

ROYAL SEND-OFF TO DELANEY

Employees of N. A. T. & T. Co. Make Suitable Present

To Their Former Popular and Respected Manager Who is Soon to Leave for the Outside.

Mr. J. J. Delaney who for nearly two years has been local manager of the North American Trading and Transportation Co., was last evening presented with a souvenir by the employees of the store who have been working under him during that time and who have learned to respect and esteem him by the treatment they have received while in his employ. The souvenir consists of a watch fob and charm made of native gold and set with a diamond star. The design is very unique, bearing a large nugget on which is a bar eagle in relief standing on a nugget. Over the eagle is the word "Yukon" and underneath there is the miners' pick and shovel indicative of the industry of the country. The diamond star is located in one corner and shows to the best advantage. On the reverse side of the charm is the inscription, "From the Boys of the N. A. T. & T. Co., Dawson, 1901."

The souvenir is altogether a very handsome one and one of which Mr. Delaney will always be proud. The presentation speech was made by Mr. J. C. Ward to which Mr. Delaney responded with a few words of thanks for the gift and of his appreciation of the spirit which prompted it. Mr. Delaney leaves for the outside this evening on the steamer Selkirk but expects to return again this fall.

HE KNEW HIS WIFE

Therefore He Thought $2.50 Sufficient Marriage Fee.

Justice of the Peace Cann, who is fast gaining the reputation of "the marrying justice," on account of the number of ceremonies of this nature which he has performed during the past few months, on Saturday last had a somewhat novel experience in an attempt to enforce the collection of the statutory fee allowed justices for the performance of such services. On that day the judge united in marriage Edward C. Stanton and Mary E. Stanton, who for the second time faced the altar together after having once been legally separated by the courts of another county. After the service was performed the bridegroom tendered the court the sum of $2.50 in payment for his services. The latter explained to him that the fee was $5, all of which went into the coffers of the county treasurer, but the explanation did not suffice.

An argument ensued, and only after Judge Cann had threatened to annul the marriage just performed did the bride come to the rescue. She produced the money necessary to complete the requisite sum, and, after obtaining her husband's permission, it was turned over to the clerk.—P.-I.

Stockmen Protest.

Denver, Colo., July 8.—The action of the president in proclaiming the opening for settlement of the reservation lands in Oklahoma on August 6 in causing great uneasiness to the cattlemen. It is said that there are 200,000 head of cattle on ranges that have been leased by Texas and Oklahoma stockmen. These cattle are immature and unfit for the market at present. If the order is carried out the cattle will have to be shipped immediately and sold for causing in the Eastern markets for what they will bring. The loss under such conditions would be hundreds of thousands of dollars.

It is said that a delay of ninety or even sixty days would enable the owners to put the cattle on the market in proper condition. To secure such a delay, if possible, the following telegram was sent to Secretary Hitchcock Saturday night:

"Hon. E. A. Hitchcock, Secretary of the Interior, Washington:

"Livestock interest in west and southwest will be seriously affected unless proclamation opening Kiowa and Comanche reservations can be delayed until herds immature cattle can be shipped to market. On behalf of live stock industry, I respectfully petition for such delay.

"JOHN W. SPRINGER, President National Live Stock Association."

The telegram evidently arrived too late to have any effect, but every pressure will be brought to bear on Secretary Hitchcock to prevent losses to the stockmen.

His Plan of Education.
"How well all those Brown boys are turning out. I wish I knew the secret of their training."

"Why, that's easy enough. Their father runs a shingle mill."—Chicago Times-Herald.

COMING AND GOING.

The wage case of Henry vs. Lamb is being heard before Justice Craig today.

A. M. Rousseau left yesterday on the steamer Nora for his home in Whitehorse.

J. H. Falconer has been appointed timekeeper on the territorial road work by Gov. Ross.

J. H. Watson, superintendent of the Cliff creek coal mines, returned down the river yesterday.

Frank P. Slavin is in from his Sulphur claim to welcome his wife and two sons on their arrival.

Unless the rain prevents, there will be a hot game of cricket between the Police and Civil Service teams tonight at 6:30 at the barracks ground.

Mrs. McKinney, who has been very ill at the St. Mary's hospital with typhoid fever, is now out of danger and rapidly recovering her strength.

Agent Rogers, of the B. Y. N. line is expecting the arrival of his two little sons, Clarence and Harrison, on the Victorian. They will spend their vacation with their father, returning to school about September 1.

The new dynamo of the Dawson Electric Co., arrived in Dawson recently and is now being set up in the power house and is expected to be ready for trial next Sunday. This dynamo is the same pattern as the one now in use but has nearly twice the capacity and will furnish current for 6500 lights.

Capt. D. B. Olsen, manager of the telephone company, left this morning on the stage for the Dome where he expects to remain for a couple of weeks superintending the construction of a metallic return wire between the Dome and Grand Forks. When the construction of this line is completed it will obviate the necessity of the Dome central station which will be removed from that place to Grand Forks.

CANADIAN JUSTICE

is Praised and Complimented by Spokane Paper.

Some people in this country may at times be disposed to question Canadian methods of government, says the Spokane Spokesman-Review, but there has certainly been no reason to find fault with the manner in which the Dominion deals with criminals, no matter what their station or the character of their wrong doing may be. The fellow is given short shift across the line. His case is not tossed from court to court while he is fattening in jail and his counsel is searching for new legal technicalities through which justice may be defrauded. When a crime is committed in the Dominion the person or persons who committed it are apprehended. This may be the work of a day or it may be the work of years. Certain it is that the authorities do not relax in their efforts to run down the guilty parties, and when they are once in custody there is no delay before bringing them to trial where, if found guilty, they are sentenced to a punishment commensurate with the offense.

There is no better example of Canadian thoroughness in dealing with criminal matters than that furnished by the story of the capture and trial of one George O'Brien, who has just been sentenced to death at Dawson, Yukon territory. During the winter of 1899-1900 three young men started out over the ice from the Klondike capital. They were last seen at a station called Minto, some distance above the junction of the Yukon and the Pelly. Foul play was suspected and the Canadian Mounted Police and detectives set about to unravel the mystery. All of the young men were Americans, but nationally counted for nothing. The authorities believed a crime had been committed and they were determined to bring the guilty parties to justice. All the trails in the vicinity of Minto were thoroughly searched; every person in the vicinity at the time was questioned, and those who acted suspiciously—O'Brien among them—were taken into custody. There had been heavy falls of snow, but an attempt was made to locate the scene of the supposed murder. One hundred and ten days were spent in determining where the outrage had been committed. It was thought that the bodies had been dropped into the river, and three acres of ice were blown up in the hope of finding them. Detectives came out to the states and descended the river to the Koyukuk, Nome and St. Michael. The pursuit was vigorous and without interruption.

Having satisfied themselves that O'Brien was the man it became necessary to prepare for his prosecution. Here the same thoroughness was displayed. Eighty witnesses were summoned, one being brought 5000 miles. Over a year was spent in collecting evidence in both Canada and the United States; and after a trial of 13 days at an expense of more than $100,000 the accused was found guilty and given the extreme sentence—death by hanging.

The Canadians may be slow about some things, but they are not so when it comes to hunting down criminals and giving them their deserts.

MILLIONAIRE P. C. HALE

And His Brother Now Identified With Ames Mercantile Co.

P. C. Hale who recently visited Dawson and left for the outside last Saturday has in a quiet unassuming manner been carefully studying the local conditions of the country with a view of thoroughly posting himself on the necessities pertaining to trade in this region. Very few people were aware of the importance in the commercial world of the gentleman, he preferring to gain his knowledge of the country by mingling with the people and thus gaining the information desired from the first source. Mr. Hale is the senior member of the millionaire firm of Hale Bros., owners of immense department stores in California in every city of any prominence in the state.

He has recently become identified with the Ames Mercantile Co., of this city, Nome, Teller City and San Francisco, and brings to that concern practically unlimited capital for future operations. His brother R. P. Hale is one of the directors.

Mr. W. H. Parsons, local manager of the Ames Mercantile Co., is authority for the statement that his firm will next year own their own boats and operate even more extensively than they are preparing to do this season. New warehouses are now built and awaiting the big shipments of this year's goods which are now on their way to Dawson.

STEAMBOAT NEWS.

The Selkirk arrived at 5 o'clock yesterday evening with 40 head of beef cattle, 200 sheep, 25 hogs and 80 tons of general cargo. Among the latter were a number of heavy boilers consigned to Wm. Kleinberg.

The Victorian arrived at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The Selkirk leaves tonight at 8 o'clock.

The Eldorado arrived yesterday afternoon. She brought 12 passengers and no freight.

The Yukoner left for Whitehorse yesterday with 18 passengers.

The Lorelei returned from a trip to Fortymile last night.

The Ora is shortly expected with an immense raft of logs from Selkirk.

Considerable anxiety is being felt along the water front over the Gold Star which left heavily loaded for the Koyukuk over six weeks ago. Her managers expected to return to Dawson within 30 days and as she is now some three weeks overdue it is feared some accident may have befallen the little craft. Her cargo was valued at $30,000 and was entirely from the stores of Dawson merchants. The Koyukuk is a shallow stream navigable only by steamers of very light draft and as the Gold Star draws three feet or more when loaded, it may be that she has stuck on a bar or is reaching her destination.

Athletic Events. What promises to be a highly amusing athletic event will take place on the barracks ground Friday evening, when the Gandolfo baseball club will play a game of cricket with the Police eleven, and in exchange the Police cricket team will later play their opponents several innings of baseball.

Neither knows a thing about the other's game which will be the ludicrous part of the affair. A cricket ball, as "Stim" Traube says, is as hard as the "hobs of h—," and if in the excitement of the Englishman's game he sends a stemwinder home to the wicket from the infield he is liable to kill the wicket keeper as well as several others. In the baseball game an earnest endeavor will be made to have the first of the police at the bat run to first base instead of the pitcher. They are now receiving daily instruction in fouls, fair balls and strikes, and the Gandolfos are deep in the mysteries of wickets, bowls and bytes.

Notice. To whom it may concern: We hereby give notice of revocation of all powers and authority given by us to W. H. Bard contained in certain powers of attorney given to him in June and July, 1899, or at any time, and to any substitute or substitutes he may have appointed in reference to lot three (3) in block "O" in the government addition to Dawson.

Dated at Dawson in the Yukon territory, this 5th day of July, A. D., 1901.

Great Expectations.

Capt. J. J. Healy, who is in Seattle, in a recent interview with a Times reporter said that out of the agitation now being carried on a great railway system will be constructed from Valdes by way of the Yukon to some point in the Cape Nome country within the near future, and if it be not built with American capital it will surely be constructed with foreign.

The captain is old-fashioned in his way of putting things. He regards fishing, agriculture and mining the only legitimate occupations of mankind—that is, the only natural occupations in which humanity can engage—all others being incidental, collateral or parasitic.

Capt. Healy declares that there are as good opportunities for agriculture in Alaska as can be found on earth, and all there is needed for the development of the country is for the United States to extend the land laws as well as the mineral laws to that great territory. He declares there would be a million people in Alaska within the next five years if the land laws were extended.

The public knows something about the gold product and its future prospects, but they know little about other products of the higher classes of minerals, and he unhesitatingly declares that there is more copper to be found on the new line of railway than is deposited in all the rest of the United States combined.

All the world will be astonished at the deposits of wealth and the agricultural possibilities of what is now known as the territory of Alaska with its 50,000 inhabitants.

Territorial Court.

In the territorial court today before Justice Dugas a damage suit for $10,000 is on between Henry Batz and S. A. Morford. Batz owns No. 5 above lower on Dominion and Morford the hillside adjoining the lower half. The defendant has constructed a ditch across the creek claim through which he pumps water to the hillside and the plaintiff alleges that the ditch has so cut out the muck that it has made 20 box lengths of his ground unworkable, the creek claim in that vicinity averaging $700 or $800 to the box length. He asks to be recompensed accordingly.

Still Lives.

A man entered the Nugget office and after "pieing" two galleys of type and upsetting a barrel of ink attempted to square himself by suggesting that the name "B. Y. N. Co." be jammed up into "Byn Co." The suggestion was so opportune that the fellow was allowed to depart in peace.

Championship of Nome.

The San Francisco Bulletin says: George Lawlor, the big heavyweight who trained Al Neill for his fight with Moffatt, was killed in Idaho last week. He was traveling through the country and accidentally fell off the train. It will be remembered Hank Griffin beat Lawlor at the Reliance Club last year, and then he went north and fought under the name of "Jim Burns." He fought a draw with Charley Goff in Spokane just before he left for Idaho. George came out here from Chicago originally.

"Billy" Britt, who was one of the clearest bantams in the amateur ranks in his time, is back from Nome, where he has been located for a number of years. He is in the newspaper business still, but has a couple of claims which he thinks will yield him a handsome profit. During the long winter season, which closed only recently, there were several fights. "Nick Burley is the undisputed champion of Nome," said Billy. "He has beat everybody of his size, and was looking for more scalps when I left. The last fight he had was with a sailor, who put up a pretty good exhibition. Up there they have to train in a heated room, and there is very little chance to do road work, it is so cold. When there is a fight, women, children and everybody turn out."
