

MANITOBA COLLEGE.

The fourth session of Manitoba College will commence on the first Tuesday of October 1874.

The College Building, while in the City of Winnipeg, is yet sufficiently remote from the business centre to ensure retirement. The College is connected with the Canada Presbyterian Church, but in its Regular and Commercial Courses is perfectly unsectarian in character. While non-sectarian the Bible will be taught, and the plan so successfully followed in Princeton College in the United States of avoiding points controverted between the different religious denominations will be followed.

The College aims at adapting its course to the wants of our new Province.

Young men able to spend only the winter months in study are carefully attended to.

A good business education will also be given.

Students going on to the Professions will be carried through the regular course, and the course is adapted to give the necessary preparation for students in Surveying and Civil Engineering.
