GOSSIP.

A student in one of the theological seminaries recently went up for examination, and it was seen that he was sadly deficient in his knowledge of the Bible. It was also seen that he could not pass, but the examiner, who wanted to show that he knew something, asked him if there was any verse in the Bible that he knew. Yes, the young man knew one.

"What is it?"

"Judas went out and hanged himself."

"Don't you know any other?"

"Yes, just one."

"You may repeat that one also."

"Go thou and do likewise."

John S. Sargent, while he was painting the portrait of James Whitcomb Riley in Philadelphia, narrated some of the vicissitudes of a portrait painter's life.

"Once, I remember," he said, "I did a full length of a rich Londoner. The man was a coarse, high-colored type; he made rather a good subject. When the portrait was done, he stood off and studied it very closely.

"Well?" said I.

"Well," said he, "it's excellent. Only," he added, "you have left out one very essential feature."

"Excuse me, but," I faltered, "I thought you wouldn't care to have the er—er—wart reproduced."

"Hang it," he said, "I'm talking about the diamond pin, not the wart."

Galib Pacha, the new Turkish Minister of Evkafs, or "Pious Foundations," some years ago visited England. He did not take to England. He told the English calmly and frankly that he liked neither their ways nor themselves. He was outspoken and blunt.

The Prince of Wales one day sent him an invitation to the Derby.

"What is the Derby?" said Galib Pacha.

"A horse race, your excellency," replied the young nobleman who had brought the Prince's invitation.

"A horse race? Then I'll not go," said Galib Pacha. "Why should I? All men who are not fools know that some horses are faster than others."
