As the wedding march was being rendered by Miss Annie Bennett, sister of the groom, the groom being ushered by Mr. Blake Armstrong, took his place under a beautiful arch of flowers on the piazza. The bride, who was tastefully attired in a travelling suit of navy corded silk and black picture hat, was given away by her father. Both bride and groom were unattended.

After congratulations the guests numbering about sixty sat down to a beautiful luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bennett left on the morning train for a trip to St. John. On their return they will reside at Somerset.

DR. WILFRED E. HARRIS SHOT IN BOSTON

Son of the Late T. R. Harris, M.P.P. Aylesford, N.S.

Boston, Mass., July 19—Dr. Wilfred E. Harris, President of the Massachusetts College of Osteopathy, and a native of Aylesford, N.S., was shot and probably mortally wounded in his office here yesterday. Dr. Eldridge Atwood, whom the police say admitted shooting Dr. Harris, is under arrest.

The death two hours before the shooting occurred of Dr. Atwood's fiancée Dr. Celie Adams, who was a student in Osteopathy, and the fact that there was much opposition on the part of Miss Adams' parents and Dr. Harris to their approaching marriage, is alleged to have been the cause of the shooting, according to a statement by Atwood to the police last night.

Dr. Harris lay at the point of death at the City hospital today, while Dr. Floridge D. Atwood, also an osteopath, was under arrest charged with attempt to murder him yesterday in a Back Bay hotel. Dr. Atwood calmly informed the police that he shot Harris.

Hospital physicians said they feared Dr. Harris could not live. Last night they removed two or three bullets which entered his body. After being booked on a charge of assault and battery, with intent to murder, Dr. Atwood was taken to the hospital where Dr. Harris identified him as his assailant.

He made a complete confession, the police say, spent a quiet night in the Back Bay police station and was ready for his arraignment in Municipal Court.

Medical examiner Magrath planned to perform an autopsy on the body of Miss Adams today to determine the exact cause of her death. The physician who attended the young woman, gave it as his opinion that she died from an over dose of a drug, which the police declared she took with suicidal intent.

Dr. Harris, who is 45 years old and married, is a former president of the Canadian Club of Boston, son of a former member of the Canadian parliament and one of the pioneer osteopaths of Massachusetts.

Dr. Atwood and Miss Adams formerly studied under him at the college of Osteopathy in this city.

Boston, July 19—The autopsy on the body of the Dr. Celie Adams, who according to the police, poisoned herself yesterday a few hours before her fiancée, Dr. Eldridge D. Atwood, shot and probably fatally wounded Dr. Wilfred E. Harris, was anticipated today as likely to have an important bearing on the motive for the crime, as explained by Atwood.

Atwood, a youth of 23 years, was arraigned in court this morning, and in default of bonds of $15,000 was committed to jail for a further hearing on July 28. The proceedings were brief. The prisoner was not represented by counsel, and did not plead. He appeared calm, and later said that he had nothing to add to the statement which he made when he was placed under arrest last night. The adjournment of the case was expected in the view of the condition of Dr. Harris. It was very low, and it was feared he could not survive many hours.

The version of the cause of the shooting given by Atwood was scouted by Dr. Harris during a lucid period. He referred to his assailant, as "a young fool." The wounded man's statement was stoutly supported by many friends. Both Miss Adams, who was 27 years of age, and Atwood had been pupils at the Massachusetts College of Osteopathy, of which Dr. Harris was head, and according to mutual acquaintances he had counselled the young man against marrying a girl so much his senior. Francis F. Adams, the father of the girl, stated that he also opposed the match.

Dr. Harris is described by mutual acquaintances as standing high in his profession and socially. He led the fight in the legislature for the legal recognition of the practice of osteopathy. Originally he was a general practitioner, and after he had taken up osteopathy many of his patients still insisted upon going to him for advice, and to these he prescribed medicines of the old school whenever he deemed them necessary. His wife, who acted as secretary, was formerly Miss Jean C. H. Van Allen, of Morrisburg, Ont. Their home is in Cambridge.
