Depper came from Germany to this city when he was a mere boy. The funeral will take place Friday afternoon at 2:30.

THE TEMPERANCE MOVEMENT. The important one letter to the citizens of London on the subject of further license reduction has the special inducement of three public bodies—the London Temperance Association, the W. C. T. U. and the London Municipal Association. The name of Dr. Arnold, who signed the document on behalf of the London Temperance Union, was accidentally omitted from the open letter as published in the ADVERTISER of last evening.

Death of a Printer. H. T. C. McNamara, third son of the late T. A. McNamara, died this morning at the residence of his mother on Thames street of consumption, aged 28 years. He is deeply lamented among a large circle of friends. His life was an exemplary one, and he had worked successfully as a printer in the old Herald office, at Lawson & Jones's office. His funeral will be conducted by the London Typographical Union, of which he was a member.

Burns' Anniversary. The St. Andrew's Society of London and their friends will celebrate the birthday of the members and their friends on Monday next, 25th inst. This was arranged at a recent meeting of the entertainment committee—T. H. Purdon, chairman. The family gathering promises to be most interesting. It will interest many to know that this benevolent institution is now in a flourishing condition, the membership being now nearly 250, with good prospects of reaching the 300 at an early date.

London Sleuths. London is now in the midst of social gaieties brought about by the good sleighing on the streets and on the leading country roads. The jingling of the chiming sleigh bells makes happy music each night, interrupted by now and then by the discordant blast of the horn. All sorts of vehicles are used, the modern style cutters, bobs, straight blades, anything that will slide well. Vertices without number have been arranged for the sleighing, and the liveries are now firm believers in snow as the whitest friend the business man has. The sleighing is now perfect.

Death of Mrs. Mary Colerick. Mrs. Mary Colerick, of this city, died at her residence, 427 Dufferin avenue, yesterday afternoon, aged 84 years. She was emigrated from her birth-place, New, Ireland, to this city and has resided here ever since. About 25 years ago she lost her husband, Samuel Colerick, to whom she was married shortly after coming to Canada. Henry Colerick, a well-known painter of this city, was a step-son, and her two nieces, Grace and Kate Hyndes, lived with her. She was an aunt of Mrs. Frances M. Savage, of Detroit. INSPIRING AND PRETTY. First Grand Carnival at the Queen's Avenue Ring—Some of the Characterizations. Scarcely has a larger crowd of skaters been seen in Princess Rink than that of last evening. The first grand masquerade carnival, the youth and beauty of London to come in costume according to their fancy dictated. Some were in medieval, some in modern, some in foreign, and others in indescribable outfits. Many of the uniforms were very pretty and tasteful. The Seventh Band were in present, and added to the enjoyment of the crowd. The scene, as the gaily clad throng of skaters glided around to the inspiring strains of the musicians, was decidedly pretty and amusing.

The medal offered for the best lady's fancy dress was won by Miss Nellie De Jean, who was very prettily attired as a comic dress by Miss Kate Sweeney, who made a charming millmaid. Archie Beecher's tasteful get-up as a Vagabond Mexican chief won for him the best fancy dress medal. Mr. John S. Brown's Irishman, who was that of a typical Irishman, and that of a capital conception of that individual's generally exaggerated appearance, and secured for him the prize for the best comic dress.

The ice, which was excellent, was reserved for those in costume until 9 o'clock. Between 8 and 9 a lady in disguise gave an exhibition of fancy skating. She was a beautiful glider, and her many intricate movements were very gracefully performed, and endeavored to display his abilities as a clown. The ice was too slippery for him, however, and his performance was soon over.

Among those in costume were: Harry Harding, Lance Corporal O'Toole, of Tipperary; Perry Flats; B. Wilkinson, O'Leary; A. Larmour, Tobogganer; W. E.
