RENFORTH W. A. ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Renforth branch W. A. was held in the Sunday school hall on Wednesday evening, the president, Mrs. Reverdy Steves, presiding. After the devotional exercises, the reports of the officers were read and accepted. TELLS MONCTON NOT TO PLAY HERE

A. W. Covey Takes Action Relative to High School Registration.

A. W. Covey, president of the M. P. B. of the A. A. U. of C., said today he had notified the Moncton High School team not to play St. John High School here tomorrow afternoon owing to St. John High's refusal to have its team members take out amateur cards. He had complied with this regulation and that the High School league game with Rothesay Collegiate recently had been cancelled owing to High School's attitude toward this ruling.

The branch president said that, even though Moncton did come, he did not see where the game could be played as the Trojans had the East End grounds while the west side grounds were taken by the City Intermediate League. It was also reported today that Sussex had notified the St. John High School second team that it would be unable to play here as the team had disbanded for the season.

FINE IS $10 IN CASE ABOUT DOG

Both Sides Heard in Police Court in Ammonia Matter.

A case against Thomas Bird, who was reported for ill-treating a dog by throwing ammonia in its eyes, was disposed of in the police court this morning and he was fined $10.

Francis Kerr, for the prosecution, recalled Mrs. H. Smith to the stand. She gave practically the same evidence as submitted before. She was emphatic in a statement that she had seen the defendant pouring ammonia in the dog's eyes. She said the dog's eyes were closed for some days and he was blind from the effects of the ammonia. She told of the defendant throwing pepper in the dog's eyes on a previous occasion.

Her daughter, Miss Daisy Smith, who owns the dog, also said she saw the defendant throwing pepper in her dog's eyes.

Mrs. Bird was called by Horace A. Porter, who appeared for the defendant. She told of fights which occurred between their spaniel and the terrier owned by Miss Smith. On last Sunday her dog ran into the house followed by the terrier. They began to fight and she cried out for her husband. When he arrived the terrier had his dog by the throat. Her mother gave Mrs. Bird a bottle of ammonia and he held it to their noses in effort to break their hold. The dogs knocked over the bottle and it spilled on the floor.

The defendant was next called and told of other fights between the dogs and on one occasion he had been bitten by the terrier while trying to break its hold on his dog's throat. He said he used pepper on the terrier explaining that when the dogs started to fight he threw a bucket of water over them and as it failed to separate them he had secured a pepper shaker and sprinkled some on the terrier's nose. Last Sunday, he said, the two dogs were fighting and as he approached them his mother in law passed him a bottle of ammonia. He said he intended holding it to their noses, but in the scramble they knocked the bottle over and it rolled under a chair. He denied pouring it in the dog's eyes. He acknowledged warning Mrs. Smith that if the incident occurred again he would shoot her dog. He said he was willing to bring his dog to the court and when the two started fighting he would like to see S. M. Wetmore, secretary of the S. P. C., separate them without being bitten.

Mr. Porter announced that this ended the defense. He contended there was no evidence of malicious intent and that his client had been endeavoring to make the dogs stop fighting.

Mr. Kerr said that the defendant had used a very severe remedy to separate the dogs. He asked for a conviction advocating that the court show no more mercy to the defendant than he did to a dumb brute.

Magistrate Henderson said it was evident that the court show no mercy to the defendant than he did to a dumb brute.

"Hiram," said The Times reporter to Mr. Hiram Hornbeam, "I was in St. Stephen the other day and did not cross the bridge."

"Little hard-up, was you?" said Hiram. "You mean the head tax?" queried the reporter. "No, sir," said Hiram. "But I seen a feller that was down there an' he said he went over to Calais an' bought a box o' matches fer five cents. He that costs ten cents an' in some places fifteen cents on this side o' the line."

"What has that to do with me?" asked the reporter. "I 'jest thought, mebbe," said Hiram, "you might hev wanted to go over to Uncle Sam seekin' the light—as they say in prayer meetin'."

"You are entirely wrong," said the reporter. "It was quite unnecessary for me to go over the bridge, I had a very nice about it."

"Good Lord!" said Hiram. "Amen," said the reporter.
