LEAGUE CALLED UPON TO CURB ITALY'S ATTITUDE

Emperor Selassie Again Appeals to the League to Preserve Peace. Indian Troops Guard British Legation.

The International Federation of Trades Unions at Geneva called upon the League to curb Italy's aggressive attitude and apply sanctions in the event of war.

Emperor Haile Selassie in Addis Ababa appealed again to the League to preserve peace. Indian troops moved into the capital to guard the British legation.

The semi-official Azione Coloniale in Rome hinted Italy might demand Britain's exclusion from Egypt if she continued to consider Italy a threat to her in Africa. Informed quarters in Rome believed a three-power conference between Italy, Britain and France on the Ethiopian situation likely.

Government quarters in London were cheered by appointment of the five-power committee and by prospects of a tri-power conference in northern Italy. The Times said anti-British and pro-Italian bulletins were being distributed in Egypt by what purported to be an Egyptian news agency.

In Paris the formation of the conciliation committee was seen as preventing direct conflict between Italy and the League.

Return of a Liberal Administration will Mean a Return to National Confidence and Prosperity, said Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in Addressing the Great Mass Meeting in Charlottetown on Thursday Evening, when the Liberal Policies were Eloquently and Effectively Presented. Substantial majority for New Government is Absolutely Essential.

Hon. W. M. Lea, who introduced Right Honorable W. L. Mackenzie King at the meeting in the Charlottetown Forum on Thursday evening, said:

"We know what Mr. King has done for Prince Edward Island and all Canada. Due to his experience, and particularly to his experience in the administration of public affairs, we feel that the people of Canada are to be congratulated that Mr. King is able to lead the Liberal party to victory in these trying times, as we know he will.

"It is necessary, due to the experience of the past four or five years, that we have a leader of experience. We know that during the past few years a great many policies have been tried, a great many experiments have been undertaken that have proved destructive to the trade of Canada.

"Now while we welcome Mr. King to Prince Edward Island, when we consider how big a man he is, and how necessary, facing the problems of the day, when new parties have sprung up like a mushroom growth, and when we realize that his addresses are to convert the few Conservatives that may be left after the election of July 23rd, we wonder why he found it necessary to come to Prince Edward Island. (Laughter).

Lost Their Pep

"The small minority of Conservatives that may be found has been chastened in spirit and have lost their old pep. Even the Guardian can now hardly arouse any enthusiasm. In its editorial notes the other day it stated that Mr. King knows that he will not carry one seat west of Fort William.

"It would have been just as logical as if they had stated he would not carry one seat west of British Columbia!

"I know you came here to hear Mr. King. You have heard me on the radio and on the platform. Therefore, I am not going to take up too much time in discussing federal matters, only to refer for a short time to the campaign that was carried on five years ago, particularly as there is a large number of farmers and dairymen present.

"You remember during that campaign the propaganda that was carried on against the trade policies of the Liberal government, the trade policies that made the dairymen of Canada more prosperous than they had been in any period clear of war years, at a time when we received 39 and 40 cents a pound for our butter. At the time that campaign was started, a comparatively small quantity of butter came into Canada. Due to the fact that on account of our trade policy, the increase of employment, the higher wages paid the workmen of Canada and the more prosperous conditions that existed, and the greater purchasing power of the people; due to the fact that they were able to become the greatest butter eaters in the world and to use and consume more luxuries, because of these reasons and the fact that it takes some three years to increase a dairy herd, a small quantity of butter was imported, and it was paid for with what New Zealand and the Antipodes purchased from Canada.

"Trade at that time was in our favour to the extent that four to six times as much goods were sold as were purchased. Nevertheless, because a small quantity of butter came in, I think the farmers of Canada were stampeded into voting against their own interests. I always believed this was not thoroughly understood by the farmers. They are willing now to remember that due to the fact that the trade policy of the Liberal government had brought us greater markets and greater returns than ever before, I know that the people of Prince Edward Island TAKE TWO—KING MEETING and of Canada are going to give Mr. King their whole-hearted support, as effectively as they gave me and my government July 23rd. (Applause).

Mr. Lea, referring to the failure of Mr. Bennett's policies and his attempt to change them, said:

"I am reminded of a story of a man who became very ill and it was feared he might not recover. So he sent for the clergyman. The clergyman came and wanted to know what was the matter. The sick man said: 'There is a man in this community with whom I am not on speaking terms and just in case anything happens to me, I wish you would bring him here to see if we cannot become reconciled.'

"The man was brought to see him, and the clergyman noted that the reconciliation was complete. But just as the gentleman was leaving the sick man raised himself up and called out: 'Just a minute. I want the gentleman to remember that if I get better, all this is off!'

"If Mr. Bennett should happen to 'get better,' then all this may be off. (Laughter).

Though Rome issues official denial it is persistently reported from Addis Ababa that Italian troops have crossed the border between Arifera and Ethiopia with resulting clashes with tribesmen. It is also reported from GENEVA, Sept. 7.—The five-power committee named by the League of Nations to deal with the Italo-Ethiopian crisis, voted today to send letters to Italy and Ethiopia requesting them to abstain from anything which might render negotiations difficult, Salvadoro de Madariaga, chairman of the committee, told the Associated Press.

This meant Italy and Ethiopia were virtually requested not to resort to force.

Young Boy Visitor Cowardly Assaulted

Residents of this province are noted for their hospitality and courtesy but one little lad will carry in his memory for some time an affair of which he was the unfortunate victim.

It must be explained however, that although the occurrence happened in the city, the perpetrator of the mean and ungentlemanly action was not a resident of the province — but hails from Nova Scotia.

The party in question was sitting in a parked car on Water Street between 7 and 8 o'clock last evening, and it is understood accompanied by a companion and two girls. A little chap, who is visiting here from Montreal, was standing on the opposite sidewalk when the Nova Scotian called him over to the car.

The little chap immediately ran across and as he stood on the running board, the driver of the car, without any warning struck him a painful blow on the face.

A well known waterfront workman saw the act and immediately proceeded to the car, preventing the driver from leaving the scene until the arrival of the R. C. M. P. and local Police, who is visiting here from Montreal, was standing on the opposite sidewalk when the Nova Scotian called him over to the car.

The little chap immediately ran across and as he stood on the running board, the driver of the car, without any warning struck him a painful blow on the face.

There are rumors that other charges, under the Prohibition Act, may follow.

Paddles 300 Miles And Loses 10 Lbs

WATERTOWN, Mass. Sept. 7.—John Goetz was happy today even though he was so stiff he could hardly move and his hands were badly blistered. He had paddled 300 miles from his home in New York to Boston.

Goetz, 35, of New York City, lost 10 pounds during his 14 days of paddling. Harry A. Phelps, at whose home Goetz is staying, said the canoeist had difficulty in climbing out of his frail craft on arrival yesterday and had to be put to bed.

He averaged about 20 miles per day.

THANKSGIVING ON THURSDAY NOT SO GOOD

Farmers Anticipated Extra Poultry Business On Saturday Before Holiday

TORONTO, Sept. 3.—Hundreds of farmers throughout the province who look forward each year to an unusual market on the Saturday previous to Thanksgiving will lose out to a great extent through the shift of the holiday from Monday to Thursday, according to Herbert H. Hannam, secretary of the United Farmers of Ontario. This would apply particularly to the farmers in districts around centres where there is a good Saturday market, he said.

Pointing to the fact that Thanksgiving is one of the most festive holidays during the year, Mr. Hannam said the farmers did an exceptional business in dressed poultry — a business that would be considerably decreased if Thanksgiving were on a day later in the week. In many Ontario centres, he explained, the only "decent market" was on Saturdays. There were very few Wednesday markets and consequently farmers would do little or no business on the day immediately preceding a Thursday Thanksgiving.

"I am sure," Mr. Hannam stated, "that farmers who have always counted on this Saturday market, would much prefer Thanksgiving were on a Monday. The change will undoubtedly slow down business considerably."

There wasn't a fruit wholesaler in Toronto who wouldn't prefer Thanksgiving on a Monday rather than a Thursday, according to F. G. Lister, president of the Toronto Wholesale Fruit and Produce Merchants' Association. The association, representing 22 of the 24 wholesale fruit merchants in Toronto, feels that business will be considerably retarded by the change. All merchants, Mr. Lister stated, would prefer any holiday to be on a Monday rather than another week-day.

Dies on Stage

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 7.—Death took a part in the opening performance of Lenore Ulric's "Portuguese Gal," coming on the stage to snatch Frank Allworth from the cast.

Allworth, playing a drunken policeman in the boisterous comedy, reeled and fell to the stage in his second act scene with Miss Ulric at the Broad Street Theatre last night.

Some in the audience stirred in their seats, appreciative of the actor's bit in the scene. But Miss Ulric motioned to the wings to ring the curtain down.

Backstage a doctor said it was a brain attack. The cast went ahead without him.

To Share the Cost

FREDERICTON, Sept. 6.—In response to a request by a delegation from the town of St. Andrews, the New Brunswick government yesterday agreed to assume 50 per cent of the cost of hard-surfacing two miles of main road highway through the town.

In addition the government agreed to guarantee a bank loan to the town amounting to $30,000 until a bond issue for that amount can be floated by the town. This money will be used to hard-surface one and one-half miles of streets within the town proper. This work will be carried out entirely by the town itself.

Quarrel is Settled by Fatal Duel

PORT OF SPAIN, Trinidad, Sept. 6.—A fatal duel between two Venezuelan customs officers was revealed here today when the loser's body came home.

Slow on the trigger, Hector Casado had been drilled through the forehead before he could fire a shot at his unnamed adversary in their public fight.

They had quarrelled at Guirra, Venezuela. Unable to settle the argument with words, they took up guns and went outside the customs house.

There were few preliminaries. While the crowd was still gathering, according to reports received here, they paced off their allotted steps. One shot rang out, and Casado fell with a hole in his forehead.

His body was sent to his family, who live here.
