RAILWAY ACCIDENT.—A special coal train, which consisted of an engine, nine loaded coal hoppers, three box cars and a van, which left Moncton about 10 o'clock on Friday night last, ran off the track while passing over the Millstream Bridge, about six miles north of Bathurst. The engine and several cars got over the bridge safely, but, it is said, four of the gondolas went through, piling upon each other, scattering the coal about and wrecking the cars. Some repairs were being made by weetion men, but they say that they had the red flags out the required distance. All the train hands are under suspension pending the result of the investigation being held by district Suspensiva designed as a supporting the coal will be considered as follows:

A very singular story comes from diac Station. A Mrs. McCann. whose husband was at work with others thresh ing grain at a relative's barn within sight proaching, accompanied by their tour-yearold child. The woman's throat was cut. the windpipe being severed and the flesh on each side of it cut deeply. She stated that as she was at her house-work a strange man came in and informed her that he had been waiting for some time for a chance to kill her and was now going to cut her throat. He had a large jackknife in his hand and commenced his murderous work, when she told him that her husband's razor would do the job more quickly and directed him to go to the pantry and get it. This, she says, she did in the hope that she would be able to make razor. He went to the pantry and, on her Hon.T. F.Gillespie, A. J. Of course, the neighborhood was very much excited over the affair, and constables, the Police Magistrate of Sussex, Sheriff Freeze of Kings County and others endeavored to hunt down the man who was alleged to have committed the deed. He could not, however, be found, nor was there any clue to his identity or whereabouts. It was said a strange man had been seen near McCann's house on the day of the affair and it was put down as the work of some tramp by a number of people, while others have suggested that it was a case of attempted suicide, Mrs. McCann having lost a child recently and being mentally disturbed in consequence If her story is true the perpretator of the crime deserves the swiftest and surest infliction of the death penalty, but it is not easy to believe that any tramp would attempt murder under such circumstances
