A GENEROUS SON OF NEW BRUNSWICK

On Thursday of this week, all comers, especially the kiddies, without distinction of class or creed, are invited by Mr. O'Connell to enjoy a picnic to be provided by him at Renous, N. B. As the locality is at no great distance from Newcastle, it is likely that many of our people will take in the enjoyment of the day, and see a sample of the practical Christianity, shown by "a generous son of New Brunswick."

His spirit of noble generosity is amply carried out, by his gracious hobby, of being a friend of children, especially of the orphans,—in the practise of which he is broad minded and liberal. From the hour, about half a century ago, when as a poor boy, he shared his cents with his boyhood chums, down to the present day, when riches have crowned his efforts, his greatest joy has been gathered from deeds of kindness to others less fortunate than himself; acting in the spirit of "what is mine, is mine" towards the little ones, into whose lives he has brought a ray of sunshine, and gladness, and a good time, ever to be remembered as a red-letter day in their lives.

He has made his picnics an annual event, interesting and making children happy. From a smaller beginning, he has year after year added to the number, until now about sixty localities towns and cities, in various places both in North and South America have the benefit of his benefactions; and he has taken care to provide for the carrying on of the good work after he has passed to the "Great Beyond."

His deeds of true love for his fellow mortals are not confined to picnics; poor children have ever found in him a friend indeed and at festive seasons of the year he has cheered many a little heart, which but for him, might have known no friendship or good cheer.

All this is carried out at a great expense and he feels amply repaid by the happiness it enables him to give—and happiness to himself. In his own way, he is repeating the call of his Master, "Suffer the children to come unto me," and there must be a heaven in it all.

Mr. O'Connell is a native of Butternut Ridge, King's County, in this province. After residing for some years in N. B. and the United States he took up his residence in Cuba, in which place he has become a wealthy man. His career amply shows he has not forgotten the Homeland and his riches have not made him indifferent to the wants of the needy and the orphan.

May he long be spared to feel the true joy of giving worthily and wear the title "The Orphan's friend and a generous son of New Brunswick."

IS IT—"HAS", "WILL" or "MAY"?

While a lot of us have been worrying and tearing our hair and looking for some plan which, like a magic wand, we could wave over the "troubles of our discontent" and soothe the turbulent waters of business uncertainty, others have broken through the fog of depression and are almost irritating when, by the recital of increases or evidences of improvement in "their" business, they suggest that we glance upward and note how the sun shines.

"The truth of the matter," began a remark we recently overheard, apropos of the foregoing, "is that these people dug down to a few fundamentals, made common sense plans and then carried them out." It seems so simple and yet the catch comes in the last clause.

Sales plans have been made, conferences have taken place by the hour, day or week, yet in the aggressive profit-producing ends of business, unfinished work, delay in execution of these self-same plans, hesitancy in adopting them and general lack of "follow through" to the last notch, have left a lot of effort lying almost in the waste heap.

When it comes to advertising, we cannot remind ourselves too frequently that, while we advertise to millions, we do it to sell to the individual. These little points, as represented by one person, are the end of our many searches.

It's the one buyer, many times multiplied, who makes the "net earnings" read on the Annual Report as "big profits."

Good business "has arrived," "will arrive and "may arrive" to various concerns in one of these proportions in relation to the way in which reasonably good plans have been carried through to the very finish. Are we doing it thoroughly? Is a sixty percent good plan getting one hundred percent execution? That's the thought.

One thing after another
When Paul, the Apostle, preached on Mars Hill, it was not the first time that the people flocked to hear or to see some new thing. Nor is it the last. In a very real sense, new things, new experiences, new ideas make up life itself. Many people, as we know, find existence but a squirrel cage,—eternal movement and eternal sameness,—but only the unthinking. For any one with new thoughts or, rather, with new vision of old thoughts, life is one adventure after another.—Ex.

IRRITABLE PEOPLE

Are Usually Victims of Poor Blood and Weak Nerves.

Irritability is one of the manifestations of nervousness, and it becomes worse as the nerves become more unstrung and approach a state of exhaustion. No one is irritable from preference, and this state is often only the outward expression of a great deal of physical suffering which friends do not realize. It is accompanied by headaches, sleeplessness, nervous indigestion and depression. Unless it is promptly checked more serious trouble develops.

The treatment for the earlier stages of nervousness, as well as the more advanced condition, is one of nutrition of the nerve cells, requiring a tonic. As the nerves get their nourishment from the blood, the treatment must be directed towards building up the blood. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills act directly on the blood, and have proved of the greatest benefit in a great many cases of this kind. A tendency to anaemia or bloodlessness, shown by most nervous people, is also corrected by these tonic pills. This is shown by the case of Mr. Kenneth R. McDonald, Tarbot, N. S. who says: "For a long time I was a severe sufferer from nervous trouble, with the result that I grew pale and weak, lost weight, slept poorly, and always felt tired out. Various medicines I tried had no beneficial effect, until finally I was persuaded to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I found these just what I needed, as after taking them a couple of months I not only gained in weight, but felt stronger, more cheerful and better in every way. I feel that I cannot praise these pills too highly for what they have done for me."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

TO REPORT ON MUSIC

In response to representations which have been received, particularly through an influential signed memorial from musicians and others, the Archbishops of Canterbury and York have appointed a committee on Church Music, with the following reference:—"To consider and report upon the place of music in the worship of the church, and in particular the training of church musicians and the education of the clergy in the knowledge of music as a branch of liturgical study."

NOW UP TO
NORTH'D M.L.A.'S

Some time before the meeting of the employment Service Council of Canada, which took place at Ottawa from June 5th to 10th last, a notice appeared in the organs of the New Brunswick Government that J. S. Martin, one of the Labor M. P. P.'s for Northumberland County, had been selected to represent New Brunswick on that Council. At the Council meeting, however, it transpired that New Brunswick was not represented, much to the surprise of the other provinces as well as to the Labor people and others of this province who, very naturally, felt chagrined at the turn of affairs and somewhat mystified as to who was responsible—whether Mr. Martin or the Government had backed down at the last moment, or whether the appointment had never been made and immediately withdrawn on account of some falling out between the Government and its troublesome independent supporter. Careful scanning of the reports of the Council proceedings gave no light on the mystery. But later enquiry reveals the fact that Mr. Martin had not, either before or at the time of the Council meeting or long afterwards, been notified, either officially or unofficially, of his appointment on the Employment Service Council. Seeing his alleged appointment in the press, he would naturally wait for official notification but when approached concerning the news he knew nothing about it other than what was in the press.

Now, what was the object in using Mr. Martin's name if no appointment was to be made? Was pressure brought to bear from certain quarters opposed to Labor sufficiently strong to force the Government to force the Government to cancel the appointment before notice had been given to the appointee? Does the Government feel sufficiently strong to say to the independent electors of the Miramichi that their support is no longer required? Does it feel sure that it can continue to persuade the workers of certain other counties to vote the Liberal ticket as blindly as so many have hitherto done? Or have certain big interests such a hold upon Premier Foster and the majority of his colleagues that they can force the Government to recall immediately any appointment distasteful to such big interests? However it be, it is neither very creditable to

WHERE THE GOOD GOODS COME FROM

GREAT OPPORTUNITY FOR FARMERS

The spruce tree has long been king in New Brunswick, but in the not too distant future it may be dethroned by the humble white potato, which is being grown in this province with such great success. There is a strong demand in the Southern States for seed potatoes of the very best quality and absolutely free from disease and if the farmers of this province prove themselves equal to the occasion and take steps to eradicate the various diseases, which now affect the tuber, they will find an almost unlimited market for their product at the highest prices.

This was made clear from statements publicly made by American experts who attended the potato field day at the Fredericton Experimental Station last Friday. These gentlemen declared that the potato growers of the Southern States were comelled to use Northern grown seed, and the economic aspect of the situation made it necessary for them to use only seed known to be free from disease. They take no man's word for it but club together and send experts to the potato growing regions of the north and examine and purchase the growing crops of potatoes. They claim that there is a market for hundreds of thousands of barrels of seed potatoes of the right quality in the United States each year, and can see no reason why growers in this province should not reap the benefit of it.

The hundred or so of potato growers representing different sections of the province, who gathered at the Experimental Station in Fredericton on Friday, to participate in the potato field day, were greatly impressed with the excellent program carried out. The speeches of the American experts was a very pleasing feature, and it was made clear that if the farmers of New Brunswick can produce potatoes free from disease, it will take something more than a hostile tariff to keep a goodly proportion of them from finding their way into the Southern States each year.
