Eight Hour Day on Sewer Work.

Chairman Ten Eyck of the Sewers Committee brought down his scheme to-night for the institution of an eight-hour working day at the sewer disposal works. At present the employes are working 12 hours a day, at a little over 10c an hour. The Workingmen's Clubs of the city have been thundering for weeks' against the arrangement on the ground that it is contrary to bylaw, and its removal would give more men work. The chairman's proect provides three shifts of eight hours at 15c per hour and the employment of two engineers at 12 hours each. The Workingmen's Clubs want the engineers paid at 15c an hour for 8 hours' work, too, but both say thejy will quit if their present salaries are reduced. The committee decided to try the Ten Eyck scheme for a month.

The committee will call a special meeting for Tuesday next to discuss permanent road improvement, instead of merely tinkering at the roads as it has been doing fro years.

Tenders will be asked for for repairing the old steam road roller and a 15-ton new roller.

Lamb raised some little objection to his colleague's motion to have the work done, and brought down the vials of wrath upon his own head. Ald. Crane testily asked how it was he could not get this little work done in his ward, while in Ward 2 at the same time thousands of dollars were being spent. He wanted it known that there were bosses at the City Hall, who get what they like.

Ald. Gowaniock could not miss the chance of adding a little torpedo, and backed Ald. Crane. He said that the sub-committee which had the Castle Frank bridge in thand had questioned one of the men and had been told that Ald. Lamb had ordered the work done.

Ald. Lamb cholerically denied these charges, but Ald. Crane got what he wanted.

The cause of the accident to the high pressure cylinder at the High Level pumping station was explained by Chief Engineer Robb of the Boiler Inspection and Insurance Company. He exonerated Engineer Lewis, in charge, from responsibility, and recommended, with the concurrence of City Engineer Rust, suitable drain cocks on the cylinders as a better method of preventing such accidents from undue accumulation of water in the cylinders. The Board will adopt this system, Ald. Denison wanted to hear a deputation of engineers present, but the committee would not agree. No New Belt Line
