IDEALS FOR YOUNG MEN.

Hon. George E. Foster Furnishes Some Excellent Counsel. Association Hall was filled to the doors on Saturday evening. with enthusiastic audience in good humor to receive the time by, earnest counsel which followed. Canada, he said, must not be regarded by young men so much as a land in which they can best win fame and fortune, as a country to which they must give their best, mentally, morally and physically.

A Great Heritage.

To young men, he said, belongs the prospective ownership of the country; to use a common expression, they will be running it in 25 years, and, when we think of what it is now, and what it will be in the future, and what position it will hold among the other nations, it is necessary that the one million young men throut the Dominion be impressed with what their country demands of them. The great war of to-day is the war of trade and commerce, and this will become keener in future, as the rivalry grows between Canada and the nations of Europe, the Repubmerce, and this will become keener in future, as the rivalry grows between Canada and the nations of Europe, the Republic to the south, and the just-awakening Asiatic nations. Canada must be master

The fact of the country being young, and having such infinite possibilities for the future, applied to the young men. As they had received an inheritance from the Indigestion, a Barbarous and as them assume control of public affairs, they devote to them the old-time Puritanical, incorruptible honesty and rugged virtue of their forefathers.

He closed with an appeal for the formation of high ideals, and the cultivation of a patriotic national feeling.
