The Massacre of the Armenians by the Turks.

The Entire Faculty of a College Slaughtered, Together With 1,200 Others—The Murders Committed at Night by Order of the Turkish

New York, Oct. 7.—The slaughter vith axes of all the Armenian fac embers' of Anatolia College, Marso an, Northern Asia Minor, togeth with 1,200 others, by Turkish pea ants, whose pay for the work was the privilege of stripping the clothing of their victims' bodies, was described iere yesterday by the Rev. George I White, president of the college, reently returned to this country. The nassacres were committed at night by order of the Turkish government, h said, the Armenians being sent out in lots of a hundred or two to their doom and their bodies rolled into prepared burial trenches.

"Some groups of our college boys sked permission to sing before they died, and they sang 'Nearer, My God, to Thee.' Then they were struck down," Dr. White said.

"The situation for Armenia became cute in the spring of 1915, when the Turks determined to settle the Arnenian question by eliminating the Amenians. The Armenian question arises from political and religious

"On the pretext of searching for deserting soldiers, concealed bombs weapons, seditious literature or revoationists, the Turkish officers arrested about 1,200 Armenian men at Marsovan, accompanying their investigations by horrible brutalities. There was no revolutionary activity in our region whatever.

Girls Sold at $2 Each. "The men were sent out in lots of one or two hundred in night 'deportations' to the mountains, where trenches had been prepared. Coarse peasants, who were employed to do what was done, said it was a 'pity to waste bullets' and they used axes. "Then the Turks turned on the wonen and children, the old men and lit tle boys. Scores of oxcarts were gath ered, and in the early dawn as they passed the squeaking of their wheels left memories that make the blood curdle even now. Thousands of nen and children were swept awa Where? Nowhere. No destin was stated or intended. Why? Simply because no 23 fe Armeni is and Christians and were in the hands of the transport of 2297D.

"Girls and young women were anatched away at every turn on the journeys The girls sold at Marsovar fon from $2 to $4 each, I know, b cause I heard the conversation men engaged in the traffic. I know because al was able to ransom three girls at the price of $4,40.

"The misery, the agony, the sufferexpress-almost beyond the power of hearts to conceive. In bereavement, hearts to conceive in in bereavement thirst, hunger, loneliness, hopeless ness the groups were swept on an ness the groups were swept on and on calong roads which had no desti-

Soldiers Demanded Inmates. "I received word from Ambassador Morgenthau that our premises would not be interfered with. Next morning the chief of police came with armed men and demanded surrender of all Armenians connected - with the college, girls' school and hospital. We claimed the right to control our grounds as American citizens.

"More than two hours we held them at bay. They brought more armed men. They again demanded surrender of the Armenians. I refused. They challenged me for resisting the Turkish government. They said any one who did so was liable to immediate execution.

"They broke open our brought in oxcarts and asked where the Armenians were, I refused to tell. They went through the buildings, smashing down the doors. Then our Armenian friends, feeling that further attempt on our part to save them would bring more harm probably than good, came forth, professed themselves loyal Turkish subjects and offered to do what was required.

Took Seventy-Two From College, "An oxcart was assigned each fam ily, with a meagre supply of food, bedding and clothing. The mother sat on the load, with her children about her, the father preparing to walk beside the cart. I offered prayer, and then the sad procession, carrying seventy-two persons from the college and hospital, moved away.

"These teachers were men of character, education, ability and usefulness, several of them representing the ness, several of them representing the fine type of graduates from American or European universities. The company went in safety for about fifty miles. Then the men were separated from the women. Their hands were bound behind their backs and they were led away. The eight Armenian members of the staff of instruction of embers of the staff of instruction of Anatolia College were among the slain. The women and children were moved on and on. No one knows where and no one knows how many of them are still living."
