It is astonishing how great a change a few years of married life will make in the appearance and disposition of many women. The freshness, the charm, the brilliance vanish like the bloom from a peach which is rudely handled. The matron is only a dim shadow, a faint echo of the charming maiden. There are two reasons for this change, ignorance and neglect. Few young women appreciate the shock to the system through the change which comes with marriage. Many neglect to deal with the unpleasant drains which are often consequent on marriage and metherhood, not understanding that this secret 25c per Bottle

THE KING'S HEALTH.

His Vigor Said to be Due to Electric

New York, Dec. 14-The Herald has the following from London:— The fact that King Edward gets through so much work and yet retains unimpaired his elasticity and vigor has been a source of wonder for a long time, even to members of the medical profession. The explanation of the mystery is offered at last. For a month past his Majesty is said to have been taking electric light baths. These scientific rejuvenators are installed at Windsor Castle and at Buckingham Palace. They are both of the double light variety, with a projector of 2,500 candlepower for use in local affections of the body. Inside the bath, in which a sitting posture is adopted, there are fifty-two electric lamps, which radiate any co-ored light desired. The light not only permeates every part of the body, but has a sort of Turkish bath effect. The lights are of colors which scientists say have curative effects on certain ailments. ime, even to members of the medical

The idea may provail that the main feature of an agricultural course is to teach boys to plow, low and reap and to do the other familiar manual labor of the farm. Such in-manual labor of the farm. Such instruction is chiefly necessary for the boy from the city who has never handled a farm tool. What the boy needs most to study is the natural sciences which underlie all farm practices. He needs to know the laws of plant life as he may study of them in botany. He needs to know the habits of inserts the control of the c them in botany. He needs to know the habits of insects that destroy his fruits and vines as he may study of them in entomology. He needs to know of the composition and physical properties of the soil as he may study of them in chemistry and physical properties of the soil as he may study of them in chemistry and physics. Therefore these four sciences have a large place in a course of agriculture. The student likewise needs a knowledge of English, history, civil government, mathematics, drawing, stc., that he may become a well rounded man—a good citizen as well as a handy man at his vocation. An agricultural course is one of the most delightful a person may follow. Some men say it is the best course in the universities which have an agricultural department, because it deals so intimately with the things of everyday life.—Sunset Magazi-

Sir Edmund Barton's Retirement.

Sir Edmand Harton's Ectirement.

A pleasing incident in connection with the retirement of Sir Edmund Barton from the Premiership of the Commonwealth to become a judge of the Federal High Court was the presentation of an address and parting gift from the representatives of the Australian press attached to 'the Commonwealth Parliament. The relations between Sir Edmund and the press gallery were most agreeable and harmonious. The Hon. R. E. O'Connor, who accompanies Sir Edmund to the bench of the Federal High Court, is an old pressman, and for some years, during his early briefless period, was the leader-writer for a Sydney evening paper. The Echo. Mr. Deakin, the new Prime Minister of the Commonwealth, became a leader-writer for The Melbourne Age at the early age of twenty-two, and he has acted as its special correspondent in India and America.

James' Reminder.

James' Reminder.

A west of England clergyman, having allowed his church to get into a bad state of disrepair, was ordered to restore it. He commenced with the sounding board over the pulpit, and after putting it right he called in his coachman with a view to testit and made a speech from the pulpit. "How does that sound. James?"

"It sounds very well, master. 1 heard every word," replied the coachman.

"Now, James, you change places with me and say something."

James at once entered the pulpit and said very distinctly and even emphatically: "I haven't had any wages for a month. How does that sound, sir?"—Tit-Bits.

A Wonderful Light.

A Wooderful Light.

A fast flashing beacon light that can be seen in favorable weather for more than forty miles has just been installed by the German Government upon the Island of Heligoland, in the German Ocean. It is the most wonderful in the world. The light used equals 30,000,000 candle power. The light lasts one-fifth of a second, and repeats itself in five seconds. It illumes the entire horizon in that period. At forty miles distance the pencil of light fashes over the see at the rate of 180,000 miles an hour. The German parabolic mirror reflector is used.
