DARING BANDITS ESCAPE WITH BIG HAULS

Attempt To Burn Down Labor Temple

INCENDIARIES FAIL IN DEED OF DESTRUCTION

Occupants of Building Believe Oil-Soaked Rags Were Used.

TURN IN ALARM

Fire Department Extinguishes Flames in Few Minutes —Loss $15.

Incendiaries attempted to destroy the London Labor Temple on Dundas street late this morning, firemen were told when they were called to the building to extinguish a fire which had started in the basement.

Although only about $15 damage was done by the blaze, which started in a pile of oily waste, the entire building would probably have been in flames within a short time if occupants of the building had not been warned by the smoke, for close to the waste was $1,500 worth of paper owned by the Wright Lithographing Company.

Those who discovered the fire and turned in the alarm believe the oil-soaked rags were placed in the basement only recently.

The alarm was turned in at 10:35 o'clock, and within a few minutes the fire was extinguished, a number of labor officials who were present getting the blaze under control before the firemen arrived.

Had the fire not been discovered soon, both the Labor Temple and the city hall would probably have been in danger of destruction, for neither building is of the fireproof type; in fact, both would have fallen easy prey to the flames.

FINED $50 FOR MAKING LIQUOR

Fred Addley Penalized For Manufacturing "Booze" Without Necessary License.

Local Firm Pays Fine For Selling Extract Below Standard.

When Fred Addley, 584 King street, admitted the liquid officers seized at his home yesterday would "make you drunk," Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon levied a fine of $50 and costs, after convicting the defendant of manufacturing liquor without a permit, contrary to the provisions of the inland revenue act.

Inspector Thomas Lucas, Inland Revenue Officer Cecil Webbe, and Constable William Snell visited Addley's home yesterday afternoon and found a candy pail containing a mixture of cornmeal, raisins, lemons and other ingredients. They also discovered a quantity of liquid bottled and corked which had the odor of liquor. Addley was at work at the time, so the officers went to his place of employment.

He told them, they testified, that a boarder named Riddler, had made the stuff. Riddler, however, denied that he had manufactured it, but admitted he had helped to drink it. To this statement, Addley made no reply, and was placed under arrest, and later bailed in the sum of $100 to appear this morning.

Addley did not cross-examine the witnesses, nor offer any evidence, and finally cleared up the only point at issue, namely, whether the liquid was intoxicating, by his frank admission that it had a "kick."

For selling lemon extract not up to the standard required by the food and drug act, a local firm was fined $25 and costs. The information was laid by Inspector Wilson. The case was settled before court.

SMUTS URGES RHODESIA TO JOIN AFRICAN UNION

London, Oct. 25.—(Canadian Press Cable).—In connection with the referendum which is to be taken in Rhodesia on Friday on the question of Rhodesia entering the Union of South Africa, a Reuter cable from Pretoria says that President Smuts of South Africa has sent a message to the Rhodesian electors, promising that the terms offered by the Union government for the entrance of Rhodesia into the union will be made good in letter and spirit.

The premier says the people of South Africa would welcome Rhodesia's entry into the union in the certainty that the union of the two countries would prove for Rhodesia the same unmeasured blessing as had been enjoyed by the four original provinces of South Africa.

LLOYD GEORGE SHOWS HAND TO LIBERAL PARTY

Promises Support to Any Progressive, Efficient, Peace-Loving Government.

ADVISES STERN ECONOMY

Explains Stand On Important Questions—Attacks Deserters From Coalition.

BULLETIN.

London, Oct. 25.—The cabinet of Premier Bonar Law was sworn in at Buckingham Palace this morning. As a result of the taking of the oath of office, the members of the cabinet began to function as the new government immediately.

London, Oct. 25.—"I will support any party and any government that pursues a policy of peace, economy and steady progress, neither revolutionary nor reactionary, and does it efficiently," former Prime Minister Lloyd George told the coalition Liberal members of parliament at a meeting this morning.

In another part of his speech he made the declaration: "Great Britain must pay America all her debts."

On the question of German reparations, Mr. Lloyd George said: "We should not attempt to impose upon Germany any payment which is beyond her capacity. What is within her capacity she ought to pay."

The former premier expressed himself with some definiteness as regards the question of Russia.

"I am strongly in favor of the renewal of a pact with Russia," he declared. Dealing with Great Britain's foreign relations in general, Mr. Lloyd George said: "It is said Great Britain is not going to extend her responsibilities, but you must not be afraid of your responsibilities. The policy of Great Britain must be peace-loving, but unafraid. If I stand alone, I will resist any departure from it.

Asks Fair Play.

"I will never let Great Britain down. I will not stand by or for any man who does. Whatever government is in power we must not offer it any factious opposition. There must be no nagging criticism; there must be fair play.

"We are told that the new government is a government of tranquility. In what respect does a policy of tranquility differ from ours? If tranquility means any change from the existing condition of things, then it is bad. We have made peace in Europe. We have made peace in the Near East. What does the new policy mean? It's no use using words unless they mean something.

"I am all for co-operation with the allies, but Great Britain has her own responsibilities. She has her own mission in the world, and she must stand by it."

In the course of his dealing with home affairs, Mr. Lloyd George declared the first purpose of any government in its policy at home must be to do everything to improve trade.

Economy Essential.

"Stern economy is essential," he added, "and I ask that the new chancellor of the exchequer shall pursue the policy of the old. Mr. McKenna says things are worse. I know Mr. McKenna and, quite frankly, he was the man most responsible for the Liberal division.

"Mr. McKenna was always de-

FEAR KILLING OF GREEK FIGHTERS

Allies Hear Turks Have Isolated Troops for Trial for High Treason.

Plead to Angora Government to Grant Amnesty to Prisoners.

Constantinople, Oct. 25.—All the Greek soldiers who were formerly Turkish subjects have been isolated by the Turkish Nationalists for trial by special military tribunals charged with high treason, according to advices received yesterday by the American relief agencies here. It is the fear in well-informed circles that these Greeks will be put to death in massed executions in groups of a hundred or more.

The allied missions, in anticipation of something of this sort, have dispatched an appeal to the Angora government, asking that "generosity be shown these prisoners," and declaring that "a generous amnesty would not be regarded as a sign of weakness."

The allied note, which is signed by Great Britain, France and Italy, follows:

"Acting on instructions from their governments, the allied high commissioners bring to the notice of the Angora government that they have learned that Greek soldiers who are Ottoman subjects have been concentrated in special barracks with the object of trying them for high treason and sentencing to death.

"While the high commissioners do not desire to interfere in Turkish internal affairs, nevertheless, from a purely humanitarian viewpoint, they ask that generosity be shown these prisoners, and they draw to your attention that such single or mass executions would cause horror in the whole civilized world. Generous amnesty would not be regarded as a sign of weakness, but, on the contrary, as proof of the inauguration of a new policy tending to wipe out the unhappy past and bring a new era of peace."

TO ASK CITIZENS TO BUY LONDON TRAM SYSTEM

Transportation Committee To Receive Appraiser's Report at Saturday Session.

OPERATED WITH L. & P. S.

A. E. Bunnell Ridicules Idea of Terminal on Federal Square.

London's transportation problems will be considered by the members of the local transportation commission in special session Saturday morning next, when A. E. K. Bunnell, appraiser, will submit his final report, following his survey of the London street railway rolling stock and other equipment.

On Federal Square.

Mr. Bunnell was in London a short while Tuesday night, but returned immediately to Toronto. He will return Friday night in time for the scheduled gathering.

"The greatest piece of 'bunk' that was ever perpetrated upon the public," was his opinion to city officials of the report in circulation that he was recommending that a street railway terminal be placed on the federal square.

What will actually happen briefly is this, it was announced Wednesday, on good authority, that the city council be recommended to ask the general public, "Shall we purchase the London street railway, at a reasonable figure?"

Once the ratepayers have approved of the suggestion to this effect the company will be notified. By agreement it is now incumbent upon the city to notify the company at least a year before the expiration of their franchise that they do not wish to renew the same but propose to open negotiations with a view toward a purchase.

Automatically Extended.

If this is not done, it is explained, the franchise is automatically extended another five years.

"We are not vitally interested in suggestions for the change of transfer points," Mayor Cameron Wilson commented Wednesday. "What we desire to know is, what the road is worth to us and if the people wish to purchase the line from the present owners."

Civic authorities freely predict, however, that the engineers will recommend, should the citizens desire the road, that it be maintained and operated in conjunction with the London and Port Stanley Railroad.

Sir Adam Beck, chairman of the Hydro-Electric Commission, has already expressed the opinion that the local lines could be satisfactorily handled in this manner, and has added that should the people be dissatisfied with the present railway commission, they could elect or appoint others to replace them.

More Economically Operated.

The report will also deal with the question of motor buses, both electric and gasoline, and will show that the former can be operated much more economically and render more complete service than the latter type.

One-man cars and trackless trolleys will also be dealt with, both in the report and by the members of the local transportation commission at their Saturday session, and these will be recommended, at the discretion of the ratepayers, for service in certain districts.

They will not be advocated for the congested districts of the downtown business sections. Chief Engineer

OUTLINES NECESSITY FOR CHILD GETTING PROPER START

A. B. FARMER GIVES INSTRUCTIVE TALK.

"THE Right of the Child To Be Well Born" was the subject of the first of Arthur Black Farmer's series of afternoon lectures for people interested in children, given at the Masonic Temple, Tuesday.

A most gratifying audience, in both numbers and interest, greeted the first of these afternoon lectures.

"If there is anything in the world that will fill your declining years with joy instead of sorrow, with laughter instead of tears, it will be to surround yourself with children and grandchildren well born and well raised, wholesome, pure, happy and successful," said the speaker.

"The essential factors in providing a child with a proper start in life," the lecturer declared, "were first, good parents, properly matched; second, favorable pre-natal conditions, in the way of correct diet and health habits on the part of the mother; third, right mental conditions, since the mental habits of the mother affected the child as well as the physical conditions and habits did.

"Many children have a poor start in life," declared the lecturer, "because a baby arrives every ten or twelve months, completely breaking down the physical strength of the mother, and something of the father as well. There is tremendous need for knowledge of birth control to be given to every prospective parent. Some people think there would be no children, but the experience of Holland, where such knowledge has been

LONE RAIDER AT TORONTO RIVALS BANK ROBBERS AT STOUFFVILLE IN NERVE IN SENSATIONAL ROBBERY

Safe-Blowers Cut All Wires in Town, Steal $10,000.

ROB VAULTS OF STANDARD BANK AND MAKE ESCAPE

Warn Awakened Occupants of Neighboring House to Remain Quiet.

Stouffville, Ont., Oct. 25.—Professional safe blowers broke into the Standard Bank here during the night, drilled the door of the safe, and got away with perhaps $10,000 and certain securities. No trace of them has been found up to the present.

Three officers of the provincial police force are at work on the case, and Toronto police are co-operating. The robbers went about the job in a businesslike manner, cutting all the telegraph and telephone wires in the town before embarking on their enterprise.

According to occupants of an adjacent house the robbery occurred about 3 o'clock. These people heard a disturbance, arose and lit a lamp. This was noticed by the burglars and immediately there were knocks on the front and back doors of the residence. The people answered the knocks but did not open the door. They were told to put out the light and keep quiet, otherwise their position would not be a healthy one.

The bank is a sub-branch, and is located in the business section of the town. None of the officials was sleeping in the premises, as a new rule of the bank, issued two months ago, requires all employees to dwell in a separate building. This order was the sequel, according to local officials, to recent bank robberies in the west and elsewhere. The manager of the bank was not notified of the occurrence until four o'clock this morning, when he discovered all the wires had been cut, and had to drive to Markham in order to notify his head office and the provincial and county police. It is believed there were at least half a dozen burglars in the party. "They certainly made a neat job of it," commented an official, pointing out that they had blown the door of the safe a distance of twenty feet.

WHO RUNS CITY? COUNCIL PUZZLE

Civic Fathers Wonder Why Autos Still Use Victoria Park.

Show Bylaw Passed Some Time Since Prohibiting Vehicles Entering.

"Who runs the city, the police commission or the city council?" was a question asked at the city hall Wednesday following the claim by Ald. Dr. Holmes, that automobiles were still allowed a course through Victoria Park.

Ald. Holmes states, that in view of the fact that the city council passed a bylaw several weeks restraining such procedure, the same has not evidently been indorsed. He evinced a desire for some action in this respect.

Acting Mayor John Ashton was also desirous that something be done about the matter, but questioned whether the council could interfere in the park in view of the fact that the public utilities commission is entrusted with the maintenance of the parks, etc.

Ald. Holmes held, however, that the council had every right to legislate in connection with the thoroughfares, and he was upheld in this stand by Mayor Cameron Wilson.

Acting Mayor Ashton was urged to take up this issue immediately with the police commission and the public utilities commission as a form of "challenge."

Mr. Ashton was quite willing evidently, but wanted a more definite order from Mayor Wilson, who is also the people's representative on the commission.

The latter, in what was considered as more of a jocular vein, however, directed him to "go ahead."

"What we need here is a mayor with some backbone," he concluded, significantly glancing at Acting Mayor Ashton.

The extent of the damage nor the cause of the blaze have been ascertained yet.

Bandit Holds Up Clerk in Diamond Store Before Crowds.

MAKES GETAWAY WITH RINGS VALUED AT $10,000

Runs Through Restaurant Into Kitchen, Holding Up Chefs With Pistol.

Toronto, Oct. 25.—A lone bandit, armed, his face half covered with a handkerchief, walked into the Ontario diamond store, 95A Yonge street, and held up Joseph Gould, aged 28, general sales manager, 45 Harbord street, and forced Gould to hand over $10,000 worth of diamond rings from the stock in the Yonge street window.

For coolness and daring the gunman showed himself to be a human icicle. After he had scooped up the gemmed rings the gunman backed out of the store, flashing his gun, turned next door south into the Rialto Lunch Rooms, at 95 Yonge street, and dashed through the crowded lunch room, where scores of noon-day lunchers were eating.

Brandishing his gun the man plunged his way through the congested lunch room, knocking people every way. "Get out of my way!" he yelled as he showed his gun, and rushed to the rear and into the kitchen; where he ran into four chefs serving orders. Then he got out through a rear door into a laneway heading north into Adelaide street, and was seen last running east, where he was swallowed up in the crowds.

Yonge street was packed with noon-day walkers, and hundreds of people were streaming past the store when the holdup was staged. Jess Kaplan ran out into Yonge street, and shouting "Police!" followed the man into the restaurant, while Gould hurried to the telephone and sent in an alarm to the police.

Hearing shouts of "Police!" and "Catch that man!" hundreds of pedestrians swarmed around the store, blocking the sidewalk and backing out into the road. A squad of police was kept busy chasing away the eager ones, and a mounted constable moving traffic.

BLUE NOSE LEADS IN TROPHY RACE

Canadian Entry Mile Ahead of Ford in Fisherman's Contest.

Gloucester, Oct. 25.—At 1:58 the Bluenose had a lead of 7 minutes 45 seconds at the second mark, and seemed to have the race well in hand.

Gloucester, Mass., Oct. 25.—The Gloucester fishing schooner Henry Ford led the Lunenburg schooner Blue Nose across the line at the start of today's fisherman's race. Blue Nose, however, had the better position being to weather, and blanketed the American boat. The unofficial starting times: Ford, 11:00.50; Blue Nose, 11:00.59.

Three minutes after the start, Blue Nose passed the Ford to the weather and took the lead. Both boats were off toward the first mark slowly, as the wind had dropped to 7 knots five minutes before the start. The Ford headed for the line sharp on the starboard tack, the Blue Nose being well to weather. The Canadian came down slowly, and a minute before the start was on the Ford's bow, completely taking her wind. The Ford tried hard to get from under, but did not have quite speed enough to get through the lee of the Blue Nose although she started nearly a length ahead.

Crowds Over Ford.

At 11:23, the Blue Nose crowded the Ford over toward the shore until both boats were practically before the wind. The Canadian was holding the weather position. Capt. Morrisey allowed the Blue Nose to get by and then came up quickly on the wind and crossed astern of the Blue Nose and came up on the weather of the Canadian. It was a clever piece of helmsmanship by Morrissey. At 11:30 the Ford swung away for the first mark with about a hundred yards lead and was dropping the Blue Nose.

Coming up to the mark, the Blue Nose, after being 100 yards behind, began to gain, and caught and passed the Ford 100 yards from the buoy, passing the latter's stern and taking her wind. The Blue Nose's staysail was hoisted before she luffed around the mark, and she gained a few seconds by good sailing. The Ford was slow. She split tacks immediately and stood inshore.

Blue Nose Leads.

The Blue Nose had a lead of 2 seconds at the first turn. At 12:3[illegible] the Blue Nose had increased its lead to 400 yards. The Ford, however, had edged a bit to windward and was holding herself a trifle
