LETTERS FROM ROYALTY
 The English mail brought letters to Byron C. Tapley from H. M. Queen Mary and the Lord Chancellor, in regard to his design for title page, and from H. M. Queen Alexandra expressing interest in Mr. Tapley's autograph collection.

HOME FROM MONTANA
 Missoula, Aug. 14: Fred Reardon of the grocery department of the Mission Mercantile company, expects to leave Sunday morning for a vacation trip of six weeks back to his old home in Sussex, N. B. Mr. Reardon will go to Boston and meet his son and two of his brothers, who will accompany him to the family reunion at Sussex. Mr. Reardon will make his return journey to Missoula by way of Boston, Kansas City and Denver.

UNWELCOME VISITORS
 If there is one man more than another who has a close-range acquaintance with a little animal that is given as wide a berth as possible, it is A. L. H. Stevens, caretaker of the public gardens. Thus far this summer seven of them have been killed by him, the last to fall being one this morning. The unwelcome visitors undo quite a lot of the work which Mr. Stevens has diligently performed and tear up portions of the flower beds.

BLAMES THE OCEONEE
 W. W. Belyea, of Belyea's Point, takes exception to the statement in the Times yesterday that the grounding of the Ocone on Monday was due to the anxiety of her captain to be obliging, or to the failure of the boatman at the Point to get out from the shore in time. He says it was clearly due to the lack of skill on the part of whoever was directing the movements of the Ocone, which should not have grounded at all. He says the boat from shore put the passengers on board at the same place where it is always done and that the steamer should have cleared the point in safety.

KEEP CELLARS CLEAR
 "Any merchant who allows his cellar to be littered with ashes, paper or loose rubbish of any kind is liable to a fine of $20 a day for every day his premises are in such a state. I do not believe that this is generally known but as the penalty is a heavy one every citizen should take care to observe the law carefully in this respect."
 Magistrate Ritchie made these remarks when dealing with a case against Howard P. Robinson, who was reported by Sergeant Baxter for allowing loose paper to be around the cellar of the Atlantic Bond Co's office. Mr. O'Neill, a clerk in Mr. Robinson's office, said that arrangements had been made to have the paper removed. The magistrate allowed the fine to stand.

MR. SMITH WILL BE 101 YEARS OF AGE TOMORROW

Veteran North End Citizen Hearty As He Makes New Stride into His Second Century

Probably the oldest man in St. John is Louis Smith of Magazine street, who will be 101 years old tomorrow. Mr. Smith has been a familiar figure in the city for many years and many a cheery greeting he gets as he goes about selling fresh vegetables, which he takes round in a wheelbarrow from door to door. It spite of his years he still makes it himself.

Mr. Smith was born in Havre, France, on Aug. 20, 1812, and has seen many adventures. He was one of the crew on the vessel sent out by the French government in search for Franklin the Arctic explorer in 1848 and at another time was shipwrecked off the New Zealand coast, being one of five who were saved out of a crew of twenty-four. Two of the five were afterwards killed and eaten by savages to whose mercy they were thrown by the sea. He also served in the Crimean war but deserted and swam a mile to escape in an American vessel which landed him at this port.

Three days after landing he was married to Catherine Reardon. He now has four sons and three daughters, forty-six grandchildren and six great-grandchildren. Mr. Smith is still an active man despite the burden of years.

TOURISTS PLAN TO WALK TO FREDERICTON

That is Design of Party of Young Ladies Coming Here in Few Days—Season Good One For Visitors

This year has been a bumper one for the tourist traffic. Enquiries at the Tourist Association rooms yesterday elicited the information that for the first ten days of August alone more than 100 more had registered than during the same period last year. Already this month more than 800 have been at the rooms and this number does not include several large parties such as that of Mr. Beckman, which was composed of twenty people.

More tourists seem to come here from Philadelphia than from any other single place. New York people also favor St. John; during the summer, however, people from every section of the continent turn up here. So far parties from South Africa, Australia, South America and all sections of the states have been among the number. Walking tours are becoming more and more popular. One party of young ladies is expected in the city in two or three days, who are planning a walking trip to Fredericton. They have made arrangements for stops at every eight miles on the route.

The number of tourists who are coming here for hunting in the fall promises to be better than ever. One party of ten have already made arrangements through the local association here, and smaller parties have also signified their intention of coming.

NEWSPAPER MEN TO BE HERE TOMORROW

Annual Meeting of the Maritime Press Association to Open in Evening

The annual meeting of the Maritime Press Association which will open in the St. John Board of Trade building tomorrow, Wednesday, evening, at 7:30 o'clock, gives promise of being one of the largest and most interesting gatherings ever held by this organization. Newspaper men from all parts of the three provinces will meet here to discuss their mutual problems and, in addition, there will be several speakers from outside places.

Among those who have announced their intention of being present are Mr. Burke of Toronto, secretary of the Canadian Press Association; Mr. McGrath of Newfoundland; C. A. Hayes, general traffic manager, I. C. N. S.; E. McKinnon, New York World; J. T. Hawke, Moncton; J. C. Keating and wife, Moncton; G. C. Gallant and wife, Moncton; P. D. Ayer, Moncton; E. E. Kelley, Moncton; H. D. Buchanan, Moncton; A. H. McCready and wife, Sackville; P. E. Jordan and wife, Chatham; J. D. McDonald and wife, Pictou; P. D. Macneil, Post, Sydney; Mr. Anslow and wife, Graphic, Campbellton; Mr. Mitchell, Examiner, Charlottetown; Mr. McIsaac, Charlottetown; D. E. McLean, Fort Hood, N. S.; Mrs. P. M. Fielding, Windsor, N. S.; J. F. Maloney, Woodstock, N. B.; James D. McKenna, Record, Sussex, N. B.; Mr. Coffin, News, Truro.

HENS ARE 'CATTLE' ACCORDING TO THE LAW

Discovery Made in Dealing With Police Court Matter

That a hen, according to the Consolidated Statutes, is a species of cattle was the surprising discovery made by Police Clerk Henderson this morning, when he was trying to find the penalty prescribed for citizens who allow their poultry to run at large. No separate mention of hens was made in the book of law, but under the section which has to do with cattle elaborate instructions were found as to the treatment to be handed out to the owners of vagrant hens.

Thomas Graham was the offender whose case drew forth this startling information. He had been reported for allowing his hens to wander at large in his neighbor's garden plots in Eris street.

To the magistrate he confessed that he was much surprised and grieved at being reported, as he had kept hens in the same way, in the same place for the last twenty-five years and his mother had kept them before him. When he gave assurance that his poultry would be shut up in the future, and any damage done would be fully paid for, the magistrate allowed the matter to stand.

THE NEW BRIDGE

The work of excavating for the Suspension Bridge on the St. John side will be started in a few days now," said A. K. Wetmore, provincial engineer, who is at the Dufferin today. "So far the work has gone ahead very satisfactorily. The work of preparing on the Fairville side is almost completed; it required a lot of rock cutting, much more than will be needed on the St. John side, as the site on this side is more naturally adapted as a foundation for a pier. When completed the foundations will indeed be splendid ones. The work on the anchorage for the stays will be begun soon and will be done along with the erection of the retaining wall. The superstructure is reported to be well under way, there will be no difficulty in having it ready, as there is a very great deal of work to be done yet in preparation before the work of actual erection can be started."
