OPEN HAZEN AVENUE

TEMPLE FAIR TONIGHT

The Hazen avenue temple fair which is being held in Keith's assembly rooms this week by the congregation of the Hazen avenue Synagogue, will be formally opened tonight at 8 o'clock by His Worship Mayor Bullock. The plans for the booths have been prepared by Architect H. H. Mott. The principal point of interest is the "Lustgarten," a German booth where eleven young ladies dressed in German costume will serve supper. This booth has been elaborately decorated in black, red and white, the German colors, and the menu cards are also in German. Special attention has been paid to the preparation of this booth, it being necessary to send to New York for some of the fixtures. An orchestra will be in charge of the music at the booth each evening while supper is being served. Mrs. Max Ross and Miss Alice Isaac will be in charge of the booth. The other booths in charge of Mrs. Max Ross and Miss Alice Isaac will be in charge of the booth. The other booths in charge of Mrs. Max Ross and Miss Alice Isaac will be in charge of the booth.

Another feature of the fair will be the voting contest for the popular prize insurance agent in the city. A handsome silver cup, which has been on view in the show windows of Manchester, Robertson Allison, Ltd., will be presented to the winner. Already a great deal of interest has been displayed in this contest and it promises to be an important factor of the fair. In place of the fish pond, generally conducted at every fair, a large cherry tree will be placed in the hall, and each person may pull a cherry containing a prize from the tree. The City Cornet Band will render a programme of music each evening.

On Wednesday afternoon the fair will be opened for the children from 4 to 6 o'clock. Special features will be added for the little ones, and the child guessing the number of the lucky ticket will receive the handsome doll now on exhibition in Waterbury's. The King street store. Miss Mildred Isaac will give readings on some night during the fair.

Special efforts have been made to have this one of the most elaborate fairs ever held in St. John, and doubtless large crowds will attend each night. The fair is under the personal direction of Mrs. Charles S. Landeau and Mrs. Louis Green.

FRANCE AND THE #### SCHOOL TROUBLES

Paris, Dec. 5.—M. Paribou, minister of justice, has instructed the public prosecutor at Grenoble to begin action against a local priest for placing a communal school under an interdiction. This will be the first prosecution undertaken directly by the state in connection with the church's campaign against the public schools. The suits instituted by several teachers' associations against the archbishop and bishops who signed the pastoral letter issued by the French episcopate in September last warning Catholic parents to withdraw their children from the public schools, have been set for this week. The authors of the pastoral letter have retained Senator Vall to begin suit against Mr. Amette, Archbishop of Paris.

Fashion Hint for Times Readers

THE SMART TURBAN SLOPES TOWARD THE BACK

Hats have a topsy appearance this season, for the fad seems to be to mass the trimming toward the back rather than the front. Indeed, several models have been shown with plumes placed directly at the back of the hat. The brown velvet turban has a big, draped crown, which is much higher at the back than the front. The trimming of merle breast and a handsome wing at the side adds much distinction to the model. The veil is one of the new conspicuous examples, which smart women are affecting just now, and which are extravagant popular in Paris. In some of these French veils the apertures are so big as to entirely obliterate the features behind them.
