Johnson's ANODYNE LINIMENT

It was invented in 1830 by the late Dr. A. Johnson, an old-fashioned, noble hearted Family Physician. It is recommended by physicians everywhere. All who use it are amazed at its power and praise its virtues. It is used and endorsed by all athletes. It is the best, the oldest, the original. It is unlike any other. It is superior to all others. It is not merely a "rub" but it is the Universal Household Remedy from infancy to old age. There is not a medicine so "rich" which possesses the confidence of the public as this. Every Mother should have it in her home, dropped on sugar suffering children how it takes it. It produces an increase of vital activity in the system. Its electric energy overloads and eradicates inflammation without irritation. Generation after Generation Have Used and Praise it.

For INTERNAL use as much as EXTERNAL Use.

Cures Croup, Coughs, Sore-Throat, Cramps and Pains.

It is marvelous how many complaints it will cure. Its strong point lies in the fact that it acts quickly on all Cuts, Burns and Bruises. Rubbed on the affected part, it draws out the poison and it positively Cures Catarrh, Leucorrhoea, Gonorrhea, Stricture, Stiff Joints, Sprains and all other ailments of the system. It is sold by all druggists. Full information sent free. L. R. JOHNSON & CO., 25 Custom House St., Boston, Mass.

"WORTHY OF MORE PRAISE"

Rev. N. B. DUNN, Osborne, Shelburne Co., N. S.

"We received great benefit from the package of K. D. C. and believe it will cure the most obstinate case of dyspepsia if properly taken."

[SECOND LETTER.]

Rev. N. B. DUNN, Osborne, Shelburne Co., N. S.

"You are at liberty to use the testimonial for the benefit of others who may in like manner be affected with dyspepsia. I am certain that it is a remedy that is worthy of more praise than I can express. You have my best wishes for its success."

On Sunday evening last Mrs. W. H. Todd, addressed a large audience in the Congregational church, Calais, on temperance, and told some most interesting experiences of her work in New York city during the winter, when she was closely associated with Miss Frances Willard and Lady Henry Somerset. Her lecture was extremely interesting and many regrets were expressed that it came to an end so soon. Mrs. Todd has a most pleasing address, that quickly wins the hearts of her hearers, and will help her to succeed in the work she has so nobly and bravely undertaken. Mrs. Todd intends to remain at her own home in St. Stephen during the summer.

Mrs. C. F. Todd is again at her home in Milltown after spending the winter and spring in the South. Mr. and Mrs. Talbot's friends are pleased to know that they have arrived safely in Sussex and pleasantly settled in their new home.

Mr. Hammond Talbot, of New York city, nephew of Mrs. W. B. King, spent a few days here during the last week.

Capt. E. T. Lee has returned from Bangor. Rev. W. Thomas, of St. Anne church, has returned from a pleasant visit in Wales. Miss Josephine Moore has arrived from Bangor, after a pleasant visit of a fortnight.

Mrs. F. A. Pike's friends are greatly pleased to hear that she will spend the month of June in Calais, and will be the guest of Miss Alice Pike.

Mr. James Marchie, is looking extremely well since his return from Jacksonville, Florida.

Mr. Beverly Stevens spent Sunday in St. John. Mr. Fred MacNicol, second son of Hon. Archibald MacNicol, was admitted to the West-ington Co. Maine bar, at the term of court, now in session in Calais.

Mr. and Mrs. Blomley, who for some time have resided in Milltown, left last evening for Fall River, Mass., where Mr. Blomley has accepted a most lucrative position.

Mr. C. W. Young has purchased a beautiful steam yacht in Boston, called the "Venturian" for the use and pleasure of his family during the summer months. He also intends to enlarge and improve his summer cottage at Oak Bay.

Mrs. Williams, who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. Hannah, during the winter, left yesterday for her home in Cambridge, Mass.

THINGS OF VALUE.

"Excuse me, madame," said the paying teller, "but you have not indicated this check. If you will but write your name on the back of it, it will be all right."

"Oh, of course," said the little woman. "I had forgotten."

Then she indicated the check: "Sincerely yours, Jeanette Hildesworth."

Agitation in the world of homoeopathic medicine has been very soon of progress, as in politics and religion—the difficulties of opinion and the individual quality of men have been parent to the disagreements by which the standard of these bodies has been elevated. So with most of our famous preparations—foremost in illustration of which truth stands the world-famous Quinine Wine, and which, when obtained in its genuine strength, is a miraculous creator of appetite, vitality and endurance, to the general fertility of the system. Quinine Wine, and its improvement, has from the first discovery of the virtues of Quinine as a medicinal agent, been one of the most thoroughly discussed remedies ever offered to the public. It is one of the great natural life-giving stimulants which the medical profession have been compelled to recognize and prescribe. Messrs. Northrop & Lyman of Toronto have given to the preparation of their pure Quinine Wine the greatest care and skill, and the standard excellence of the article which they offer to the public comes into the market purged of all the doubts which the scientific and medical opinion has pointed out in the least perfect preparations of the past. All druggists sell it.

"Goodluck has had his high school; it was for extra work."

"Yes. He always lives when the proprietor tells his baby's sun and moon."

When fevers and other epidemics are around, safety lies in fortifying the system with Ayer's Sarsaparilla. A person having this and impure blood, is in the most favorable condition to "catch" whatever disease may be floating in the air. Be wise in time.

Mrs. Blum: "Do you have to treat your cook as if she were a member of the family?"

Mrs. Grey: "Goodness no! We have to be very kind and polite to her."

A child was cured of cramp by a dose or two of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. A neighbor's child died of the same dread disease, while the father was getting ready to call the doctor. This shows the necessity of having Ayer's Cherry Pectoral always at hand.

McDonald, of Maine, F. O., was in town on Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Dan Desmond and Mrs. T. Flanagan, visited friends in Dalhousie on Monday.

Mrs. Hatfield and her son McWynne, of St. John, registered at the Royal last week.

Mr. Robert Jardine arrived from New Minister last night; news of the death of his mother having reached him too late to be in time for the funeral.

Friends of Miss Edith Miller assembled at the house of Fred M. Thompson Tuesday night, to bid her "Good bye," and present her with a well filled purse. Miss Miller was the organist of the Methodist church.

Mrs. Thomas Flanagan left for Chatham Tuesday morning.

ST. STEPHEN AND CALAIS.

[Progress is for sale in St. Stephen by Master Ralph Trainor, and at the book stores of R. S. Daggett, G. S. Wall and J. Vroom & Co. in Calais at J. E. Trevellick.]

MAY 8.—A number of young people enjoyed a May drive and luncheon in the woods surrounding the residence of Mr. Waller, on the Valley Road, on Saturday, the day was spent searching for mayflowers, and the party returned at five o'clock, well laden with these sweet spring blossoms.

The Pansy club, met at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Algar on Friday evening, Miss Mabel Algar being a member of the club.

Ation. L. G. Downes, entertained a party of guests on Saturday, and the party returned at five o'clock, well laden with these sweet spring blossoms.

The ladies of the Union church Calais, met at the residence of Mrs. W. B. King on Thursday afternoon. A picnic supper was served at six o'clock. This evening the officers of this church are giving a fancy sale and supper to their treasury.

Our theatre-going people had the pleasure of witnessing the play Trilby in St. Croix Hall on Monday and Tuesday evenings. There are a variety of opinions in regard to it, but there were crowded houses, and the audience in general went away pleased.

Messrs. Henry Marchie, Fred E. Rose, and a party of gentlemen have gone on a fishing excursion to Grand Lake stream and reports from them today say, that never before, was the trout so plenty, and their luck in catching them is extraordinary.

Miss Sara Porter is expected from Boston on Saturday, to remain during the summer months, and will be the guest of Mrs. Harry Moore. Miss Porter has spent the winter in Boston with relatives.

The entertainment given by Miss Sara Lord Bailey in the Methodist vestry last evening was well attended and greatly enjoyed.

Rev. J. B. Daggett, of Campbellton, is in town to-day for a brief visit.

Miss Annie Stevens on Tuesday invited a party of friends to enjoy a May party in the woods near her home. The day was most delightful, and the party, a most genial one, was greatly enjoyed.

Miss Jessie C. Whitlock will this evening give another of her interesting and instructive musical evenings at her home.

On Sunday evening last Mrs. W. H. Todd, addressed a large audience in the Congregational church, Calais, on temperance, and told some most interesting experiences of her work in New York city during the winter, when she was closely associated with Miss Frances Willard and Lady Henry Somerset. Mrs. F. A. Pike's friends are greatly pleased to for its digestive capacity and relief only come when its craw was cut open and contents removed. And as soon as he made the operation new life sprang into the rooster and it commenced crow and after sewing up the incision it was let loose and ran around as well as usual after sewing it up."

THE JUDGE'S REBUKE.

How an Australian Justice Cleared His Court Room.

Mr. Justice Hood, who presides in the divorce court at Melbourne, recently remarked, in answer to an appeal made to him: "If ladies came to a divorce court they knew what to expect. I will not order anybody out of court." This puts an old Australian journalist in mind of an incident which happened in Melbourne twenty years ago. There was a case coming on in which some unwholesome details were expected to be disclosed, and Mr. Justice Barry was the judge. The court house was crowded, and among the visitors was a large percentage of women. On the case being called upon, the judge remarked, "I think it would be better if ladies would leave the court." There was a rustle of dresses, and it was thought there would, under such circumstances, be a general exodus of the fair sex, but the "rustling" only meant that the fair ones had more firmly settled themselves in their seats.

The judge paused for a few moments, and then remarked in a dignified manner: "Perhaps I was not heard, or did not make myself sufficiently understood. I suggested that perhaps it would be better if in this case all ladies left the court." Still there was not a move, and, after another pause, his Honor observed sternly: "I suppose I must have been mistaken, but I was under the impression that there were some ladies in the court—proceed with the case. Mr. Crown Prosecutor." This proved too much for the ladies, and very soon there was not a petticoat in the court.

He "Tipped" Him the gloves.

It is related of the famous Jones Hanway that on being politely reproached by a nobleman for not coming oftener to dine with him, he replied:

"Indeed, my lord, I cannot afford it."

On another occasion he was paying the string of servants who as usual, appeared on the scene as he was leaving the house he had visited.

"Sir your great-coat," said one, upon which he paid a shilling.

"Your umbrella, sir," said the second; another shilling.

"Sir, your hat," another shilling.

"Your gloves, sir."

"Why friend," said Hanway, "you may keep the gloves; they are not worth a shilling!"

Kate Claxton and Mme. Janaschek will soon be seen at the Grand opera house, Boston, in "The Two Orphans."

The Sweetest Sound.

The sweetest sound I ever heard Was the song of any bird. It was the fierce and awful throat That issued from a cannon's throat.

June's blazing sun saw Sherman draw His deadly lines 'round Vicksburg.

With sure approach his earthworks crept, O'er fields by iron missiles swept.

In fierce assaults the soldier fought, With patience in the trenches wrought.

One day it was my fate to be In a command of cavalry.

Who, in the van of battle, were met By greater numbers, and beset.

On front and flank, till brought to bay, With ranks thinned by the bloody fray.

No valor can suffice to stay, The mostly charmed horse and gray.

Our only hope was to retire, Girt by our carbines' line of fire.

Maintaining the unequal fight, It haply, desperation might.

Till reinforcements came on sight Brought darkness to our foes' flight.

Before we were turned to rout, Help came; and with a ringing shout.

We stood to fight the battle out, Though yet the issue was in doubt.

Timely the aid, but scant; our staff Might strike and could not separate.

Behind us was a wall of horrors That, under fire, we could not pass.

Unless a victory was won, Our doom was death or Anderson.

Then our heads there shrank a shill that seemed all hissing-hot from hell. Amidst a charging host it sped.

Leaving a track of mangled and dead, Full-voiced our battery now awoke.

In tones of glees it thundered, spoke, Our loud hurrahs rang glad and free.

For life and hope and victory.

Thus it was that a cannon's roar Made music such as we'd before.

My ears had heard, or yet shall hear, Until in some celestial sphere.

I listen to the song that free, I saw my comrades' cheeks grow pale.

From an epistle in Paradise. J. D. DILLERBACK.

The Speaker's Chair.

It is a wonderful chair in which the Speaker of the English House of Commons sits. It is raised a couple of steps from the ground, and looks like a grand sentry-box, with a sounding-board coming out from the roof. On the lower step, at the side, members stand in private conversation with the Speaker. In the arms of the chair are mysterious recesses, with pens and ink and papers and other things. The Speaker, indeed, writes many letters upon a pad which he places on his knee. There are also electric buttons, and by touching one he can summon an attendant, while the touch of another conveys the summons for the gas.

Beauty in Black.

A pretty woman in all black—not a mourning costume, simply black—had many second glances cast at her at noon yesterday as she walked up the avenue with the finest of black tresses under her arm. Her gown was of black crepon with waist of black chiffon, and her hat of black straw was trimmed with black feathers. The costume
