EIGHTH YEAR

SIR WILFRID'S DEFENCE.

MR. DILLON TO CALL THE IRISH SECRETARY AS A WITNESS.

The Police Charge a Proclamation in Cork and Use their Baiting Party - Mr. Dillon's Reply - A copy of a Government Proclamation.

DUBLIN, Oct. 26.—The trial of Sir Wilfrid Blunt, at Woodford, was resumed today. Mr. Harrington, counsel for the defence, applied to the court for a summons to compel the attendance of Mr. Ballour, Chief Secretary, as a witness, in order to show whether any information had been given to, or stated in the proclamation, which was issued at Woodford last Sunday would lead to a breach of the peace.

Mr. Ballour, counsel for the prosecution, denied the fact of the defence to ask what had happened in Cork at Dublin.

The magistrate said Mr. Harrington's application was founded on the assumption that the statements in the proclamation were false and the court was not content to decide the question. The hearing of evidence was then resumed.

The solicitor for the defence made a formal application in support of the application for the summons of Mr. Ballour, and the case was adjourned.

The trial at Woodford.

On Oct. 25.—When Mr. Dillon was on his way to the station yesterday to take the train for Dublin, he was followed by a crowd singing "God Save Ireland." While the procession was passing the crowd dispersed, but the police charged upon the crowd, using their batons freely. Mr. Dillon was about to deliver an address from his carriage, when Magistrate Gavelley, who is in command of the police, read the Riot Act. The Mayor protested against this hasty action on the part of the magistrate.

On the advice of Mr. Dillon, Dr. Turner and the Mayor, the crowd dispersed without making any further demonstration. Messrs. Cox, Tanner, Healy and other members of Parliament were present. Mr. Dillon returned a copy of the Government proclamation.

A SUSPECTED DYNAMITER.

INQUESTS ON THE BODY OF A MAN WHO DIED IN SOUTH LONDON.

The Head of the Detective Department said that the deceased was believed to be an Agent of the Clan-na-Gael Society, a New York Fenian organization.

LONDON, Oct. 26.—An inquest was held today on the body of the supposed dynamiter who died suddenly in South London. It was ascertained that the man had been known as Joseph Cohen. He had also been known by the name of Brown. He had lodged during the past few months in a house on Lambeth-road. His landlady, whose name is King, testified that Cohen was an invalid and seldom went out. He received many visitors, all of whom she thought were Americans. He had suffered with bronchitis during the two weeks previous to his death. A friend who had been sitting with Cohen on Oct. 19 asked her to relieve him, and on her promising to do so went out. Who he was the witness did not know. Witness went up stairs to Cohen's room and found him dead.

Commissioner Monroe, of the Detective Department, asked permission to examine the witness. He explained that Cohen was believed to be an agent of the Clan-na-Gael Society, the head of which, General Millen, was in London on a mission of some kind. His London alias is named Melville. Mr. Monroe produced a photograph which landlady King identified as that of Joseph Cohen. She said that an old man named Brown had been living in the house with Cohen. He had worked for an insurance office. His home was in Philadelphia. He came to England under the name of Brown. He met Cohen in a tavern a month ago. He visited him afterwards and took away his keys, which were now in the possession of the police.

Witness was then questioned as to the connection of the deceased with Melville, Burchell of Philadelphia and Stack and Malley, members of the Clan-na-Gael Society.

Hawkins admitted the ownership of a new pair of cutting scissors which he had given to Birmingham on Nov. 4. He also admitted that he had given a pair of cutting scissors to a man named Sidney Wright, which a letter, found in a bottle placed on the beach near Barnstaple, Mass., was in distress No. 19, 1880, fifty miles from New York. The man named Sidney Wright was a small Irish prisoner who was on the ferry between Philadelphia and London. He was taken to Philadelphia for his destination about Oct. 14, 1880.
