SOCIALISM

As mentioned in our last issue we published a lengthy epistle on Socialism by our learned correspondent H. H. Stuart. We always desire to give ample space to the opponent of our ideas; but we do not care to have them abuse our space by calling us liars.

We are not clear as to what other kind of mothers he had in his mind. But let us analyze the doctrine as he advocates it. The woman would be supposed to go into the woods and chop lumber with the men, mingle with them on the drives, mills, factories, at the plow and behind the tip cart; and if she took a notion to rear children he would honor her and no doubt would put up a place to rear the offspring and start her out to do it over again.

THE EXPLOSION IN CHIGNECTO MINE

Chignecto, N. S., June 21.—A rescue party succeeded in entering the pit where the explosion occurred yesterday and after several hours' search found the dead bodies of Wm. Stevens and Tom Wood, who had gone into the mine just before the accident occurred.

MONCTON FLOODED BY CLOUD-BURST

Moncton, June 22.—Moncton's main street was turned into a small river and the side streets into swift flowing streams by a deluge of rain between 4 and 5 o'clock this afternoon.

MONCTON FLOODED BY CLOUD-BURST

Terrible Lightning With It--Two Persons Struck by Bolt That Damaged Residence--Streets Overflowed and Many Cellars were Filled.

Moncton, June 22.—Moncton's main street was turned into a small river and the side streets into swift flowing streams by a deluge of rain between 4 and 5 o'clock this afternoon.

The city was virtually flooded for about three-quarters of an hour and a cloudburst over the city was the only explanation of such a terrific down-pour.

During three-quarters of an hour two inches of rain fell, more than fell all last month. Terrifying lightning and thunder accompanied the storm which was the wildest seen in Moncton in many years.

Lightning struck in several places, did no material damage. D. W. Wilbur's house occupied by his mother, on the Mountain Road, was struck and George Wilbur was struck. A child of Leslie Chappell in the same house was stunned.

Reid & Archibald are rushing construction of the Drummond docks here, expecting to have finished by the end of next month. They are also building docks and terminals for the Drummond Co. at Port Wade, on Annapolis Basin, whence the iron ore of the mines in Torbrook, near Midland, Annapolis Co., N. S., is to be shipped.

Along with D. G. Kirk of Antigonish and Falconer and Macdonald, and Baisley Bros. of Halifax, Reid & Archibald are building ten miles of railway for the I. R. C. in Cape Breton County between George's River and North Sydney via Sydney Mines.

Reid & Archibald, of the firm, was here a few days ago also.

As the Toronto Globe remarks: Whatever else may be said with truth about the Minister of Public Works, no one can seriously question either his business ability or his Parliamentary aptitude. He has always a complete store of acquired information on which to draw, and he is proof against all efforts to rattle his temper.

No Man is Stronger Than His Stomach

A strong man is strong all over. No man can be strong who is suffering from weak stomach with its attendant indigestion, or from some other disease of the stomach and its associated organs, which impairs digestion and nutrition. For when the stomach is weak or diseased there is a loss of the nutrition contained in food, which is the source of all physical strength.
