The action arose out of numerous letters sent to the committee on student affairs and The Gateway asking council to take some action regarding the current system of examining. President Alex McCalla said that not much can be done to reverse the situation this year since both social and academic functions have been planned with the current system in

But if the proposal is adopted by the administration, we can begin working toward a revision of next year's schedule, Mr. McCalla added.

President Johns has favored the post-Christmas examinations cause he feels that once students become accustomed to examinations at this time a switch to the semester system will be more easily effected.

He stated that the University of Alberta has one of the shortest academic years among Universities in North America. In his opinion the semester system should be in-stituted and the University year should be lengthened.

McGill Redmen will be representing the east this year after walloping Queens Golden Gaels 21-0 last Saturday afternoon in a sudden-death eastern final.

There had been much speculation on whether or not the Cup game would be played but finally McGill accepted Alberta's challenge, should McGill win the east. The great passing arm of Tom Skypeck made the final possible by throwing three TD passes against Queens and wraning up the tille for the Redmen.

The western champions will be boarding a TCA Viscount at 10:35 p.m. this Thursday for their jaunt down east. It is hoped that the students of this campus will give them a send-off befitting a team of this class. They have sweated it out day after day for three months to get this far and surely deserve the best; the best of that college spirit, even Alberta's unique brand of spirit.
