Day, Son & Hewitt make a specialty of Complete Medicine Chests containing all of the above medicines, as well as others. There are special Lambing Chests; special Calving Chests, and Chests of Medicines for all Dog Ailments. These are things that every large stock-breeder should have.

Day, Son & Hewitt also have a fine line of Veterinary Instruments.

Any of the articles produced by this great firm can be procured by application to Messrs. Brayley, Sons & Co., the Sole Agents in Canada.

Send for "THE KEY TO FARRIERY."

"The Key to Farriery" is a volume of information that should be among the household books of every farmer in the country.

Every stock-raiser and horse-breeder who wishes to bring his business down to the highest paying basis should have his mind filled with information in reference to all matters pertaining to his stock.

By the aid of "The Key to Farriery" horses and cattle may be kept in good health, and many a veterinary surgeon's fee saved. Remember that in "The Key to Farriery" there are 150 pages of solid information. The information is plain and concise, and there is not a superfluous word in the whole book.

Another great feature of "The Key to Farriery" is that it is well arranged and the diseases are classified, so that in a glance one can find just what he wants. "The Key to Farriery" gives the symptoms of every disease peculiar to horses and cattle, sheep and pigs, so that when you find any of your stock acting in a peculiar manner or in any way out of the ordinary you can easily tell what is the matter with the animal. You have the symptoms; right underneath you find the cure.

The cure can be most quickly brought about by the use of Day, Son & Hewitt's medicines. By the use of them a quick and sure cure will result.

Use Day, Son & Hewitt's medicines. With these, the stock breeder is independent of the veterinary surgeon.
