RESIGNATION.

The night was chill and dark. The moon had long since waned. When down the street of Foxboro Tripped a little maid.

Her feet they almost flew. As down along the street she sped. And shapes grotesque grew. That almost turned her head.

Behind the low drawn shades. Where peace and comfort reign. But never give one ray of light To guide the little dame.

The council winks and blinks. And shuns electric bulbs. Because, you know, it's safer To ward off Zeppelin raids.

By day the cars speed through. And prance the little town. But 'oh! at night the awful sight Of alligator eyes.

At last the little maid. Reaches a friendly side. With baited breath and thumping heart.

Oh, dear—I almost died. The fathers remain home to pray lads. And God at our right hand beside. And Heaven just out of the shadow. In His love no fear shall betide.

Hear the ring of the boys in the advance. Come along pals the battle is great. Do you not hear our blood that is calling. To you boys both small and great.

The spirit of Nelson is with us. And Wellington the braye and the true. Come rally now boys to the standard. The boast of the Red, White and Blue.

We'll not let our gallant flag suffer. For hosts to fall into line. So wake up ye slothful to action. Let your blood boil, and fall into line.

Yes, it is true, the Dutch beat the devil. But the old boy will win his own game. And headlong fall to perdition. With the Kaiser capized in his train.

To the fight then my boys of the county. Oh Canada, fair land and free. You are robust and well fed and glad boys. Your arm will be strong in the fray.

Christmas Stockings For Boys at front

When the Belleville boys in the trenches at the front receive the Christmas stockings from Belleville at Yuletide, their thoughts will revert to the kind ladies at home who are thinking of them and working for them ceaselessly. These stockings have been filled with articles contributed at Mrs. W. J. Brown's shower, recently held at Christ Church parish hall. Enough contributions were received to make up one hundred large Christmas stockings, which are now ready for the trenches. The work of filling them has been done at the workshop, No. 62 West Bridge St. Extreme care has been taken in packing them and the result is one of most attractive gifts possible for the distant boys of the home town. Everything about the stockings spells Christmas and Yuletide cheer.

They are now on exhibition in the window of Mr. J. L. Gorman's Shoe Store, Front St., and will be shipped in the course of a day or so, that the soldiers may receive them for certain by Christmas.

The treat that is in store for each one of the one hundred stockings may be imagined from the following list of contents. Each stocking contains:

- 1 Box Cigarettes.
- 1 Package Tobacco.
- 1 Pipe
- 1 Package Chocolate
- 1 Package Gum
- 1 Pack Cards
- 12 Post Cards
- 1 Pencil
- 1 Box Oxo
- 1 Pair Wool Socks
- 1 Cake of Soap
- 1 Wash Cloth
- 1 Hand Towel
- Candy
- Tea Tablets
- Writing Pads
- Pen Knives
- Hickory Nuts

Christening Event

An interesting affair took place on Thanksgiving afternoon, Monday last, Oct. 11th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Heary, Macdonald Ave., when the rites of baptism were solemnized by Rev. H. S. Osborne, of Bridge St. Methodist church upon their infant son, Ernest Floyd; also upon the young son of Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Leake, Adrian Franklin, of Charles St. A novel feature was the use of water from the River Jordan, brought a few years ago from the Holy Land by an aunt and uncle of the parties in the persons of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Magrath of Edmonton. In the dainty luncheon served to a few friends gathered was some of Mrs. Henry's wedding cake of six years ago, which tasted just as fresh as then. The bridesmaid of that time, Miss L. Parrott, now of the Kingston Public School staff, was present for this occasion, also the grand-parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Lake of Deseronto.

Military Notes

Haying for Deer.

Winters when the snow is deep for long stretches of time deer congregates in yards in the Adirondacks and many of the weaker ones die of starvation. Their skeletons may be found in various parts of the great wilderness when the snows are gone. This year game protectors have been cutting tons of marsh hay on the beaver meadows in the remote sections of the Adirondacks and stacking it in sheltered places to be fed to the deer next winter when the snow is so deep that other food is not obtainable. The Conservation Commission believes that it will save the lives of hundreds of the stacks have been placed in pole frames and liberally stacked in pole that will not eat marsh hay unless it is so treated.

Omelet, Southern Style.

Separate the whites and yolks of three eggs, beat the whites stiff and add the yolks until light, then beat into them eight teaspoonfuls of thick white sauce and a speck of cayenne and salt. Fold this into the beaten whites. Fold in six tablespoonfuls of ground baked ham and turn into a hot buttered baking dish. Bake until firm. Take care not to overbake or it will be dry. Sprinkle ground ham around the edge of the dish, stick a spray of parsley in the centre and serve immediately.
