

ROUNDS OF APPLAUSE, MOCHA MINSTRELS GREET TRAVELOGUES, MADE BIG HIT WITH NOW AT THE LYRIC FIRST-CLASS SHOW

Wonderful Scenes in Old England Delighted Audience.

SHOW SCOTLAND TONIGHT

Most Beautiful Series in the Whole Famous Robertson Collection.

Into the solid substantial beauties of the moorland, with its myriad spots of historic interest, its quaint thatched-roof cottages, its hospitable country folk, its lovely scenery, its rolling hills and terraces and lawns and fountains, its spirit of home, its cathedrals, its abbey, its roads and its roads and its roads, the first of the Robertson Travlogues being presented at the Lyric Theatre under the auspices of The Advertiser.

If we are creatures and products of our environment, truly every one who traveled to England last night may well feel proud to be descended from ancestors who called that beautiful country home. For a beautiful country it was, and the graphic portrayal in natural colors of the beauties, wonders and oddities of the moorland was enjoyed to the full by a near-capacity audience.

Rush or Seats.
At 6 o'clock, an hour and a half before the doors were opened, all the best seats in the reserved section had been sold, and the audience was waiting. The doors opened at 7:30 o'clock, and the balcony was crowded to capacity, and the very front of the house, and from the enthusiastic way in which the travlogues were received, the audience will not be disappointed. The first of the series, "Bonnie Scotland," tonight. The travlogues start with a trip across the ocean on the Aquitania, a sumptuously fitted, splendidly equipped ship, which has been stripped of its elegant trimmings, and is being used to carry coal to the west of the island. After a glimpse of the English coast, the ship is shown, then the Shetlands, Orkneys, and the Hebrides, then the main body of the island, then the "hub of the universe," and "heart of the Empire."

The Thames Embankment, the Houses of Parliament, the Tower of London, Trafalgar Square, the National Gallery, top-hatted politicians, butcher boys on bicycles, men asleep on park benches, double-decked motorbuses—all the interesting things of this most interesting city are depicted as they actually are. Round after round the audience is taken, the various scenes as they were flashed on the screen, and murmured waves of approval greet the audience as the scenes are shown. The next scene is a beautiful scene of the city of London, as they were seen by Harry A. Chase, the Robertson operator, whose work has won him the admiration of the audiences throughout the Dominion. Mr. Chase's own vision is responsible for the appealing way in which the pictures blend one into the other.

Beautiful Scenes.
The travlogues ended with a series of pictures of the city of London, one of the most beautiful sections of the moorland, and as the final picture faded into nothingness, the coming glow of the house lights, the audience, still spellbound, seemed loath to end such a pleasant journey. The pictures tonight on "Bonnie Scotland" have been declared the most beautiful in the Robertson collection. Truly the heather-covered highlands, the bluebell-dotted lowlands, "the land o' bonnie," offer a wonderful field for the magic camera man, and certainly the Robertson pictures show good use of the wonderful opportunity.

Jack Wilson, popular singer of Western Ontario, will introduce the Travlogues on Auld Scotia in true Scottish style. The pictures will be shown in the Lyric Theatre, beginning at 11 a.m. to 6 p.m. Unreservedly immediately before each travlogue, when the doors are opened, at 1:30 afternoons, and at 7:30 evenings.

No seat can be purchased without a coupon. The Advertiser for less than 50 cents.

GALT BOY WINS MEDAL.
GALT, March 22.—Pte. Guy McEwen, a young Galt soldier who went overseas with the 71st Battalion, has won a military medal for his work at the front. The honored soldier modestly refused the medal, but has been honored in a letter just received by his wife.

ECZEMA ON FACE
Was So Bad Had To Stay In House.

All skin diseases such as eczema or salt rheum, itching or burning rashes, eruptions, ulcers, boils, pimples, etc., are all caused by bad blood, and while not usually attended with any fatal results, may sooner or later develop into some serious blood trouble, and the entire system become affected.

Well-known Remedies, that old and blood of all its impurities, and by this means cure all skin diseases and other blood troubles.

Mrs. Ernest Andrews, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "My face was covered with eczema and was so terribly bad I had to stay in the house. I had ten different doctors, but got so tired of their treatment that I went and bought a bottle of Burdock Blood Bitters, and it helped me, so I kept on taking it. Now I am cured, and have a lovely skin."

"People who used to see me when I was so bad and see me now will tell me that I am cured. I have had nothing cured me but Burdock Blood Bitters."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Home Rule for Ireland.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: Argument upon this very important question can only result in good; but abuse is not argument, and the torrent of abuse that has been heaped upon Bishop Fallon will only react upon those who utter it, and certainly will not tend to clear the atmosphere.

Let me attempt to reply to those whose whole stock-in-trade seems to be impertinence and personalities, beyond reminding them that this is not a religious question, as it might seem to be from their vituperative statements. I would like to further remind them that the real leaders for home rule in Ireland have been nearly all non-Catholics—a term I prefer to that of Protestants—Gladstone, Parnell, Butt, Hyde, Synge, Booth, Pim, Mellows, Davis, Mitchell, and many others of note were non-Catholics. Professor Paul Cheyenne of Oxford, who was arrested last year in Cork, was an English non-Catholic. Costs and Gregory were non-Catholics; hence, it will be better to leave Bishop Fallon the prelate out of the question, and treat with Bishop Fallon the man.

Let it be first remembered that in his address on March 16 he practically took as his text the leading editorial of March 9 as published in the Globe, under the caption of the "Problem of Ireland." And if your readers are clearly those who have taken umbrage at the statements of the bishop, let them read the editorial of the Globe, and they will be convinced that the bishop could take no other than any of your readers, after seeing the article referred to, think otherwise than does Bishop Fallon. Of course, there will always be a few who, like some of the Jews of old, are "hard-hearted," and will say: "How can this be? But these we can all afford to ignore in dealing with this great question."

Let your readers who dispute home rule read "The Crimes of England," by Gilbert Chesterton, and Mr. Chesterton is not a Catholic. He is the justice of the British Government towards the Emerald Isle. The truth is sometimes better than lies, and in the present case it will be better for both sides to settle down to reason, after we have learned something about the history of Ireland, and without a knowledge of her history, it is next to impossible to discuss the question of home rule intelligently.

One of your correspondents has referred to T. P. O'Connor. At the time Mr. O'Connor expressed himself satisfied with Lloyd George, the bishop was probably satisfied; but Mr. O'Connor has changed his mind, like the bishop. In January last, when addressing a meeting in London, he said: "If there be those who expect the federation of our Empire can be consummated without the close of the struggle between England and Ireland by a concession to Ireland of autonomy, which has proven the salvation, the spiritual cement of the Empire, then I have to say to all that the world cannot become free and Ireland remain bound. There is no section which counts in the English school of thought who is not convinced that such a measure of self-government to Ireland is not only an appeal to justice, but also to Imperial interest and repute." The bishop in his address recently expressed his disapproval of the federation, and he disapproved of home rule as a denial of Ireland, just as did Mr. O'Connor. The bishop pointed out that the fact that Australia was a failure because home rule was not granted to Ireland. In the leading editorial of the Globe of the 20th of May last it was stated that "Dublin Castle rule has utterly broken down, and must now go forward, or Ireland will be a failure. It is a failure for Ireland now what has been tested and put to the absolute proof in Canada, in Australia, in New Zealand and in South Africa. To talk about the north (Ulster) and the south being irreconcilable because of differences in racial qualities or religious beliefs is all nonsense; they must learn to live together and to work together, Ireland will learn the lesson of freedom and self-government all the sooner who English domination is withdrawn from Dublin Castle." With these essential facts in mind, we can get a clearer idea of what Bishop Fallon wishes to convey to his hearers and to the public.

One of the speakers, Mr. Carly, I think, on last Sunday stated that the population of Ireland has dwindled to one old man and woman, and that no country on earth had such a decrease as had Ireland. As a matter of fact, the population from 1850 to 1915 has dropped 2,312,000. What else does this point to but government against the wishes of the people?

The bishop intimated that a game of politics was being played in England, with Ireland as the pawn, and it certainly looks like it. It is my belief that in passing the home rule act both Asquith and Lloyd George were playing for the support of the Irish Nationalists, without whom they could not keep in power.

Carson imported arms from Germany for what? To defy the lawfully constituted Government. The English government is carrying out of arms in the streets, and Carson ordered thousands of his followers to march fully armed, and to defend the arms. Carson is usually found in authority to collect the arms. Carson ordered his followers to resist to the death, and the English order was withdrawn. Sir John French, the brilliant (?) soldier, resigned his resignation if called upon to defend the revolution in Ulster. Yet, when arms were carried to Dublin, or rather smuggled in, for the purpose of defending the people against the impending attack of Carson's army, Carson is not referring to the "rebellion," but long before to 80,000 English troops at the present time, and for some years, to garrison Ireland. Think of the expense, and the anxiety of the English government in connection with such a situation! Would it not be easier to compel the coalition government to withdraw the troops from Ireland, and withdraw the troops? At the beginning of the year Carson offered to give Ireland to the Irish Volunteers; he may have been able to accomplish the task, but Carson and Lloyd George will be necessary to keep the part of the necessary Fallon said he believed the Empire was in danger if home rule was delayed. He believed a united Empire was necessary to the successful prosecution of the war. In this he is not alone. British statesmen of note, Unionists are of the same opinion. Only the Duke of Portland and Mr. Wood have been dissenting. The Hon. George Selkirk is a Unionist, and is a member of the House of Commons. The Hon. George Selkirk is a Unionist, and is a member of the House of Commons.

TRENCHES SAFER THAN MAIN STREET CORNER
Sergeant Major John Barnhill, Medal of Honor, hit by Auto.

Sergeant John Barnhill, who served nearly two years with the famous 12th Battalion, and who was decorated for valor, has come to the conclusion that trench life is as dangerous as the front lines.

Yesterday afternoon he was standing on Richmond and Dundas street, talking for a minute. He was on the sidewalk, and the officer, when a Ridout street car turned. An automobile came running around a corner, and before Sergeant Barnhill could get out of the way he was knocked headlong into the car. He gathered himself up, despite the weight of the machine which was supposed to be shaken up, and was far from well when he left for home.

"The thing looks a lot safer to me," he declared, "I don't think I had better wander out of the house again."

Police court proceedings may follow.

6,500 Telephones in London

The telephone business is a good index of general business conditions. The annual report of the Bell Telephone Company of Canada for 1916, shows that in the Dominion of Canada there were taken out owing to disconnection during the war there was a growth for the first time in the history of the company. In service on December 31 last 216,899 stations. Long distance had increased by 1916 over the previous year by 75 per cent. There are now 75,593 miles of long distance wire in the company's system in Canada. The company has been successful in its efforts to connect the Bell Company's buildings and lines reaching practically all points in Eastern Canada and the United States. The use of the telephone has become so general in Ontario and Quebec that the Bell Company's buildings and plant are now an integral part of every community. In the London system alone, with its 6,500 telephones there are over 17,500 miles of wire of which total over 12,700 miles or 72 per cent are underground.

Listen to Facts!

You Can't Equal Our $16 Made-to-Measure Suits and Overcoats Unless You Pay Over $25.

There is every reason in the world why you can't. We are wholesale tailors dealing direct with you that saves you the entire profit the middleman usually makes. Then, there is another saving: It doesn't cost us one cent to sell these goods to our stores, and it doesn't cost us any money to send buyers on purchasing trips and pay their expenses and salaries while they are away. Our big custom tailoring factory protects and saves you money in another way. We buy our woollens direct from the mills on the same basis and at the same price and terms paid by the largest manufacturers. We select every yard of goods with an attention and an interest which only a retailer is capable of.

The ordinary clothing manufacturer is satisfied to turn out clothing which he sells to retail stores. These retail stores in turn sell them to their customers. With us it is different. When we take your measure at any of our own stores, and make you a suit in our own custom tailoring plant, it is not made for some retail store to buy, but it is made for you from your own measurements. Consequently we are watching your interest all the time. We watch every operation. We watch every stitch, we watch the finish and workmanship of every garment so carefully that our factory has the reputation of being the one with the strictest inspection system.

The Combined Power of Our Canada-Wide Chain of Stores

Makes us so big and strong, that while others have to raise prices in war time, we are practically paying no attention to conditions, but giving men's suits and overcoats to their individual measure at almost the same price as before the war.

We Absolutely, Positively, and Unfailingly Guarantee All-wool and Fast Colors.

Our Stores are All Operated by Ourselves and We Only Have One Price. Nothing that does not go into the value of our clothes is added to your clothes cost. We pay no exorbitant rents. There is nothing unduly fancy about our shops. They are fitted up just as plainly and inexpensively as we can possibly make them. We are the largest one-price tailors in Canada, and we stand back of every order we take with our unlimited guarantee. Our whole reputation, our whole million-dollar business, our whole absolute determination is that you shall be and shall remain perfectly and lastingly satisfied, stands back of every order. These are the facts which enable us to offer you the greatest value in Canada to-day, viz.

THE WORK OF THE W. C. A.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: "Reader," of the 20th inst., is not but the work of the W. C. A. For his information, and that of your readers, I have to say that there are two homes for children in the city, but neither of them accepts children under two years of age. This is a needy work, and has been in the past, carried on by the Women's Christian Association at the infants' home, St. James street.

In that home infants were received and cared for, whose mothers had died, or were unable to look after their children. However, on account of the increasing number of admissions to the "Aged People's Home," it was decided by the board of directors to place the care of infants and to use the St. James street building as a temporary home for the infants. It has always been the aim of the Women's Christian Association to keep the children in the home, and of order, and I think not one of the institutions which have been established in the neighborhood in which it is located.

The Women's Christian Association at the Aged People's Home is on Richmond street north, with the annex on St. James street, and the Victoria Home for incurables on Dundas street east.

PHOTOPLAY NEWS

Without hesitation or equivocation it can be said that the vaudeville bill at the Patricia the last three days of this week is the best in every respect that has been shown at this class and up-to-date theatre since it opened, less than three months ago.

Charles McDonald and company presented a sensational sketch in the office of the Chief of Police, that is one of the best plays seen here in years. The scene is laid in the office of the Chief of Police, and the general manager of the Women's Federal Club, who credit for cleaning up the segregated vice district, whereas the chief informs them that they have in their ignorance made matters worse instead of better. His arraignment of so-called high society is a classic and worth hearing. Grant and sister, heavyweight jugglers, present the most novel act seen here in years. Grant is possessed of such great strength that he balances a step-ladder on his chin, a pair of wagon wheels and a cane also on the chin and juggles heavy cannon balls as an ordinary individual would baseballs. His act at times holds the audience breathless, particularly the closing stunt, where he permits six cannonballs to roll and drop a distance of fifteen feet striking him on the upper part of the back. Claus and Radcliffe, present a singing and dancing act, introducing a species of a creditable character. The "Princess of Patches," a self-styled real picture, production in five reels, features Vivian Reed "the girl with the million dollar smile." "That sharp nate," a big Beauty

JEWELERS SWINDLED BY CHECK ARTIST

Police Sending Out Warnings to Whole District.

A slick check artist, who has been operating in the city the last two days, swindled two jewelers for $50, before he made a sudden departure from the city yesterday afternoon. He gave his name as George Bayne, and presented a business card stating that he was a contractor. He carried a ring, and presented a check in payment given on the Canadian Bank of Commerce, amounting upon his arrival. He repeated the same operation at George W. Pitt's jewelry store.

FOR CATARRH, CATARRHAL DEAFNESS OR HEAD NOISES YOU SHOULD TRY PARMINT

If you have Catarrh, Catarrhal Deafness or Head Noises, or if phlegm drops in your throat, and has caused Catarrh of the Stomach, or bowels you should use Parmin. It is producing satisfactory results even in cases where Catarrh is not so advanced. Don't let it make you into a worn-out, run-down creature. Remember Catarrh is more than a trifling ailment—more than a disgusting disease. It's a dangerous one. Unchecked it frequently destroys smell, taste and hearing. It clogs the nostrils and sores the throat. It surely undermines the general health. Sprays, salves and inhalers may bring you a temporary relief, but permanent results can only come from a constitutional treatment that will get to the root of the trouble, and cure your system. If you are a victim of Catarrh and have not been able to find relief from your trouble, go to your druggist today, and get an ounce of Parmin, about the size of a sugar and 4 pint hot water. Take a tablespoonful four times a day. It acts upon the blood, and mucous membrane and has brought relief to those who thought there was no cure for their trouble. Parmin has been used in the treatment of Catarrh throughout Europe for many years. A recent canvass of the American drug-gists shows that it is being used extensively in this country, where it is producing satisfactory results even in cases where Catarrh is not so advanced. To be able to breathe freely, to hear plainly, smell, taste and see clearly, to get the good out of life that you are justly entitled to so long as you are afflicted with Catarrh. Start with Parmin NOW, today. It may bring you a relief and give you a wider margin of health than you thought possible to obtain.
