

Scotia's Earnings.

For the year ending December 31st, the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company earned in round figures $1,256,000. After providing for the interest on the first mortgage 5 per cent. bonds outstanding and the sinking fund in connection with the same there remained a balance of considerably over $900,000. As there is outstanding $3,000,000 of debenture stock bearing 6 per cent. interest, this is equal to more than 5 times the amount necessary to pay the interest on the debenture stock.

We offer for sale in lots to suit purchasers a block of Nova Scotia Steel & Coal 6 per cent. debenture stock at 98 and interest.

NET CASH RETURN MORE THAN TWICE THE COST.
W. J. Robertson, Welland, 12th June, 1912.
Agent CANADA LIFE ASSURANCE CO.,
Port Hope, Ontario.

Dear Sir—

When acknowledging receipt of the Company's cheque for my matured Endowment Policy No. 24937, I desire to avail myself of the opportunity to express my satisfaction with the outcome of my investment.

The policy was payable to me at age 60, with ten premiums of $48.00 each. The return under it is as follows:

Sum assured	$1,000.00
Dividends added	416.51
Total amount payable	$1,416.51
Deduct total premiums paid	480.00
	$ 936.51

That I should have insurance protection free for all these years and now have over twice the amount of my premiums returned to me in cash is a most satisfactory outcome and I heartily congratulate you on it.

Yours very truly, GEO. ROSS.

Supplying One's Own Motive Power.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"The attempt to classify one's a c q u a i n t a n c e," says Gellert Burgess, "is the common sport of the thinker, from the person who says, 'There are two kinds of persons—those who like olives and those who don't,' to the fatuous immortal 'over' who says, 'There are two kinds of women—Daisy, and the other kind!'"

Classifications certainly are interesting, aren't they? And since I have Mr. Burgess' word for it that everybody likes to make them, I will not apologize for adding one more to those I have already made.

Today's classification is, there are two kinds of people—the many who will run well enough when hitched up to the motive power supplied by society; and the few who supply their own motive power.

For instance, there are many people who will do their best work when they are forced to it by competition or by the demands of an employer. There are very few people who have within themselves the motive power to make themselves do their best work whether there is outside compulsion or not.

Again, there are a great many people who, hitched up to the motive power of society, will live up to society's standards of honor and honesty. But there are very few people who think out their own standards of honor and honesty and then have the inward motive power to keep themselves up to them.

In the matters in which society has its eyes on him, the average person can be depended upon to show the proper measure of kindness and courtesy to his fellow beings. What society expects is the motive force which moves and dominates him. On the whole, it would be rather hard for him to resist it than to let himself be moved by it.

But it is distinctly the extraordinary man who supplies his own motive power for kindness and courtesy, who is courteous even when society does not expect it of him, and kind in ways in which his kindness does not show and in a degree which goes beyond society's standards, but is demanded by his own. In the business world there are a great many men who are fitted to work under the directions of others. There are comparatively few who can direct their own energy to profitable use. A large percentage of all the new business concerns which are started are doomed to failure. And one reason is that the men who work successfully in other men's employ were not capable of working for themselves.

As I said before, the class of people who supply their own motive power is comparatively small, but it is not at all exclusive. Anyone may join it who will.

Klem Flinched When Called Upon to Face the King

London, Feb. 27.—Yesterday's ball game was featured in the morning papers. The writers make lengthy comparisons between cricket and base-ball, and the consensus of opinion is that although baseball is interesting as a novelty, in the matter of games it is inferior to cricket, and not in the least likely to compete with the latter on this side.

Much admiration was expressed over the catching and throwing of the ball players. One writer suggests, however, that it is a sort of music hall turn. "This kind of power was delighted applause, but," he adds, "it becomes mechanical by its very perfection." "Empire Klem's coolness and indifference to danger in his position is especially commended. 'Only twice did he flinch,' says one paper. 'That was when he was called upon to face the King and announced the score.'"

The Daily News says:—"After yesterday's showing baseball still remains, and will remain, an exclusively Transatlantic dish, such as clams, crackers, and canvas back." His Majesty King George experienced the thrill that comes as the result of a spectacular hit which breaks up an extra inning contest. Seated within a wire-enclosed box behind the home plate of a diamond that has been laid out on the Chelsea football field, His Majesty saw in the second half of the eleventh inning Tommie Daly, of the Chicago White Sox, Canadian by the way, meet with his bat a fast ball delivered by Faber, of the New York Giants, drive it far across the field, and into the topmost bleachers for a home run, and win the game for Chicago 5 to 4. The King clapped hands as Daly trotted around the bases.

King George, who was accompanied by Walter Hines Page, the American Ambassador, watched with great interest and seeming knowledge of the game the closely contested eleven innings, applauding heartily brilliant field and battery plays.

Others in the Royal box were Col Squire, Commander Symington, Harold Fowler, Ambassador Page's secretary, Admiral Kepple, Lord Granville, and Sir Frederick Ponsonby. Small tables were also provided, whereon the King kept the score on his programme under the tutelage of Mr. Page and Mr. Laughlin. The King laughed heartily when the first ball struck the protecting wire netting, causing those behind to duck apprehensively, and showed keen amusement, too, at the fans' shouts such as "Take him out," "Get a new umpire," "He's got a glass arm," etc. The King looked mystified, however, when someone called out—"There's a hole in the bat" as Jim Thorpe swung wildly at a low one.

If Headachy, Dizzy, Bilious, 'Cascarets'

Your Liver is full of Bile; Bowels Clogged, Stomach Sour, Tongue Coated, Breath Bad.

Get a 10-cent box now. You're bilious! You have a throbbing sensation in your head, a bad taste in your mouth, your eyes burn, your skin is yellow, with dark rings under your eyes; your lips are parched. No wonder you feel ugly, mean and ill-tempered. Your system is full of bile not properly passed off, and what you need is a cleaning up inside. Don't continue being a bilious nuisance to yourself and those who love you, and don't resort to harsh physics that irritate and injure. Remember that most disorders of the stomach, liver and bowels are cured by morning with gentle, thorough Cascarets—they work while you sleep. A 10-cent box from your druggist will keep your liver and bowels clean; stomach sweet, and your head clear for months. Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

Queen of The Atlantic.

The Aquitania, the new Cunard liner which is to be launched this summer, is to occupy the proud position of queen of the Western Ocean. She is the last word in the science of shipbuilding and in luxurious travelling. The figures in connection with the Aquitania are remarkable: Cost, £2,900,000; length, 301 ft.; breadth, 97 ft.; depth of boat-deck, 22 ft. 6 in.; gross tonnage, 47,000; speed, 23 knots; passenger accommodation, 3,250; crew, 1,000.

A very important feature is that she is a ship within a ship. That is to say, she has two shells—an inner, and an outer—both of which are watertight. The space between the two averages about fifteen feet, while this space is divided into compartments by bulkheads at intervals.

There are, altogether, eight decks on which passengers are carried, and among the comforts to be found on board this luxurious ship may be mentioned: Drawing-room, hall and galleries, lounge, smoking-room, verandah, cafes, restaurant, grill-room, dining-room, gymnasium, and a swimming bath.

Dried lima beans, soaked over night and boiled till tender, then seasoned with butter and salt, are one of the best March vegetables.

Furs From The North Country

Edmonton, Alta., Mar. 2.—Colin Fraser, who has been trading in the north country the last 26 years, arrived in Edmonton a few days ago with a catch of furs, which, he said, is the largest he has made in 10 years. His pack included pelts of 17 silver, 70 cross and 45 white foxes, 56 otter, 30 lynx, 400 marten, 21 wolverines and several bear skins. He made the trip south from Fort Chipewyan to Fort McMurray with four dog teams, and from the last named point to Athabasca with horses. D. S. Mackenzie of Fort McMurray, who accompanied Fraser on the down trip, brought these pelts: Red foxes, 189; silver, 21; mink, 473; lynx, 69; rats, 113; bear, 9; wolves, 14; wolverines, 2; weasels, 137; otter, 20; skunk, 15 and two coyotes.

The value of the fur catch in northern Alberta for the season is placed at several million dollars.

The Milkman.

The milkman goes his weary way before the rising of the sun; he earns a hundred bones a day, and often takes in less than one. White flucky people snore and drowse, and bask in dreams of rare delight, he takes a stool and milks his cows, about the middle of night. If you have milked an old red cow, humped over a big six-gallon pail, and had her sweat you on the brow with seven feet of burry tail, you'll know the milkman ought to get a plunk for every pint he sells; he earns his pay in blood and sweat, and sorrow in his bosom dwells. As through the city streets he goes, he has to sound his brazen gong, and people wake up from their doze, and curse him as he goes along. He has to stagger through the snow when others stay at home and snore; and through the rain he has to go, to take the cow-juice to your door. Through storm and flood and sun and rain, the milkman goes upon the jump, and all his customers complain, and make allusions to his pump. Because one milkman milks the cows, instead of milking spilted cows, against the whole bray of 'tribe, we kick, and stir up everlasting noise. Yet patiently they go their way, distributing their healthful juices, and what they do not get in way, they have to take out in abuse.
