

TO HAVE BIG DAY AT THE EXHIBITION

"Women's Day" to Be an Event of All-Absorbing Interest.

HOLD DEMONSTRATION

Will Arouse Enthusiasm in Work Done Since War Began.

Women's Day at the Canadian National Exhibition promises to be an event of exceptional and all-absorbing interest. This was gathered at a meeting of the executive of the women's committee held at the Royal Bank building yesterday afternoon when Mrs. L. A. Gurnett presided and reports of progress, together with further plans for the carrying out of work in connection with this epoch-making feature were laid before the gathering.

After the reading of the minutes of a previous meeting and the addition of suggested names to the committee, the chairman introduced C. Ross of the Exhibition management, who explained that there are 700 by 250 square feet of ground before the grand stand which the women may utilize. He also outlined the manner in which the aggregate of women who it is expected will take part would mass on the grand stand and afterwards proceed through the grounds provided a parade was decided upon as part of the program. Scenery, bands and everything possible would be provided said Mr. Ross. At the conclusion of Mr. Ross' brief address it was moved by Mrs. H. S. Strathy and seconded by Miss Wiseman that a parade would form a feature of the day. The motion was carried.

Diversity of Opinion. Mrs. A. Brown, who had promised to represent and mobilize women's work in connection with the Y.M.C.A., said there had been a great diversity of opinion expressed since the last meeting, and moved that a short discussion be held with reference to the parade which had been voted for at the other meeting. The speaker pointed out that she wanted the undertaking to be a huge success and that the present was the time to ensure this. She believed in a demonstration and representation of women's work since the war. She thought a parade might swallow up this idea.

At this point Mrs. McVicar asked if the women workers would get a holiday on the occasion under discussion, Mrs. Fenton, for the munition and airplane workers, said that the manufacturers would give the number of women wanted.

Miss Elizabeth Dickson, vice-regent of the Municipal Chapter, I.O.D.E., said that from what she had learned she did not think the regents of the various chapters would do much for a parade. Most of them had been very busy and the work of a parade would, she thought, involve labor which they might not care to undertake. She favored the parade.

The point of a "parade to be or not to be" was the crux about which much of the discussion centered. Mr. Ross, on being asked for an opinion, said that while it would be for the women to decide, it would be well, in his opinion, if the great number who were to take part in the parade were massed through the medium of one or two ten-minute plays, such as had been outlined to him by Mrs. W. E. Groves. "People can't come on in a mob," the scenario or plot would serve the purpose of an orderly massing.

Part of Pageant. Mrs. Namith, who had been given charge of the nurses' parade, outlined a plan which would take in a picture of the work done at the clearing stations in the war zone, and a considerable headway. This was intended to form part of the pageant. Mrs. Gurnett speaking for Mrs. Van Koughnet, who was unable to be present, said she objected to the pageant, or to anything that paraded a dramatic character, her idea being to show the service of women, chief among whom she placed the wives and mothers of soldiers. The chairman added that it already had been decided to eliminate the dramatic features, and that the question now was to decide whether the women were merely to have a pageant and parade, or the parade without other feature. It was finally moved by Miss Hart, and seconded by Mrs. Stearns Hicks, that the afternoon program on Women's Day consisted of a "demonstration and parade." This was carried. A committee to carry this out was proposed by Mrs. Fenton, and named by Mrs. H. S. Strathy, and approved by the meeting, the members to be Mrs. W. E. Groves, Mrs. Namith, Mrs. Gurnett and Mr. Ross. Members of the committee who take in hand to look after or suggest any special feature of the demonstration will submit sub-committees to report to the committee named.

Among those who have promised to work for specific objects are the Women's Institutes, thru Mrs. Woodard, who represented Mr. Putnam at the meeting. The "Home Leaguers" promised "something good." Wise will organize for Earls Court. Mrs. Hicks will arrange for the demonstration of the Red Cross. Miss Wiseman will see to the Business Women's Club, the welfare of the blind committee promised to take part; Mrs. Fenton will have floats a demonstration of munition and airplane work done by women. Letters were read from Mrs. Bundy, promising co-operation on behalf of the Women's Liberal Club, also from Mrs. Home Cameron and others.

On suggestion from Mrs. Brown, who said there would have to be registration of the women who would take part, in addition to those who may be called up by different organizations it was decided to try to secure a room in the city hall. A number of those present promised their services for a day or part of a day for the work of registration. Mrs. Gurnett announced that those already assured numbered about 2000, and that it was expected about 12,000 women in all would take part. The Duchess of Devonshire will be asked to become honorary patroness of the day, and Lady Hendrie will be invited to "take the salute" as the procession moves from the stand out to the grounds.

A meeting of the general committee will be called for next Tuesday, when those having any part of the program in hand are asked to bring details of their work. Meantime every woman in Toronto is invited, and urged to become interested in the undertaking, the object of which is to arouse enthusiasm in the war work of women by demonstrating something of what had already been done by women, and what may be added to by many more who may see the demonstration at the fair.

TO TEACH COOKING DURING EXHIBITION

To have their space allotted to them for demonstration and exhibits at the Canadian National Exhibition, a party of women will exhibit their own particular line, visited the exhibition grounds yesterday afternoon, under the guidance of Joseph Hay, of the publicity department, inspected many of the buildings, all of which have undergone a thorough renovation.

The party included, Miss Watson, Macdonald Institute, Guelph; Miss Nixon, Guelph; Miss Laird, department of household science, Toronto University; Miss Patterson, Toronto University; Miss Oakley, Toronto University; Miss Sutherland, assistant superintendent, Women's Institutes; Miss Hill, school of household science, Macdonald College, Province of Quebec. The education building will be the scene of the women's activities along the line of domestic science and kindred subjects, and here four demonstration circles and seventy-three booths are located. Method, canning, cooking and dehydrating vegetables will be exploited. Special attention will be given to various ways of preparing food, and in the course of the demonstration two especially prepared reels will be shown in motion pictures, depicting pictorial life in both the Atlantic and Pacific.

A very interesting section will be that in which Mons. Brunet, chef from Hotel Commodore, N. Y., who has 3,000 different recipes, will teach and demonstrate as many of these as time will allow. Housewives wishing to learn how to cook any particular point or dish may bring meat or ingredients and will receive an expert object lesson on the subject desired. The work of this section is under the general auspices of the Dominion and Ontario Governments.
