WATERFORD

From our own Correspondent
Last week mention was made of the death of Mr. James Mercel, whose home was near Windham Centre. He had been working near Hamilton and after being taken sick with the flu he was removed to the Hamilton hospital where he died within a few hours. The funeral services were being held on Friday at Windham Centre, when a telegram was received, being brought to the cemetery, that his elder brother, Wm. Mercel, was very bad with the same disease. The services were postponed, and Mr. and Mrs. Mercel (father and mother) left for Hamilton by the L. E. and N. O. Mr. Wm. Mercel died that Friday. He was brought home and the funeral services held on Monday. Elder Moore of Waterford officiated, the church was filled with friends. Mr. James Mercel leaves behind a young wife. They also leave their father and mother, one brother who is in England with the C. E. F., and one sister. Mrs. Mercel is a comfort for the friends who are thus doubly bereaved.

lateness of the hour she gave it only in part, but we hope to have the sequel soon. A cup of tea and a social time closed a very pleasant afternoon.

Following is a letter from E. H. McKinnon, written partly before the signing of the armistice and partly since:

Somewhere in France, Nov. 10, 1918.
My dear mother—Just a few lines in answer to your ever welcome letter, which I received last night. It was written on October 13. Was sorry to hear of Charlie Upstevens' death. We have had the flu over here, but it is pretty well checked. I think the time is coming soon when we shall all be home. There is a lot of peace talk going about, but you know one must take it all we heard.

Have received all your parcels so far, the mitts and socks were fine. I am glad you got the money and ring I sent. I expect I shall see quite a change in you all when I come home. Remember it is over two years since I have seen any of you. No doubt you will see a big change in me, but it is a change for the better. I have been a great lesson and there are thousands of others like me. There is a peace conference going on now and we are all waiting patiently to see how it is going to turn out. Old Fritz is in a pretty bad hole just now, but if he wants to fight it out, why are the boys that can't do it. None of us want to come home until we have slain crushed completely. We don't want the coming generation to go through what we have.

13th—No doubt before you receive this note you will have heard the war is over, but I don't expect to be home for three or four months, perhaps about April. I will see me safe again in dear old Canada. Oh, we are all so happy because we have been spared to escape through this awful war, but dear mother, we are leaving the brave ones behind, the very best of our Canadian boys are lying out here in France. We are going to take a tour soon, wish I could tell you where. You need not send any more parcels. Just write to me as I shall be all over. No doubt some of the boys will be home before I am. I think the boys who are in England will be home first, but cheer up, you know we are out of danger now. I suppose you had a great time in Canada when you heard the news—wouldn't I have liked to have been there. We were expecting it so were not so very much surprised. We have been after him pretty heavy.

17th—Dear mother, we are going to march into Germany. We are now on our way. We march twenty miles to-morrow, that will bring us to the other side of Mons. You can look it up on the map. It is about 200 miles, all told. After we get that done, hurrah for dear old Canada. I may not be able to write as often while we are on the march, but I will do my best, anyway. You need not worry about me as I am safe. Hope to hear from you again soon.
Your affectionate son,
(Pte.) E. H. McKinnon.

No Luck for Him

This child won't play or smile. He is real sick. His tongue is white, breath feverish, stomach sour. He fears he is in for a dose of awful castor oil, calomel or pills. How he hates them. He would rather remain sick. No! He won't tell mother! If his mother would only learn the value of candy "Cascarets." How children love this candy cathartic—how surely it acts on liver and bowels.

TO MOTHERS! Each ten cent box of Cascarets contains full directions for dose for children aged one year old and upwards. (Nothing else "works" the nasty bile, sour fermentations and constipation poison from the tender little bowels so gently, yet so thoroughly. Even cross, feverish, bilious children gladly take Cascarets without being coaxed. Cascarets taste just like candy. Cascarets never gripe, never sicken, never injure, but above all, they never disappoint the worried mother.

Three Times and Out

By Nellie McClung

The romance of escape, which has furnished some of the most thrilling pages of world's literature, is nowhere to be found more intense and absorbing than in this narrative of a Canadian boy's long and patient effort—finally crowned by success—to escape from a German prison camp.

Sergt. Simmons has told his story to Nellie McClung, who, with her great gifts of narrative, has thrown it into shape and made of it a tale which ought to take place among the enduring classics of the war.
