Look at it yourself. See how "The Tie That Binds" is driven farther around, so that it has a hook on the line wire that can't slip off. Being driven at an angle, it can't injure the running or upright wires. Study the wire fence question in our book. Sent free on request. Also sample lock.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS Miscellaneous.

CORN FOR SHEAF FEEDING

What kind of corn would you advise to grow for fodder, to be cut in the fall. and fed in the sheaf during the winter One that will produce a considerable amount of ears preferred. J. L. W. Ans.-Almost any of the standard varieties will suit. For Eastern Ontario, perhaps you would find satisfaction with Improved Learning, It has not a coarse stock, and gives a high percentage of cob. Reid's Yellow Dent and Compton's Early, too, are good. However, for satisfactory results with corn, it is well to have a silo. Sheaf-corn feeding is not considered good practice. As a rule, there is considerable waste. A DITCHING AWARD.

I bought a farm with a small ditch through it, which gave me a good outlet for all the water. A neighbor bought a swamp farm beside me, and brought on the township engineers to give him a drain for this land. He never looked for a suitable outlet, but ran his drain down my old ditch. He has spoiled my drain. as there is such a bank of clay on each side I cannot get water into it.

1. Who should pay for digging the drain?

2. If I have to pay for digging the drain, who should spread the clay along the sides?

3. Can I compel the township council to put tile in drain, as it is so deep I cannot cross without a bridge, and it is not safe for cattle?

4. Do we have to abide by the engineer's assessment? He had me dig ten hundred feet, and the man who applied for the drain and got the benefit, only dug three hundred.

A SUBSCRIBER.

Ontario.

Ans.-1. 2, 3 and 4. Judging from your statement of facts, alone, it would seem that a serious injustice has been done. If the engineer's award is allowed to stand, it will govern the matter. But we think you ought to see a solicitor, personally, and at once, with a view to an appeal against it.

CHICKS DYING.

We have lost nearly 100 chickens this spring. They die from three days to seven or eight days old. They had some lice on their heads, and we greased them with lard and sulphur. They would soon get stupid and die. Even in beside the stove they would die. We fed, 36 hours after hatching, oatmeal and breadcrumbs The chickens seem as smart as any for a couple of days and die off. I will send in a parcel a dead chicken. W. F. V. Ans.-Unfortunately, when it arrived the body of the chicken, sent for examitoo for gone to permit of satisfactory post-mortem being made. very small particle of grease, without the sulphur, would have been sufficient to put on the heads of the chickens. I am in clined to think, at times, that the treatment extended to young chicks is worse than the disease. I fancy, in this case, the death of the chicks was due to inherent weakness. The mortality among has been very great, to judge from the number of complaints I have received. The best remedy is to set no eggs for hatching-in the colder districts of the Dominion-until the hens have had a run out in springtime and thoroughly recovered their vitality. This, we have found, usually about 12th of April. After this date, eggs usually hatch well. I speak, of course, of the ordinary farmer, or other poultry - keepers who have no incubator room or brooder house. Even with such facilities, but where the laying stock has not been properly managed during the winter season, unsatisfactory results have followed. Your correspondent is to be thanked for the trouble taken in sending the dead chicken and describing the symptoms of death.

THE MODERN CURE FOR

Bone Spavin and Ringbone.

I believe there is not a case of bone spavin in Canada that Anchylos won't cure. I want hard cases that look to be incurable. Surely the horse is worth a dollar trial, when I agree to give you back the dollar if I fail to cure.

Mr. J. A. McLarty, Thessalon,—
Dear Sir—I wish to thank you for curing my mare of a large bone spavin. She was so lame I had made up my mind to shoot her. I saw your advertisement in The Globe, also The Farmer's Advocate, the beginning of April, and sent to you for one bottle. I used it, and it has made a remarkable cure. The parts are all healed, and the hair is coming in again. I tried four of the different advertised cures without results. Anchylos is certainly the horseman's friend.
