Large Congregations at Park Baptist Church Sunday, Morning and Evening.

Farewell sermons were preached on Sunday in Park Baptist church by the pastor, Rev. C. W. Rose, who tia, where he assumes the pastorate of a very large church of over 1,000 members. Mr. Rose leaves the city followed with the universal respect and esteem and the best wishes of not only Park Baptist church, but of the citizens generally. Many are the regrets expressed at his going away, and all wish him and Mrs. Rose much success and real happiness in their inture home and new charge.

There were large congregations present yesterday, good singing by the choir and congreations, and the male quartette sang splendidly. In the morning Rev. Mr. Rose gave a fine sermon in a clear and forceful manner, and in the most kindly spirit,, It was much appreciated by the large congregations present.

"In the providence of God five and a half years ago," said Mr. Rose. "we began work together in the pastoral relationship. In response to your invitation, which I recognized as God's will, I came here to minister to you in holy things. In my thought the pastoral relatonship was then and is still second only in sacredness to that of the family, and should be formed only after a profound and abiding conviction that such is the purpose of God for all concerned.

"As I stood here then realizing what it meant to be a pastor of a large church and desiring to be a good minister of Jesus Christ the Apostle seemed to speak to me as he did to the leaders in Ephesus and as he did to his friend Timothy saying: 'Take heed unto thyself and unto the doctrine, continue in them for in so doing thou shalt both save thyself and them that hear thee." I Tim 4:16 "Be thou an example of believers in word, in conversation in charity, in faith and in purity." I Tim. 4: 12, Christ spoke saying, 'Lo I am with you always." Peter and John affirmed that there is salvation through Christ alone. They said, "Neither is there salvation in any other, for there is none other name given under heaven among men whereby we may be saved." Acts 4: 12. In harmony with "The general in command in Paris has a half million fresh troops under his control, which will be used, presumably, in pursuing the enemy.

"The difficulties of the retreating army are many, and there are good chances that the allies may annihilate them before they reach the frontier. The Germans appear to be abandoning their natural route, the valley of the Oise, en-deavoring to withdraw further eastward to the barren and difficult country of the Champagne, where the roads are poor and provisions scant. Beyond is the forest of Ardennes and to the east the wooded and clay ridges of the forest of Argonne, as formidable a barrier to progress as any army could have. Beyond is the Meuse, most of the bridges of which will be destroyed.

"If they actually have abandoned the Oise valley, the German lines of communication are reduced to one, passing by Givet, Namur and Liege. The other passing Mesieres, Montmedy and Luxemburg, the next line to the south, is commanded by the guns

> LONG ROAD TO PARIS. ROTTERDAM, Sept. 13, via London, Sept. 14.—A despatch received here from Berlin contains the comment of a military writer in the German capital on the situation in the western theatre of war and the retirement of General Von Buelow. "It is necessary to remind the public," says the writer, "that the road to the goal is still long, and that we are merely at the beginning of making sacrifices and undergoing suffering. There is danger that this fact is not kept before the eyes constantly enough, because our victories of 1870 came easy. How much of a danger this is can be seen by the recent complaint that so far no whole army of the enemy has been forced to surrender." Wood's Phosphodine, The Great English Remedy.
