Shamrock II. Keel Run.

Glasgow, Jan. 15.—The keel of the Shamrak II., challerger for the America's cup, was run while Denny's yard was closed on lew Year's day. Since then a score of the side frames have been set up to port and starboard. Work on the challenger is now all done at night. Everything, even the waste and scraps of metal is locked up in a shed and scaled before the yard is opened for the day workmen. Ninety-five tons on lead were melted for the keel. The finished block weighs within a few pounds of 90 tons.

The Lawson Boat.

Boston, Jan. 15.—The Oregon pine log, 112 feet in length, which will be the main boom on the Lawson boat, was in the hands of the sparmakers at Lawley's yard this afterthe sparmakers at Lawley's yard this afternoon, two of them split-wawing it, getting through all but 18 feet of the length. The log is proving to be a good one, with fewknets or bad cuts. When fashioned into shape it will be decagonal.

Captain Hank Haff will visit Boston within the next 10 days to settle matters connected with the crew. Designer Crowninshield has forwarded to him a large number of applications he has received for places on the boat, among them one from a Mr.
Crowniushield, of Providence, mate of the ago, must have recovered, for he fought a lat-round contest with Tom Tracy at Portland, Ore., the other day. Case lost.

If reports about the boxens who are looking for big money should hasten to that town.

Frank Rafael, of San Francisco, recently got $1,200 for winning a bout there. He never could get more than a $300 purse in the States. Tommy White is another of those boxer States.

Tommy White is another of those boxers whose talk of retiring from the ring should be taken with a grain of salt, for he has announced several times that he has quit the arena. After he was defeated by McGovern last June he said that he was through with boxing. On Saturday he signed articles to box Benny Yanger before March 2.

If the bout between Jeffries and Ruhlin is not allowed at Cincinnati it can be held at San Francisco, where there is a law favoring boxing. Louisville and Bridgeport clubs assert that they could hold the bout, but it is doubtful. Kansas City would like to have it, and the sports there were asked for a bid, but the county marshal will not allow the contest to be held at that city.

Kid Lavigne has fablen from grace. While intexicated at Detroit the other day he fell on the sidewalk and he lay there as if he didn't care when he got up, while a crowd of 20 or more ga'hered around and one began to count, just as the referce in a ring contest would do when a fighter is knocked out. The wag counted slowly one, two, three, four, five, six, seven. Just here the Kid struggled to his feet and declared that he was not out.

George Gardner, in a letter from South Africa to Lowell relatives, expressed a desire to return to the United States if there was a good chance for sparring in New England. His brother wrete him of the present outlock, and it is probable that George Gardner, after his bout with Duggan, will go to Australia.

go to Australia. A Stiff. Battle.

Louisville, Ky., Jan. 15.—Kid Broad and Dave Sullivan fought a 25-round draw at the auditorium here last night. It was a fierce fight from beginning to end, and from the 19th round it looked as if Erced would win, but neither of the men was able to land a kneckout blow, and Tim Hurst, the referce, declared the bout a draw.

declared the bout a draw.

Broad took the aggressive from the start, but Dave stood him off and shook him up at long range. Broad seeing he could not fight at long range, began rushing to bring his strength into play. He walloped Dave severely, but the New Yorker had the better of the long work and infighting.

The milling was fierce in the fourth with both on the verge of a knockout for the last half. Broad rushing like a bull shot a right to the jaw, which staggered Dave, and followed with a rain of rights and lefts which got Dave buzzy before he could recover. Then Dave shot the right over on Kid's jaw and in a fierce rally almost turned the tables. and in a fierce rally almost turned the tables. They fought through the round and were both groggy.

Bread made up ground in the sixth and seventh, and had Sul'ivan's mouth full of blood from his body jolts. In the eighth Sulivan, half from a slip and half from Broad's punch, went through the repes to his corner. He staved off Broad's wild swings for a brockout and stavel the round.

He staved off Broad's wild swings for a knockout and stayed the round.

Broad's strength was shown again in the 10th when he threw Sullivan heavily to the floor, but Sullivan's science came to the front again, and with a left to jaw and right to wind he made the Kid cling.

In the 11th Broad got Sullivan groggy, but the New Yorker rallied and put the Clevelander on queer street. The 12th was So^{11th}van's star round. Dave was devoting his attention to Broad's wind, and his glove shot into the Kid's stomach with a frequency that hurt.

that hur!. From the 12th on Sullivan had the better of it from his body punches, Broad's rugged strength only saving him. Bread rallied in the 19th and salled in, but was too weak to do much damage. Both men were in such condition that neither could land a knockout blow, and at the end of the 25th round the referee declared it a draw.
