SOLDIER'S FEELING
BEFORE AND AFTER REACHING THE LINE

Private Bell Writes Interesting Letter To His Wife—Thinks a Lot On Way To Front, and Then Its Like a Dream.

The following letter received by Mrs. A. E. Bell, 93 Carroll street, Watertown, Mass., from her husband who is "over there," gives an idea of a soldier's feeling before he reaches the line and after he gets there:

France, May 18, 1918.

Dear Wife,
I am going to describe to you as near as I can the life of a private soldier in France and the condition in which he exists. You bid your pals good-bye in Bilgithy with many a hand-clasp and good luck to you, hope you return safe soon again, and you begin to realize that you are one of a draft. You have your kit complete and after many inspections and re-inspections you cross the channel to the base where you receive the final and finishing touches, and you are shot up the line, full of inspections. Your mind is made up and you are ready for the worst. You will take notice of a lot the first few trips, and after that you don't seem to realize where you are; you seem to be in a dream. You simply laugh at the shells or if a bullet goes whizzing by you will say, Well, that was a close one, you'll have to try again, Fritz, or if you are in a pretty stiff engagement you will think, what if the dear one could see me now. I think you'd be ordering a black dress. But, no, the barrage stops and you shake or pinch yourself and say, well, I am still alive, and so the time goes on and still I am here yet. I don't want to say that every soldier feels that way, but as far as I can make out the most of them do, especially those who fear God. It is a great comfort to know that you are right with Him, you never feel as if you were alone, you have that feeling of protection that nothing can drive away, you know you have One who will never forsake you, your best and only Comfort, you care not for the pleasures and temptation of this world, as long as you are prepared for the next, where war shall cease to be, where we shall live in peace and accord with one another. All through I hope and pray that we shall meet again in this world, dear, if not may we be reunited there. With love to all. From ANDREW E. BELL, Apohaqui, Kings County, N. B.

KILLING FROST IN VICTORIA COUNTY

Many Who Industiously Planted Crops Frozen.

Special to The Standard.

Aroostook Junction, N. B., June 20.—The C. P. R. employees in conjunction with the farmers of Aroostook Junction have made special efforts this summer to plant extra large gardens and although the weather has been cold, the recent rains had made everything look blooming, but several nights of mild frost last night culminated in a very severe frost, which has caused a feeling of consternation all around, about all the crops of beans being completely frozen, and in many cases the potatoes, too, are frozen, the house tops at an early hour being white with rhyne frost. The language turned out by some of the amateur farmers can only be described as picturesque profanity, with allusions in various forms to His Satanic Majesty, the Kaiser's ally.

the use of canoes for seventy miles, which carried the party into the heart of virgin country. Several weeks were spent there and judging from the rich specimens of ore, which Senator Fowler brought with him, the visit must have been a most gratifying one.

The company owns a particularly fine property and the samples of quartz run in value into the tens of thousands per ton. The gold resembles very much the product of the Nova Scotia mines. It is carried in nuggets and the precious metal is splashed through the quartz in profuse quantities. Senator Fowler will be in Sussex for a few days.

A WHITEHEAD, K. C., BOY
DIES FROM ACCIDENT

Robert Clark, Aged Seventeen, Dies on Steamer Maggie Miller From Blow From Stave in Mill.

Robert Clark, aged 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Clark, Whitehead, Kings County, died on the steamer Maggie Miller, on Wednesday evening, while en route to the General Public Hospital here for treatment, following a serious injury he had suffered in a mill, near his home, on Tuesday. He is the youngest of a family of seven children, and has a brother and nine sisters.

Information from Whitehead is that the young man was engaged in operating a circular saw in Taylor & White's mill, when a stave which he was cutting, "kicked back," and struck him a severe blow in the abdomen. The boy appeared to be in fairly good condition when the party boarded the steamer, and seemed to rest easily during the trip to Millidgeville, but he suddenly collapsed, just before being taken off the vessel, and passed away quickly.
