"I Dreamt That I Dwelt in Marble Halls"

(1) The Chateau Lake Louise. (2) The Patio and the Terrace. (3) A section of the Dining-room. (4) The Lounge leading to the Dining-room.

This new nine-storey hotel, occupying the ground space of an entire city block, was taken over from the contractors two weeks before its opening on June 1, by the Canadian Pacific Railway. It is the new Chateau Lake Louise, built last winter at a cost of two million dollars on the banks of the famous Lake Louise, 6,500 feet up in the Canadian Rockies.

To equip this new hotel and stock it with food for guest occupancy on June 1, 800 beds, 390 bureau, 780 chairs, 390 pieces of upholstery, 230 desks for rooms, with sheets and pillow cases, box bed springs and other equipment to match, had to be transported three and a half miles up a narrow-gauge mountain railway. The perishable food, which had to be stocked in the hotel the day before opening, included 11,000 pounds of turkey, 8,000 pounds of roasting fowl, 18 whole hams, 32 whole hogs, 1,000 pounds of new cabbage, 40 cases of grape fruit, and 20 cases of fresh spinach. Approximately 7,000 eggs had to be rushed from the Canadian Pacific supply farms at Strathmore, Alberta, and placed in refrigerators.

Of the other foodstuffs, five tons of potatoes, 300 sacks of flour, 20 tons of sugar, 3,000 pounds of butter, one ton of tea and a thousand pounds of fresh coffee had to be placed in the larders.

All told, a special train of eight cars, carrying 350 tons of foodstuffs, was required to open this remarkable edifice. And all of this had to be hurried in at the last moment, for at the opening banquet the new dining rooms were almost full.

A staff of 425 men and women, including three managers, had to be on hand a week before its opening. These employees have a building to themselves equipped with rooms with bath, hot and cold running water, a rotunda and a ballroom.

The new Chateau Lake Louise has 400 rooms with bath, all outside rooms, 210 of them with southern exposure facing the famous lake. There are telegraph and cable offices in the rotunda, and each bed-room contains a phone which can be connected with long distance.

A resident doctor and trained nurse will have offices in the building to look after the health of its guests; and a special dining room has been built for the maids, nurses and younger children of the guests.

Chateau Lake Louise is now said to be the largest and most modern equipped chateau in the world.

The term printer's devil as applied to the boy who does the churning around a printing office has a peculiar history. In early days printing was styled the "black art", and printers were supposed to be in league with Satan. But it was in the time of Aldus Manutius in Venice that the master took a serious turn. This was the famous printer who first published the Greek and Roman classics. He took into his employ a negro boy who was homeless on the streets of Venice. The people supposed the boy was an imp from Satan and that he assisted in printing. Mobs collected about the office and were about to wreck it, when the boy was brought forward and exhibited showing that he was still called "the printer's devil" and every boy in his position ever since has been so-called.

THE KITCHEN DRUDGE

"I don't mind washing the dishes for you," yelled Deacon Carson to his better half the other day. "I don't object to sweeping, dusting and mopping the floor, but I do object to running baby ribbon through my night dress to fool the baby."

One marries a fool not to be fooled.

Last fall one of our residents found it necessary to make a business trip to the South during the hottest months. As it was quite cool here when he left, it did not occur to him that the underwear he was accustomed to wearing might be uncomfortable in a warmer climate.

A few days later his wife received the following telegram: "S. O. S., B. V. D.'s, F. D. Q."

Help yourself, and heaven will help you.

One is never so well served as by oneself.

OBLIGING SHOP CLOTHES FOR BRIDAL PARTY FOR $50

Every Girl Wants to be a Regular Bride—So Shop Outfits the Whole Party

It costs less to get married in style in New York than almost anywhere else. Suppose the bride fancies white satin, tulle veil and a jeweled coronet. Give her half a dozen bridesmaids in lace and silk, a maid and a matron of honor—in beaded georgette, all with slippers to match, and add a ring bearer and a flower girl. Dress the bridegroom, the groomsmen and the ushers in swallowtail coats and pumps. Even throw in a matronly evening gown for the mother of the bride. The whole party may be clothed for $250 or less. What small town could dress up a wedding for that?

What shop could do it, a bride-elect may ask? Let her learn the secret of getting married economically yet elaborately.

The Secret

Gown, veil, shoes, orange blossoms and paste pearls may be had for $30 or for $15. Attendants may be arrayed for $7 up and a flower girl and a ring bearer for $5 each. For $5 each man in the party may appear in a full dress regalia, and for $1 more he may wear the proper shoes and carry a derby in the crook of his arm. The "wedding outfit" may be thanked for this. The undertakers, who supply temporary mourning have neighbors in Secord Avenue who equip wedding parties and guests.

"People in New York are just like people anywhere else," exclaimed one of these. "They like big weddings. Some of them wouldn't think they were getting married without all the trappings. But what use have they for wedding dresses and evening gowns? Maybe they wouldn't have another can or them until the clothes were out of style. Why couldn't the same clothes do for wedding after wedding as long as they last? Then all the brides and all the friends of all the brides could share the cost without its falling heavy on any."

That is what they do. They come here, and believe me, the girls are glad for the chance to be a regular bride."

Not a Canned Affair

Don't think the wedding equipped by the outfitter is a canned affair, each like the other, the same outfit being passed around complete. Here is all the picking and choosing, the difference is that the day after the "out-fitted wedding" one has less debt and no useless dress on hand.

Wedding outfitters accomplish wonders on short notice. One of them, whose shop is barely large enough to hold a bride and her maids, could dress a gathering of some 300 women and 150 men from his stock. All grades of weddings are turned out from this place. Everything may be spick and span, brand new and made to order. This is the top price wedding. If the bride's clothes are new and those of the attendants second-hand, the price goes down, and is another rebate if the bride is willing to wear a used veil and shoes that have been "broken in" by another. Sometimes everything has appeared in some form at a previous wedding, and the price is reduced accordingly.

The day after the wedding is a busy one for the outfitter. Sometimes he has trouble getting the dresses back again. When he sends for them the name given may not be "known" at the address. Often he gets back frocks that are little better than shreds. Some of these weddings are rough affairs, he concludes, with a sigh, and he and his wife, in their little workshop, rip, mend, clean and press.

GOOD RECIPES

Prune and Cereal Whip

1 pound cooked prunes
1/4 cup grape nuts
1/4 cup orange skin
3 egg whites
1/4 cup sugar

Strain or mash the prunes, soak the grape nuts in part of the prune juice, grate the orange skin and add to the softened grape nuts and the prunes. Whip the egg whites, add the sugar and fold in prune mixture. Bake in a moderate oven until a light brown.

Buttermilk Pudding

1 cup sugar
1 cup butter
1 teaspoon grated nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup seedless raisins
1 cup sour buttermilk
1/2 cup flour
1 teaspoon soda

Cream together the sugar and butter, add nutmeg and salt. Wash the raisins, cover with 1/2 cup water and simmer for three minutes. Drain off the water, add raisins, and buttermilk to butter mixture. Add flour mixed with soda, stir well. Pour into buttered bake dish and bake in a moderate oven—350 degrees—for 50 minutes. Serve hot or cold.

Just Like City Water Service

No matter where you live, you can now have running water under pressure in your home.

Modern plumbing, including bathroom with hot and cold water, lavatory, shower, toilet, and faucets in many convenient places—think what this means to the suburban or farm home.

With the present standards of living these conveniences are a necessity. They make for comfort, health, sanitation and labor-saving. They were formerly to be had only in the city, but now, will give you all the advantages of city water service. Duro Systems are built in many sizes and styles. They meet the needs of a bungalow or a country club. They are driven either by electric motor or gasoline engine.

Empire Duro Water Systems

A Duro system is worth all it costs for fire protection alone. It is easily installed in old or new homes—taking water from deep or shallow well, cistern or spring.

They are compact, powerful, and automatic. They are driven either by electric motor or gasoline engine. The illustration shows one of the engine-driven systems, pump and engine being mounted as a unit.
