

gress, as there will be no better month in which to see the Fair. Another circular will be issued before the meeting, giving additional particulars.

The following is from the circular issued by the committee having in charge the details of the forthcoming meeting:

This Congress will be in session in the Art Institution Building, Chicago, October 9-14, 1893.

Membership in the Congress is open without fee to all persons interested in public health, who comply with the formalities of registration.

The proceedings will be published by the American Public Health Association, and will be distributed to all members of the Congress, who, on the payment of five dollars and election, may become members of the American Public Health Association. This payment of five dollars entitles the member to a copy of the proceedings, is the only fee required, and is entirely voluntary.

Registration may be conducted in person or by correspondence, and it will facilitate the work of the Congress for this to be accomplished as early as possible. To that end an official will be present in the Art Institute to attend to registration every day during the preceding week, October 2-7, from 9 to 5 o'clock, and again on Monday, October 9, during the same hours. Registration may also be accomplished later, according to placards in the hall.

Correspondence on this subject may be addressed to "The Registration Clerk, Public Health Congress, Art Institute, Chicago." Checks should be made payable to the Treasurer, American Public Health Association.

Registration consists in recording the name, including designating titles; the official representation, if any; the permanent residence; and the local address (this may be omitted or changed at discretion). The particular section the member wishes to work with will also be noted. No charge is made for registration.

Special business meetings of the American Public Health Association will be held each morning, including Monday, October 9, and also at 4 p.m. Monday, October 9, for the election of members.

The opening session of the Congress will be held in one of
