Baseball Plot Is Discovered

Says Plan Was to Form a Third Major League With International Clubs in

Chicago, May 27.—Existence of a plot to wreck the American Association and form a third major league was revealed at a special meeting of the association here yesterday. While declining to mention the names of persons alleged to be back of the movement, Hickey said that a meeting of the association club owners would be called in the immediate future, and "all members will act in concert to defeat such a scheme."

The plan to disorganize a third major league included disruption of both the American association and the International League. The four leading clubs in each organization were to be selected to make up the new league, he said.

The club owners pledged themselves to reduce the salaries of high-priced players 25 to 50 per cent. Players refusing to accept the reduction will be released, it was announced. Probably a dozen men will be asked to accept a cut in salary.

James C. McGill, president of the Indianapolis club, O. H. Wathan, of Louisville, and Roger Brannan, of Toledo, the three who opposed calling off the International League series, did not attend the meeting. They were represented, however, by Thomas A. Barker, an attorney of Louisville, who demanded that the proposal to play two schedules of 77 games each, instead of the present schedule, increasing it to 134 games.

Edward G. Barrow, president of the International League, is understood to be willing to abide by the decision of the American Association in regard to the cancellation.

A Far-Off Isle.

"Clabman," in the Pall Mall Gazette, writes:—"The political influences of the times have extended to the little island of Cythera, which lies off the north-eastern promontory of the old Peloponnese. It was from the blue sea water round this legend-haunted Greek island that Aphrodite arose to bless and plague the tribes of man for ever and ever. Hence the goddess drew her name of 'Cythera.' In strange contrast with these purple myths is the prosaic news that Cythera declared a kind of independence a few months ago, and has since then been governed by an assembly of islanders under the presidency of a local lawyer."

Americans May Not Ship Horses

Fear of Anti-Betting Law in Canada May Keep Many of Them Away

New York, May 26.—Owners and trainers of horses now quartered in the vicinity of Jamaica, Belmont Park, and the other race tracks in the vicinity are agog over the rumor that racing tests in Canada may be discontinued after July 1. In view of the fact that many horsemen who are now racing here find the class of their charges better suited with that which they meet over the border after that time there is usually an American invasion in June, in as much as the topnotchers and other good ones hereabouts make it make it unprofitable for any other type to be sent out under colors.

It is known that the conscription process will prevent any Americans between the ages of twenty-one years and thirty years inclusive from journeying into Canada, so that a number of the horsemen will be unable to make the trip over the border as has been their wont for years. With this prescription and racing it would appear that the Hamilton, Fort Erie and Windsor tracks will labor under hardships from the standpoint of attendance as a great part of the spectators at these tracks are residents of the States who cross the line each day to follow their favorite sport.

There has been an undercurrent of feeling against the use of oats and fodder for horses in training at the Canadian tracks was known and that it might manifest itself in the shape of adverse legislation was the idea of some in close touch with the strings in the land of the Maple Leaf. That it will work a hardship on many grain dealers who have found horsemen liberal purchasers is a seeming certainty if the sport in the dominion receives the black eye and the harmful results which the abolition of racing must bring to the communities wherein the sport is held away.

Should racing be stopped in Canada it would certainly mean that there would be a gathering of the selling race owners in these parts, as the rank and file of the ordinary type of thoroughbred will have to seek some such pasture as the metropolitan circuit, where the sport is on a better plane than it has been since the killjoys attempted to put an end to it.

Miss Leftover—You are a woman hater, I hear.

Mr. Slimpurse—That is a mistake. I merely cannot afford to marry.

Miss Leftover—But cannot you support a wife?

Mr. Slimpurse—Oh, yes, I could support a wife easy enough, but I haven't the money to support the two or three other women she would need to wait on her!

Cincinnati, May 29—Jack Dillon, of Indianapolis, and George Chip, of New-castle (Penn.), fought ten slow rounds to a draw here tonight according to the consensus of opinion among the sporting writers at the ringside.

SAYS LES DARCY WAS 'HOUNDED TO DEATH'

Veteran Referee. Asserts It Was Campaign Which Caused Great Boxer's Death

Montreal Herald—"Les Darcy, undoubtedly one of the greatest fighters the world has ever known, was hounded to death. I wouldn't like to have on my conscience the weight that must rest upon the man who started that unfair, despicable crusade against a clean, decent boy," said Referee Billy Roche, when news was received at Schiller Park, that the great Australian fighter had passed away in Memphis, Tenn.

"Darcy was a victim of circumstances," said Roche, "and of a man who seeks publicity, no matter by what means. The crusade against him in the United States was eminently unfair. The boy worked until his health gave way under the strain. It was the campaign, not pneumonia, which killed him."

To show the general feeling of respect for Darcy, a touching scene was enacted at the Leg's-O'Dowd boat in New York last night. Just before the main bout Joe Humphries asked the large crowd to stand up in silence and pay homage to the memory of Darcy. The house was deathly quiet as the spectators rose as one man, and with hushed heads listened attentively as Humphries said:

Help Italians With Monitors

Excellent Work by British Light-draught Ships

Great Damage Done—Each Vessel Fires Two Hours, Smashing Hangars, Flattening a Railway Station and Destroying Railway and Viaduct

(By Percival Gibbon.)

Grado, Gulf of Trieste, May 27.—Dawn breaks early at this season. On Thursday last it was already light before five o'clock, when the British monitors walloped out to the firing stations off these island-dotted lagoons and got into position for action. They were veterans of the Dardanelles and had been assigned long since to a part in the great battle which Italian troops ashore upon the Carso are driving so effectively home. Their post was midway up the gulf, where their great guns could bear upon airplane hangars and multifarious military establishments which surrounded the stations, where their great guns commanded the targets. When the first gun spoke, a great shell went booming into the anemostat distance, and an Italian scouting hydroplane duly marked it down as true and precise upon the railway line south of Prosecco; the second shell landed a little north of the first. Fortune and good shooting contrived it should hit the railway again at a point where a Trieste bound train was passing. The train vanished into a chaotic ruin.

The other monitors arrived at their

NATIONAL MONUMENT TO A POPULAR SCOUT

Plans for a national monument to the memory of Col. William F. Cody, known the world over as "Buffalo Bill," have been facilitated by official action of the city of Denver, which has dedicated a most appropriate site for the last resting place and monument of the popular plainsman and army scout. The site selected is in Lookout Mountain, near Denver and 2,000 ft. higher than that city, from which the proposed equestrian statue will be visible. Territory lying in four states—Colorado, Wyoming, Nebraska, and Kansas—which were the scene of the great scout's famous exploits, may be seen from Lookout Mountain, and a painting which depicts Colonel Cody leaning forward in the saddle in typical western scouting attitude has been chosen as a model for the monument. The site is reached by what is known as the Lariat Trail, one of the most spectacular mountain highways in America—From the June Popular Mechanics Magazine.
