ROBERTS' RULES OF ORDER.

A valuable treatise on Parliamentary Law based on the highest authorities and adopted by the Grand Lodge of Quebec and Maritime Provinces.

No person can be expected to know everything, but every person should know something to enable him to take part in the ordinary affairs of life. In these days of clubs, societies and organizations for social, religious, philanthropic, political, in short, for all sorts of purposes, some knowledge of Parliamentary Law is absolutely essential to enable a man to hold his own among his fellows. He may be as wise as Solomon, as energetic as Alexander, ingenious to devise plans for promoting the welfare and happiness of man; without a knowledge of the rules that must govern organization and deliberation, his wisdom and energy will be unavailable and his honest purposes come to naught.

"Roberts' Rules" have been adopted by the Supreme and Grand Lodges of the A. O. U. W. because they were found necessary to facilitate the proceedings and make the organization effective, and it is only by following them strictly, that confusion can be avoided, the opinion of the individual find expression, and the will of the majority reached.

Next to possessing a full knowledge of these rules, the essential thing is to have them at hand in so convenient a form that they can be referred to instantly. Roberts' Rules of Order is exactly what is wanted. It contains the Complete Parliamentary Code so arranged that one can find the particular information he needs at a glance, making it the most complete work of its kind. It is printed on good paper, in clear type, and substantially bound in cloth; price 75 cents. This valuable treatise on such an important subject should be in the hands of every member of the Order. Copies will be sent postpaid on receipt of price.
