,000, and only $2,000 was granted and as a result the deficit occurred. The expenditures were $3,025.57, and the liabilities remaining unpaid on December 31 were $2,728.53, leaving a net deficit of $2,468.37. The sum of $1,200 was voted for the installation of lights in the municipal home and $1,200 for the plumbing and heating. Dr. Pearson moved that the sum of $7,500 be assessed for board of health purposes. A lengthy discussion followed, during which several members of the board spoke in support of the health act, while several councillors spoke against it. Councillor Smutts asked about drainage, in which he stated that nothing had been done for Hampton. He spoke of the disgraceful conditions in the sewerage there. Councillor McAuley moved an amendment that the council vote no funds for health purposes, which was carried by a strong vote.

It was moved and carried that a committee be appointed to wait on the provincial government to ask that the term of office of councillor be extended from two to four years. The members named were Councillors Gilechrist, Gilbert, Gilliland and McKenna.

CANADIAN CLUB.
John Murphy of the department of railways and canals spoke to the Canadian Club and the St. John Branch of the Engineering Institute last evening on "Ice Formation." He told of the formation of "frazil" on the metal of the wheels which was the cause of many hydro-electric plants closing down during a portion of the winter. He said if the metal parts, such as water wheels, were kept one-thousandth of a degree above freezing point the formation of "frazil" would not result. One ton of coal was sufficient to keep a plant capable of producing 3,000 horse power from freezing for an hour. The speaker was introduced by the president, A. M. Belding.
