ginning and end of that terrible disease, czema, which caused my babe untold suffering and myself many sleepless

"My babe was born seemingly a fair, healthy child, but when she was three weeks old a swelling appeared on the back of her head, and in course of time broke. It did not heal but grew worse, broke. It did not heal but grew worse, and the sore spread from the size of a dime to that of a dollar. I used all kinds of remedies that I could think of, but nothing seemed to help; in fact, it grew worse. Her hair fell out where the sore was, and I feared it would never grow again. It continued until my aged father came on a viait, and when he saw the baby he told me to get Cuticura Soap and Olutment right away.

"To please him I did so, and to my surprise by their use the sore began to heal over, the hair grew over it, and to-day she has a nice head of hair, her skin is as fair as a lily, and she has no scar left to recall that awful sore, and it is over eight months and no sign of

BEAUTY HINTS.

Methods by Which to Improve Your Skin, Eyes and Hair. Greasiness of the skin is an unple Greasiness of the skin is an unpleasant condition and is by no means easy to cure. All rich and greasy food should be avoided. The face should be washed in rain water, or, if this be unattainable, in water softened by the addition of borax. The soap used should be of the purest and contain no glycerin. Wash the face occasionally with white vinegar diluted with rose water.

Ask your druggest for an eye wash Ask your druggest for an eye wash of camphor and borax and bathe the swollen lids with it every night. The best way to do this is to use an eye cup, which can be obtained at any drug store and costs only a few cents. Fill the cup about half full with the wash, then fit it over the eye and hold. it in that position, throwing the head back and opening the eye to receive the wash. It takes some effort of the

Every night you must massage the scalp thoroughly with vaseline. This will bring back the natural oil as well as promote the hair and scale. growth. Brush the hair and scalp horoughly once a week to remove natural accumulation of dust and dandruff. In combing and brushing be as gentle as possible so as not to waste the hair. Shampoo once a week with green soap. Avoid oiling your hair. Simple treatment is the best.—Pittsburg Press.

THE MAID OF ALL WORK.

A Lack of System Will Make Her

A maid of average ability should be A main of a verage actively such as able to do the housework for a family of three in a clean, orderly manner without friction, especially when the home is supplied with numerous labor saving conveniences. Do not, however, expect a maid to sweep and scrub all day and supplement the exertion by serving a five course company dinner at 7 o'clock, for one or both efforts will result in a failure, no matter how strong or willing she may be, says the Indian-apolis Journal. The source of most trouble in the domestic household is lack of system. If a maid has a method of her own which enables her to perform the required services in a satisfactory manner it is usually wise not to interfere with her plans. If, hew-ever, she lacks system have a friendly talk with her, pointing out how her work may be planned so that it may be done properly and leave her some time for rest and enjoyment. If she is a sensible girl this will appeal to her, and she will likely fall into your way of working. After having decided upon a system which best accords with the household insist upon each duty being performed on the day allotted to it un-less something quite unforeseen oc-curs to prevent. If at any time you are without a maid and must do your own work apply this same plan your

A Woman's Success. Embroidering baby clothes was my first financial venture. I was a very mbitious housewife and wanted mon ambitious housewife and wanted mon-ey for some new things for the house, so I began by embroidering little sacks, for which I charged $1.50. For the more elaborate ones I received $2. White broadcloth coats with large col-lars brought $3, and at the end of a year the amount footed up to $260. The work was dainty and fascinating, and my friends and acquaintances were quick to take advantage of the were quick to take advantage of the opportunity to secure hand wrought pieces for their wee tots. I bought a pattern of the size for the age of the baby and followed the directions given with it for the making. My customers furnished their own materials, which relieved me of any outlay in money. As the articles made were all white, they had to be kept spotless and required extreme care in the handling.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Training a Daughter.
To train her daughter in courtesy the mother must begin at a tender age. The twig is so easily bent that it scarcely resists the guiding hands. Even with this training the girl may, when half grown, come to a stage when self assertion shows itself and when she feels that it is quite the thing for her to force herself upon people's attention. All growing things have their trying age. But this, too, will pass away, and if the girl has started right there is not much difficulty in inducing her to believe that she and all her affairs are not of paramount importance to the public at large; that gentleness and consideration command more love and popularity than self assertion and carelessness of the concerns and whims of others.

BARGAIN BABIES.

If babies were for sale the most inveterate bargain-hunting woman in the world would not look for a bargain baby. She would want the best baby that could be bought, regardless of price.

Every woman naturally craves a bealthy, handsome child, and her craving can be gratified if she will but remember that the child's health is her own gift, and to give health she must have nursed in strength their first strong child after using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is the best preparative for maternity, encouraging the appetite, quieting the nerves and inducing refreshing sleep. It gives the mother strength to give her child, and makes the baby's advent practically painless.

"May wife had been sick nearly all her life," says Mr. R. E. Fricke, of Petersburg, Menard Co.
