Look. Read. Realize!

We cater to the men's trade, and no other. If you were sick you wouldn't call to see a Tailor, or a Blacksmith, about the condition of your health. Of course not; you would call to see a Doctor

If you wanted a Suit or an Overcoat would you go to see a Doctor, or a Shoemaker? Not at all. You would go to see a First Class Tailor.

WELL, there's where we shine!!! We study the business. We know what suits a young man we know what suits a middle-aged man, and we know what suits the old gentleman—both in goods and in style. It does not make any difference whether you want your clothes Ready-to-Wear, or Made-to-Order. We are equally in a position to suit you. We do not let a suit or overcoat leave our establishment until it suits and fits the man who is buying. Our prices are always right when you take the quality into consideration.

Do not forget that we are sole agents for the famous W H Leishman & Co., Wholesale Custom Tailors. We have an elegant stock of Overcoats to show you at the present time.

Overcoats, Made-to-Order-from... $30.00 to $48.00

Overcoats, Ready-to-Wear..... $15.00 to $36.00

Success Is a Habit

Our habits make us. We are creatures of habit. Whether we are a success or a failure is a question of how we do things without thinking. To Save is the only way to success

Catholic Memorial To Poet, Dante

The sixth centenary of the death of Dante Alighieri will be celebrated at Ravenna, September 14, 1921. For several years preparations have been making in Italy to lend to the event a splendor commensurate with the influence of Dante on modern thought. It is proposed, in particular, to restore to its original beauty the Church of San Francesco, in which for six hundred years Ravenna has guarded with jealous love the remains of the great poet, writes Bishop Shahhan.

The World War has of course interfered with the plans of Italy's foremost scholars, but their ardor has not been cooled, and already from various parts of war-scarred and depressed Europe are coming assurances of hearty co-operation in the various features of the approaching event.

America ought not to appear empty-handed at the memorable feasts which will gather about the tomb of Dante, chosen representatives of many nations, races and literatures. It is hoped that a generous sum may be collected among the American admirers of Dante, irrespective of creed or nationality, as a small tribute to his mighty genius for all that mankind owes it, so that whenever an American visits the ancient city by the Adriatic he may feel proud that his native land contributed generously to the suitable restoration of the venerable church where the great poet of justice and liberty awaits their universal triumph.

Distinguished American names, Longfellow, Parsons, Norton, Fay, not to speak of other writers of merit, vouch for our interest in the great Florentine, and unite us inseparably with that Divine Compendy which has so profoundly affected Western thought in all its higher ranges, whose forces of inspiration, suggestion and illumination are by no means exhausted. Standing as it were on a great watershed of history, midway between the crusades, the scholastic and the empire on the one hand, and on the other a new mental temper and fresh interests, he is at once witness, interpreter and guardian of the past of Europe, and the herald of that new dawn of life and letters which men call the Renaissance. What Homer did for the spirit of the Roman Empire, and what more Dante did for all the posterity of Europe when he fused into one imperishable record the long crepuscular waning of the Roman Empire, and the vigorous new growth of the Christian spirit and order as they radiated world-wide from its immemorial seat of power and authority. Indeed, he may be called the last of the Romans, "di quella Roma osida Cristo e romano." Similarly he may be called the prophet of the new order of life, since his great poem is so compact of unchanging human experience, so candid as history, so profoundly human in its incomparable pictures of joy and sorrow, of struggle and failure, of all life on one side and the other of the common grave. His great poem may be called the Bible of European mankind, so shot through it with the life of ten centuries, so prophetic are all its instincts, so lyrical its range of emotion, so wise its appreciations and judgments, so applicable in countless ways to modern mankind as it feels its way along the dark and narrow path which for the poet as for us seems a true symbol of life.

The restoration to its original beauty of the Church of St. Francesco, at Ravenna, seems a fitting tribute to the deeply religious genius of Dante. It was here that Dante prayed and "shipped in the evening of his life, from here that he was buried, and close by his mortal remains have rested for six hundred years. Originally built in the fifth century, the venerable edifice has survived its many alterations, and will soon reproduce the early Christian basilica at which it entered on its long career. If every American who has suffered the magic spell of Dante Alighieri will make a modest contribution, a sum may be raised not unworthy of our place among the nations of our varied obligations to one of the world's foremost benefactors. Contributions may be sent to Bishop Shahhan, at the Catholic University of America.

A Noted Cardinal

Among the anniversaries which fall in March is that of the death of Hugh St. Cher, a noted Dominican Cardinal of the thirteenth century, who died at Orvieto, Italy, on March 19, 1268. He is looked upon as the first author of a verbal "Concordance" to Holy Writ.

He was born at St. Cher, near Vienne, in Dauphine, France, about the year 1200. He studied philosophy, theology and jurisprudence at Paris, and later he taught law there. In 1225 he entered the Order of St. Dominic, became Provincial in it, and later was Prior of the Dominican Monastery in Paris.

This famous churchman became the confidant and adviser of several Bishops, as well as the envoy of Gregory IX to Constantinople. Innocent IV made him Cardinal, and received valuable assistance from him at the Council of Lyons. He was selected for various important works by the same Pontiff. After the death of the Emperor, Frederick II, he went as legate to Germany.

Mainly through the work of Cardinal Hugh the Dominicans were provided with a new Biblical "Correctorium," and he was distinguished for his great industry as a compiler of explanations of the Sacred Text.

The work which he performed in the interest of concordance of the Bible is historic. He is rightly regarded as the first author of a verbal "Concordance" to Holy Writ, a work which became the model for all following publications of the kind. The Cardinal also composed many other works.

High tribute to the work being done among the Japanese children in Seattle has been paid by M. Hirota, Consul for Japan, in a letter sent to the Right Edward J. O'Dea, at whose request the Maryknoll Sisters established a kindergarten for the Japanese children. Mr. Hirota wrote in response to an invitation to attend the festivities for the Japanese children at the kindergarten, at which he was represented by Mr. Sato, the vice-consul. "I desire to convey to you," wrote the Consul, "my very great appreciation of the expression of good will extended to my people, which shows to me your great breadth of understanding and universal love."

A Slow, Sluggish, Torpid Liver

RESPONSIBLE FOR MANY ILLS.

Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills stimulate the sluggish liver so that it will regulate the flow of bile to act properly on the bowels and thus clear away all the waste and poisonous matter that is responsible for constipation, biliousness, sick headaches, heartburn, sour stomach, etc.

Several letters have come of late from Dutch New Guinea, in which notice has been drawn by the appointment of Mgr. Aerts, M. S. H., who was formerly an Apostle in the Philippines. New Guinea, or Papua, was formerly divided among Holland, Germany and England, Holland possessing the larger part. The natives are extremely primitive, and the head hunters present a terrifying appearance. But the missionaries have gained a firm foothold there and would progress faster if well supplied with means.

Father Von den Kolk says: "The missions of Dutch New Guinea have no other income but the gifts of Catholics and a small subsidy of the government for the schools. Before the war we were poor, but now it is impossible to pay all the expenses for food, clothing, etc., of the thirty-six missionaries and seventy catechists, and the necessities of eighty churches and chapels for the 15,000 Catholics. For the year 1920 we have a deficit of $4,000. The coming year, the first of the administration of Mgr. Aerts, will be no better. We have therefore painful prospects regarding our creditors, and they will make trouble if we cannot pay our debts. That's why I take the liberty of asking for help."

W. H. O. Wilkinson Streetford says—"It affords me much pleasure to say that I experienced great relief from Muscular Rheumatism by using two boxes of Milburn's Rheumatic Pills. Price 25 cents a box.

Hearing a crash of glassware one morning, Mrs. Blank called to her maid in the adjoining room.

"Narah, what on earth are you doing?"

"I'm doing nothin', mum," replied Narah; "it's done."

Constipation Headaches.

When your liver gets sluggish and active your whole health suffers. Your bowels become constipated, head aches, tongue coated, breath bad, specks out before your eyes, you are bilious, are heartburn, water brash, jaundice, etc.

The Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills to make the liver resume its proper functions by removing the bile that is circulating in the blood and poisoning the system.

Mr. Le Roy Allen, Springfield, N. S., writes—"I desire to express my thanks for the relief Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills have given me. I had been suffering from constipation for three years, and had had headaches. I tried all sorts of remedies, but got no relief, until my grandfather told me about your pills. I tried them and soon got relief, and now I would not be without them in my room."

Milburn's Lax-Liver Pills are small and easy to take, do not grip, weaken or irritate like the drastic purgatives do.

Price 25c a box at all druggists, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The C. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
