Valuable Receipts. CURING BUTTER.—Melt the fresh butter in a glazed stone ware vessel and heat it to Brockville 186° Fah. The stone-ware vessel should be placed in a metal vessel containing the warm temperature as long as any froth comes to the surface, and it must be skimmed until it becomes quite clear. It is then strained through a course flannel cloth which will separate any of the chases reaction. separate any of the cheesy particles which may remain in it. It is then cooled as quick as possible by surrounding it with cold water or ice. This is the method employed by the Tartars for preserving butter. They supply the markets of Constantinople with it, and it is stated that it will remain perfectly fresh in a cool situation for six months. Butter so treated and then salted will preserve its fine taste for two years when kept in a cool situation. The chief cause of butter becoming rancid is owing to the cheesy particles left in it in curing.

Leave Perth for Smithstalls and Brockville 7 35 a.m.

These may be all removed by melting the butter, but care must be exercised so as not to raise the temperature above 180° or the flavor of the butter will be injured.

Leave Smithsfalls for Perth Leave Smithsfalls for Perth RANCID BUTTER.—The raneid taste and Arrive at Perth odor may be removed from inferior butter The above Trains make the following by melting it in a water bath with some Connections, viz: At the Grand Trunk uely powdered fresh charcoal then straining Junction, with Gran 1, runk Railway Trains it through flannel. The curdy particles sink to the bottom of the vessel in which it was melted. This operation, however, will not rickville and Frankville; at Almonte, with restore the primitive flavor to butter. Hints on Making Bread.

Good bread cannot be made by merely mixing flour and water and yeast. The mass must be kneaded so as to be sure and bring every grain of flour in contact with bring every grain of flour in contact with its equivalent grain of water, and so as to diffuse the year, uniformly throughout the diffuse the yeast uniformly throughout the mass, or else the resulting gas will be liberated in one spot and not at all in another. This is seen in badly kneaded loaves—in the holes they contain and in a crust that easily detaches from the crumb, as though it had been lifted up by internal force. The air cells in a well-kneaded loaf are fine and uniform throughout the mass are fine and uniform throughout the mass and all will be formed at the same time. If the flour and yeast are decidedly good and the kneading decidedly bad, the bread will not give satisfaction. On the other hand, good kneading, good molding and good baking, will make a second or thirdrate quality equal to the best.

Wool in England. As the quantity of wool in England greatly controls that in America, it is interresting to know the amount that has ar rived in that sountry this year. During th first three months of the year 19,644,964 lbs first three months of the year 19,644,964 bs. arrived in England from colonial pessessions, against 14,224,823 pounds for the corresponding period in 1862. Of this amount 7,228,887 pounds had been sold and exported, against 8,780,157 for the correspondence of the concession of Ramsay. Apply to Wm. Gilchrist, Ross, if by letter, post paid.
