Invented, It Is Said, by Professor Clemente Figueras of Las Palmas. Canary Islands - The Inventor Says It Means a Tremendous Industrial Revolution.

(N. Y. Sun.)

LONDON, June 9.-Under date of the Daily Mail sends a remarkable account of a great scientific discovery. According to the correspondent, the discovery is a method of directly using atmospheric electricity without chemicals or dynamos and practically applying it without any motive force.

The discoverer is Senor Clemente Figueras, engineer of woods and forests for the Canary Islands and for many years professor of physics at St. Augustin's College, Las Palmas, and ong known as a scientific student.

Hitherto he has jealously guarded the secret, fearing that a premature revelation might rob him of his reward. Even now, while he professes to have entirely succeeded, he remains silent concerning the exact principles

He says, however, that he has invented a generator which can collect the electric fluid, is able to store it and apply it to an infinite number of purposes, for instance, in connection with ships, railways and manufactories. He says he expects the effect of his discovery will be a fre-mendous economic and industrial re-

He will not give the key to his invention but declares that the only extraordinary point about it is that it has taken so long to discover a simple

The people of the Canary Islands consider Prof. Figueras to be very able, and they firmly believe that his invention is genuine. He had his apparatus made in separate parts in Paris, Berlin and Las Palmas, and fitted them together himself.

The firm in Berlin which supplied some of the parts was curious enough to send to the Canary Islands an emis sary to try to draw out the professor, Prof. Figueras is shortly going to Madrid and Berlin to patent his in-

ST. MARTINS.

The Late Capt. Benjamin Vaughan, The agath of Captain Benjami Vaughan at his residence on Friday last removes another of St. Martins aged citizens of esteemed worth. He was 90 years of age. His funeral on Sunday afternoon in the Baptist Church was largely attended by all classes. Born in St. Martins in the year 1812, he grew with the place and noted its change from a mere settlement of a few scattered dwellings to its present attainment of a well equip ped village. He attended its first school and witnessed the laying of the foundations of its numerous churches. His memory was clear and intellect bright, pleasure he took in relating scenes of his school life and early manhood were interesting indeed. He married Miss Mary Brown, sister of Deason Joseph Brown, who survives him at the advanced age of 91.

sea captains of his day, and amassed a handsome fortune, retiring in the year 1862. Shortly after this he removed to Liverpool, England, where he lived in a splendid home surrounded with all the luxuries of life and became a member of the shipping firm of S. Vaughan & Co. For more than 20 years fortune smiled upon him. Then came a financial crisis, which not only swept away his interest in the business, but also his personal wealth, which he had laid by for old age. This would have been sufficient to have crushed the ordinary man, but Mr. Vaughan responded nobly and rose supreme to all difficulties. Returning more to St. Martins, by the procused a simple and unostentatious home, where he peacefully ended his days. He was a consistent member of the Baptist Church. He leaves one who fives in Vancouver, B. C. His funeral sermon was preached by Rev. C. W. Townsend from the text: "I shall be satisfied when I awake in place directly after the service in the Baptist semetery. Much sympathy is felt for his bereaved widow, who in ald age feels keenly her loneliness.

THE ROAD TO HEALTH.

This medicine will give relief right away, making sound, refreshing sleep possible. It will put children on the high road to recovery at once. It is doing this to-day for thousands of little ones in all parts of the country. The Tablets are good for children of all ages and are taken as readily as candy. If crushed to a powder they can be taken with perfect safety and gratifying results to the youngest infant.

A Mother's Praise.

Mrs. James Spencely, Pembroke, Ont., says :- "Any mother with a cross and restless child should get Baby's Own Tablets at once. When my baby was teething he was cross, feverish and so sleepless that I had to be up with him most of the night. The Tablets were recommended to me and after giving them to baby his fever was reduced, he became quiet, got refreshing sleep, and I was able to get sleep myself. I have since given him the Tablets both for constipation and diarrhoea and find them a cure for both these troubles. I do not know what I would do without the Tablets at times and I always keep them in the house.'
